LAWRENCE WALSH

Woman Alleges He Aided Police Head To Mark Ballot

Another son of Police Supt. Peter P. Walsh was held for court today along with seven others on a charge of violating the election laws in the First Ward.

He is Lawrence Walsh, held by Alderman Jacob Yeager. Walsh was accused of helping his father, the police superintendent, and others cast their ballots at the November election.

Lawrence is a brother of Constable Paul Walsh, who on Saturday was convicted, with two others, in Criminal Court for violating the election laws.

Alderman Yeager gave his decision today on a hearing held last month. Others held were Mathilda Vierheller, Patrolman William A. Dillon, James Harkins, Edward J. (Buster) Doyle, William Richardson, Leo Ford, Patrick J. Hunter.

Another charge against Paul Walsh was dismissed. Others against whom charges were dismissed were James Finnell, John H. Weber and John Rosenberg.

The prosecutrix was Mrs. Katherine E. Newingham, Independent leader in the First Ward, who herself has waived court on the same charge.

District Attorney Andrew T. Park today said he was seeking the identity of ringleaders in Saturday's demonstration against the jury that brought in guilty verdicts against Constable Paul Walsh and two others in the First Ward vote conspiracy case.

MELLON QUITS CAPITAL TODAY

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15.—Relinquishing his role as Secretary of the Treasury, Andrew W. Mellon will return to Pittsburgh tonight preparatory to his early departure for London, where he will succeed Gen. Charles G. Dawes as American ambassador.

Mr. Mellon, it was stated at his office today, will arrive in Pittsburgh tomorrow morning and remain in the city for several days before taking a brief vacation somewhere in the south. His plans for the southern vacation have not yet been fully developed, but are expected to be announced while in Pittsburgh.

State Loses Suit For Dorrance Tax

MEDIA, Pa., Feb. 15.—(INS.)—Pennsylvania lost its battle today to impose inheritance taxes of more than $31,000,000 on the huge estate left by John T. Dorrance, of New Jersey, soup magnate, when Judge Joseph Hannum ruled in favor of the estate. It had been contended Dorrance was a resident of Pennsylvania and as such his entire estate was taxable under Pennsylvania laws.

Fire in Ship's Hold Extinguished at Sea

NEW YORK, Feb. 15.—(AP.)—The Swedish freighter Hallaren sent an SOS this morning saying fire had broken out in her hold about 425 miles east of Halifax, but advised rescue vessels at 9:08 a. m., that she was in no further need of assistance. A message received by the Mackay Radio Company and the Radio Marine Corporation said the fire was out.

APPOINTEE URGED BY SENATE'S LIBERALS

Nomination Makes Four Democrats on Bench, Three Members From N. Y. State

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15.—(AP.)—Benjamin Nathan Cardozo, Chief Justice of the New York State Court of Appeals, was appointed by President Hoover today to the Supreme Court vacancy caused by the resignation of Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes.

In view of assurances of backing received by President Hoover, early confirmation is expected.

Cardozo was strongly recommended by various elements describing themselves as liberals. He is a Democratic and a Jew.

THREE FROM NEW YORK

Appointment of Cardozo makes the political line-up of the Supreme Court five Republicans and four Democrats. It also gives New York three of the nine members of the court, since Chief Justice Hughes and Justice Stone come from that state. Cardozo is the second Jew to be named to the Supreme Bench, the other being Justice Brandies, now sitting.

Justice Cardozo was born in New York City in 1870. He studied at Columbia, Yale, New York University, the University of Michigan and Harvard.

He was admitted to the New York bar in 1891 and since then has served both on the State Supreme Court and the Court of Appeals bench. He is unmarried and a member of the Manhattan, Columbia University, City and Century Clubs. He has written numerous legal books and is vice president of the American Law Institute.

APPOINTMENT PRAISED

Senators of all groups praised the appointment of Justice Cardozo in one of the most universal choruses heard recently on Capitol Hill.

Senator Reed (Rep.), of Pennsylvani, said:

"I think Justice Cardozo is not only one of the great judges of the United States, but I am glad to see that the tradition of liberal thought set by Justice Holmes i sto be carried Justice Holmes is to be carried to prophesy that Justice Cardozo will have a distinguished career on the Supreme Court just as he has had on the Court in New York."

Oliver Wendell Holmes, whose retirement from the bench created the vacancy to which Judge Cardozo was appointed, expressed great pleasure at the appointment.

Man Faces Hearing In Brother's Death

WELCH, W. Va., Feb. 15.—(AP.)—Albert Freeman, 20, of South Fork, near here, died in a hospital yesterday of pistol wounds suffered in a quarrel Wednesday. His brother, Clarence Freeman, 27, will be given a hearing on a murder charge next week. Clarence told officers he fired in self-defense when his brother threatened him with a knife.

Broughton Boys Get 30 Years to Life

TROY, N. Y., Feb. 15.—(AP.)—Stanley Chero and William Schemnitzer, of Broughton, Pa., today were sentenced to a prison term of 30 years to life, following their conviction of the murder of Sergt. John Frey, of the New York state police.

MISS ELIZABETH COOK

DEB HOAX DEATH QUIZ PUSHED

BOSTON, Feb. 15.—(AP.)—Further explanation of the death of Elizabeth Barrett Cook today awaited the outcome of a coroner's investigation in far away Gibraltar and the arrival in Boston of the steamship Chinese Prince, aboard which she died.

Mr. Arnold

Miss Cook was found dead in her cabin on the Chinese Prince Monday as the ship neared Gibraltar. She had received a faked cablegram reporting the death of her fiance, St. George Tucker Arnold, a Boston engineer, not long before. The cablegram advised her that she must "on no account return" and the message was signed "Helen James."

The cablegram was revealed as a hoax when the girl's mother received a message of condolence from Arnold.

Arnold said last night that he would meet the Chinese Prince when she docked in Boston Wednesday and interview the captain. Fearing the hoax message might be destroyed, Arnold asked the State Department in Washington to aid him in getting a verbatim copy of the message before the ship reaches port.

Private investigators also awaited the arrival of the steamship Conte Biacamano which sailed from Naples Saturday with Mrs. Mabel E. Cook, mother of the 20-year-old dead girl, and Louise, her sister, aboard.

LIGHT RATE OVERCHARGE SEEN HERE

$4,754,655 Excess in 1930 Laid to Duquesne Co.; Pinchot Circulates Figures

The Duquesne Light Company over-charged consumers at least $4,754,655 in 1930, according to the report of Maj. Clayton W. Pike, of Philadelphia, sent by Gov. Pinchot to 80 cities and boroughs in Western Pennsylvania.

The report declares figures have been before the Public Service Commission for two years showing on over-charge by the Duquesne Light Company of $4,151,383 in 1928 and $5,143,898 in 1929. These sums were calculated by Maj. Pike, using the depreciated fixed value of the company as a base and 7 per cent as a fair return.

WRITE-UP ASSAILED

The depreciated fixed capital of the company at the end of 1930, according to Maj. Pike, was $163,607,305. A 7 per cent return on this would be $11,452,511.

The report says the company received from consumers, after all proper operating expenses, $16,207,166, an over-charge of $4,754,655.

The depreciated fixed capital, however, included a net write-up of $14,526,237, in 1930, and Maj. Pike declares it cannot be justified under prevailing prices of commodities. He therefore deducts this write-up, which he terms "fictitious dollars," and declares the real over-charge paid by consumers in 1930 was approximately $5,771,491.

PINCHOT SEES HOPE

Gov. Pinchot says in his letter that in view of the recent Clark's Ferry Bridge action by the Public Service Commission in which that utility was certified for prosecution to the Attorney General, there is ground for hope that the commission may be waking up.

The Pike report is filed with the officials of municipalities, Gov. Pinchot declares, with the idea that it may be of use to them in presenting their relief demands to the commission.

CHALLENGES FIGURES

Frank R. Phillips, president of the Duquesne Light Company, today challenged the manner in which earnings of his company were computed by Maj. Clayton W. Pike in a report to Gov. Pinchot.

Phillips said:

"The rate basis of a utility is not the fixed capital, but the fair value of the property, which in the case of the Duquesne Light Company is much more than $167,000,000.

"Maj. Pike and Gov. Pinchot are using a fictitious rate basis on which there is no authority in law or in fact. Furthermore, there is no law on the statute books either of Pennsylvania or the federal government which fixes any rate return as fair or reasonable."

Mercury 20 Today, 3rd Coldest of Year

Today was the third coldest of this winter of record mildness. The mercury fell to 20 early today compared with yesterday's minimum of 27. Only on January 31 and February 1 has the temperature fallen below today's mark. Warmer weather tomorrow with snow or rain was predicted by Forecaster W. S. Brotzman.

35,000 JAPS MASSED FOR ATTACK

Gas Threatens Shanghai; Nipponese Apologize for Beating U. S. Vice Consul

The Japanese consul at Shanghai today expressed apologies of his government for a Japanese mob's attack on Arthur Ringwalt, American vice consul, and Mrs. L. Young, an American citizen.

Thirty-five thousand Japanese troops were massed for a gigantic and desperate offensive to crush Chinese defenders of Shanghai, whose forces were estimated at 50,000.

Chinese military officials feared a gas attack on the city, with the deadly fumes a menace to Americans and other neutrals in the International Settlement.

At Washington it was announced that another joint protest had been filed by the United States and Great Britain against Japan's use of the Shanghai International Settlement as a military base.

By DIXON HOSTE
International News Service.

SHANGHAI, Feb. 15.—Japanese troop transport ships poured men and arms into Shanghai today in preparation for a big push which Japan hopes will be a final driving of the Chinese forces from the Shanghai area.

The Chinese, spurred by recent successes and renewed pleas from national leaders for a "stand to the death," also massed troops for a big battle.

Thousands upon thousands of Chinese troops stand ready to fight in towns and villages all about Shanghai, it was revealed today with the discovery that the strength of the defenders is much greater than had been believed.

It was impossible to accurately estimate the total number of men ready for action on either side, but observers placed the Japanese numbers, with today's arrivals, at about 35,000, while the Chinese strength was put at a considerably higher figure.

FEAR GAS ATTACK

Chinese military officials warned against the frightful possibility that the Japanese army might employ gas shells in their projected Woosung attack. Chinese officers said they were convinced

SHANGHAI, Feb. 15.—Hello, everybody!

And hello, Jimmy, come over her and hop up on your uncle's knee, cause I feel a story coming on.

It's a yarn that started with a yawn late this afternoon as I sat all muffled up in a great coat and muffler in the stern seat of a speedboat coming up the Whangpoo River after having a look-see around the hostile Chinese and Japanese lines facing one another at Woosung Creek.

The air was cold and the steady throb of the motor made me drowsy. Not only that, but I have been missing a flock of sleep the last two busy battling weeks here in Shanghai.

STRANGE SCENE

The scene on this river, Jimmy, and on both shores is the strangest mixture of peace and war you could imagine.

Merchantmen and men-of-war flying the flags of all nations and ranging in size from slim destroyers and pot-bellied, high-bowed mine sweepers to great big 10,000-ton cruisers, moved majestically up and down or rode motionless at their anchor chains while thousands—yes, sir—literally thousands of native wooden craft moved in and out among the big fellows.

High-pooped Chinese junks with full stern and lug sails of patched canvas ribbed with bamboo spars and flat-bottomed barges with coolies working long sweeps on both sides and funny little bob-

BUYING CHECKS MARKET DROP

NEW YORK, Feb. 15.—(AP.)—Profit taking interrupted the rise in stocks today, but new buying checked the decline after a heavy volume of week-end selling orders had been executed.

Prices fell back $1 to $5 in the first half hour when traders who had ridden last week's sensational rally disposed of commitments. These declines were reduced to the extent of a dollar or so in many instances, although volume contracted when the market hardened.

Turnover at 2:10 totaled 1,700,000 shares against 2,600,000 when the market closed at noon Saturday.

United States Steel dropped $2.12 to $46.87 before meeting support. American Telephone reacted $5 to $127.75 and then regained more than $1 of its loss.

GIRL FINDS EMPLOYER IN COMA

$3,000 Collections Missing After Struggle in Grant Building; Victim Ill

Beaten, robbed and locked in a clothes closet in his office at 823-B Grant Building, Max Deakter, 22, tumbled out unconscious when the door was opened today. Later he told detectives that he had been robbed of between $3,000 and $4,000. He is recovering in Mercy Hospital from shock.

Miss Rose Oshry, 24, of 2225 Wick street, stenographer in chain meat store firm, of which Deakter is a junior member, discovered the robbery. She found papers strewn about the office and her employer's coat and hat and empty wallet on the floor.

SUMMONS HELP

She summoned help, and when the door was opened Deakter slumped out. At Mercy Hospital, where he was taken, he told Detectives Walter Monaghan and Thomas Morgan:

"I went to the office a half hour earlier than usual and was behind a desk counting Saturday's receipts. When I looked up I saw a man standing along side the desk. I asked what he wanted. He did not reply and attacked me. That's all I know, I had between $3,000 and $4,000."

Miss Oshry said:

"I found Mr. Deakter's coat and hat on the floor. The drawers of his desk were open and papers scattered about. I noticed his wallet on the desk, empty. I called for help. Mr. Deakter always took care of the collections from our stores. The robbery was committed by someone who knew him."

SEES MAN'S SHADOW

Miss Regina Corbett, stenographer in an adjoining office, said:

"I came back to work at 8:35 and saw the door of Mr. Deakter's room open. I was going in and joke with Miss Oshry for being so early, but when I saw the coat on a chair, I thought that Mr. Deakter was working, and went on into my own room. Later I heard a man walk out of Deakter's place and I saw his shadow on the door across the hall. About 15 minutes later I heard Miss Oshry scream for help."

Former Police Inspector John P. Clancy, head of the building police, said he was called immediately and removed Deakter to the first aid room, where an inhalator was used. Later Deakter was taken to the Mercy Hospital. Members of the victim's family said he was subject to heart attacks.

At the Deakter offices it was said the collections were covered by insurance.

Constance Bennett Taken to Hospital

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 15.—(Universal.)—Constance Bennett, noted motion picture star, was a hospital patient today. She is under observation because of the recurrence of an old ailment. There will not be an operation, it was declared by members of the actress' family.

It was stated that a rest was ordered by her doctor because infected wisdom teeth had greatly drained her strength. She will be leaving the hospital in a few days.

Finding of Bomb Saves St. Peter's

VATICAN CITY, Feb. 15.—(INS.)—The small, inoffensive looking parcel found Saturday night in the basilica of St. Peter's, was a bomb, police explosive experts declared today.

After soaking the package in water for nearly 48 hours, they removed it to Fort Prenestino. There, after a careful examination by artillery officers, it was exploded by rifle fire. The detonation, observers said, was terrific.

John D. 'Broke,' Refuses Woman's Plea for Dime

ORMOND, Fla., Feb. 15.—(AP.)—John D. Rockefeller knows just how it feels to be broke.

Yesterday, for the first time since he became ill of a cold about two weeks ago, he went to church. As he was leaving, a middle-aged woman stepped up and asked for a dime for a souvenir.

The multi-millionaire shoved his hands into his pockets and then turned the pockets inside out with a chuckle, saying:

"I'm sorry, but I have no money with me today."

There was ripple of laughter from the crowd that surrounded him and he moved away to his car shaking hands with numbers who had lined both sides of the sidewalk.

The 93-year-old philanthropist looked to be in the best of health and joined enthusiastically in the singing during the service.

Spies Seek Secret Papers Of U. S. Arms Delegates

GENEVA, Feb. 15.—(INS.)—Offices of the American delegation have been broken into twice, presumably by spies representing foreign powers, since the disarmament conference opened here Feb. 2, International News Service learned today.

The delegation notified the Swiss police and also informed Washington, but was reluctant to discuss the affair today. An attache said:

"We suspect nobody, but we are convinced that the robbery was not the work of professional burglars. Papers were scattered all about the place but nothing of value was taken."

The robberies were committed on the nights of February 2 and February 3.

The file-box of Hugh Gibson, United States ambassador to Belgium, and head of the American arms delegation, was broken open and documents belonging to him were strewn about the floor, but the robbers apparently did not find what they were looking for and nothing was taken.

A locked dispatch case, belonging to Senator Claude A. Swanson, of Virginia, was slit with a knife.

JAPAN APOLOGIZES FOR BEATING OF AMERICAN CONSUL

AMERICA SENDS NEW PROTEST TO TOKIO

Britain Joins in Action; Washington Probes Attack On Ringwalt in Shanghai

SHANGHAI, China, Feb. 15.—(AP.)—The Japanese consul apologized to United States Consul General Cunningham today for an assault last week on Arthur Ringwalt, American vice consul, and Mrs. L. Young, an American citizen.

Mr. Ringwalt, whose home is in Omaha, Neb., and Mrs. Young, a Chinese woman born in Los Angeles, were set upon by a mob of Japanese when they entered the Hongkew district to take Mrs. Young's baby from a family of relatives.

The Japanese consul told Mr. Cunningham the attackers would be punished and that he believed the men were not members of a volunteer civil air patrol on the lookout for Chinese snipers.

He promised also that in future foreigners authorized to do so would be permitted to enter the Hongkew district without molestation.

U. S. PROBES ATTACK

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15.—(INS.)—With the long awaited Japanese "big push" well under way in Shanghai today, the United States found its concern in the situation spread over a wide front, ranging from the League of Nations activities at Geneva to the protection of its citizens in Shanghai.

The State Department was immediately concerned in clearing up another American-Japanese "incident" resulting from the beating administered to Arthur R. Ringwalt, American vice consul, and a Mrs. L. Young, American citizen, by armed Japanese volunteers. A report from Consul General Edwin S. Cunningham said that Ringwalt accompanied Mrs. Young to her home.

In the sector of Shanghai guarded by Japanese troops they were roughly manhandled by Japanese volunteers who had been armed by the military authorities, despite the fact that Ringwalt had shown his passport and his pass signed by the Japanese admiral.

The Ringwalt incident was the second of its kind since the Japanese army started its invasion of China. Several weeks ago Culver B. Chamberlain, vice-consul at Harbin, was severely beaten by Japanese soldiers at Mukden, Manchuria. Stiff protests were made to Tokio in that case which resulted in the military interpreter involved being sentenced to a prison term and the Japanese soldiers and their superior officers being given severe reprimands.

Meanwhile, both the American and the British consul generals have lodged stiff protests with the Japanese consul at Shanghai over the landing of fresh Japanese reinforcements in the International Settlement, the State Department announced today.

PRESENTED BY CONSUL

The American protest was drafted and presented by Edwin S. Cunningham, American consul general, under broad general instructions from Washington. The protest was along lines similar to representations made direct from Washington to Tokio 10 days ago protesting the use of the International Settlement as a base of operations for the Japanese troops in their offensive against Chinese.

Great Britain and France made similar representations at that time. The protests made today were purposely kept in the category of local representations in Shanghai inasmuch as the government and Great Britain already had made previous representations along the same line. It was generally felt a renewed formal protest from here to Tokio would have little additional weight since the Japanese government is fully aware of this government's attitude on the use of the Settlement as a base for offensive operations.

U. S. HOME LOAN BILL URGED

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15.—(INS.)—Mortgage money has practically disappeared in America, Walter S. Schmidt, of Cincinnati, O., representing the National Association of Real Estate Boards, told a Senate interstate commerce sub-committee today.

Testifying in support of the administration's $150,000,000 home loan bank bill, Schmidt said the measure would stimulate home building and immediately excite a psychological effect of confidence. He said:

"The situation now is that the absolute non-liquidity of mortgages, the fact they are not salable, has created a frozen situation in the banks, resulting in their inability to pay depositors."

The bill, sponsored by Senator Watson, Rep., of Indiana, would create 12 federal loan banks to extend credit to building and loan associations, cooperative banks and homestead associations.

HINDENBURG, 84 IN RACE AGAIN

BERLIN, Feb. 15.—(AP.)—President Paul Von Hindenburg, who led an army in the World War, announced today that at the age of 84 he will obey the mandate of millions of Germans and be a candidate to succeed himself when his term expires in May. He has been President of the German republic for the last seven years.

There is every indication that he will be elected, and it was generally believed that if he had thought there was any chance of defeat he would not have offered himself as candidate.

In recent weeks he has said that he would not continue in office unless the nation called him with an unmistakable majority. In that time 2,500,000 persons have signed a petition asking him to run.

The old field marshal's formal statement said:

"For me there is but one real national goal—welding our people together in its struggle for existence, unstinting devotion of every German in the arduous contest for preservation of the nation."

ARMS PARLEY MAY ADJOURN

GENEVA, Feb. 15.—Backed by several of the leading powers, a movement was launched here today to adjourn the disarmament conference early in March in realization of the fact that Sino-Japanese hostilities and the European political situation made it impossible to accomplish anything of importance.

The steering committee held an hour's secret session today and decided that the conference should hold two sessions daily this week in an effort to clear up immediate business by Saturday.

One or two delegations have urged that the conference adjourn or at least recess Saturday for several months because of the hopelessness of the situation. The Scandinavian powers however are endeavoring to keep the meeting going until Easter, which falls on March 27 this year.

The steering committee will meet again Friday to discuss the date of adjournment.

SCHOOLEY JURY REPORT READY

District Attorney Andrew T. Park said a supplemental presentment in the investigation of Roy D. Schooley, indicted former City Treasurer, would be made probably late today. No additional indictments are expected.

Park said he would not go to Butler today as anticipated, to complete arrangements for the forthcoming trial there of Mayor Charles H. Kline and Bertram L. Succop, ousted Supplies Director, on malfeasance charges. The prosecutor, suffering from a heavy cold, will make the trip later in the week, he asserted.

Chinese Delegate Appeals to Pope

VATICAN CITY, Feb. 15.—(INS.)—Pope Pius XI today received a message from Dr. W. W. Yen, Chinese delegate to the League of Nations, asking him to put in a word in favor of China to aid in bringing about peaceful settlement of the dispute with Japan.

Cardinal Pacelli, papal secretary of state, replied to the message saying Dr. Yen that Pope Pius was constantly praying for peace in the Far East.

Dr. Sable Rallies After Operation

Dr. Daniel E. Sable, public safety surgeon who was stricken ill last Thursday, underwent an operation today in the Mercy hospital. His condition after the operation was said to be good. The physician's illness is not of a serious nature, Mrs. Sable said last night.

D. J. M'Laughlin, Stock Broker, Dies

D. J. McLaughlin, partner in the brokerage firm of McLaughlin MacAfee & Co., died today at St. Francis Hospital. He had been operated upon several days ago. Mr. McLaughlin was a member of the Pittsburgh Stock Exchange and prominent in investment circles.

SHANGHAI FACES POISON GAS ATTACK

the Japanese landed gas equipment, and added:

"It would be impossible to limit destruction to the Chinese alone. It is inevitable the deadly fumes would blow towards the International Settlement, leaving Americans and other foreigners at its mercy."

MARINES SHELLED

Three more shells today exploded within the northern part of the United States Marine sector, and one shell, which failed to explode, fell into a tent which several American Marines had just left.

It was not determined from whose guns the exploding shells came, while the "dud" was believed to have been fired by the Japanese. Had it exploded and had the Marines been within the tent, serious casualties undoubtedly would have resulted.

Sixteen tanks, six large ones and 10 small, were lowered from the transport ships along with stores and other equipment. They immediately set out to the north, lumbering their way ostensibly to Woosung.

Among the latest arrivals from Japan were dozens of carrier pigeons, which came in large crates, hundreds of cavalry ponies and a number of six-inch howitzers.

The troops were billetted in the northern district, where they took over houses in the Dixwell and Scott road areas.

Japan Merely Acting for Protection, Envoys Told

TOKIO, Feb. 15.—(INS.)—The ambassadors of Great Britain, the United States, France, Italy and Germany visited the Japanese foreign office today at the invitation of Kenkichi Yoshisawa, foreign minister.

Yoshisawa again explained that Japan's aim in Shanghai was merely protection of her nationals and that the present military activity constituted neither aggression nor occupation.

Yoshisawa said the recent dispatch of additional infantry reinforcements was necessitated by the fact that 45,000 Chinese troops are now posted in or near Shanghai.

M'Donald Holds Important Parley on Chinese crisis

LONDON, Feb. 15.—(AP.)—What was believed to be an important conference of cabinet members on "the foreign situation" was called late today at the nursing home where Premier Ramsay MacDonald was convalescing after an operation on his eye. Sir John Simon, foreign secretary, who only a short time before had made a long statement in Commons on the Sino-Japanese situation, was among the confrees.

The participants summoned besides Sir John were Stanley Baldwin and J. H. Thomas, minister of dominions.

This meeting was understood to be the first active touch the Premier has had with governmental business since his operation last week. Only yesterday his physicians had issued a statement saying that he must have three weeks of complete rest.

Sir John Simon announced in Commons that the British Consul General had filed a fourth protest with the Japanese authorities at Shanghai and assured a questioner that "there may be better news before very long."

The opposition leader, George Lansbury, whose questions Simon was answering, wanted to know whether any time limit was going to be set before definite action was taken either by the League of Nations council or by Great Britain in co-operation with other governments.

This brought ministerial cries of "Do you want war?" Lansbury said:

"I am not asking for war. I am asking for exactly what is provided in the League covenant to which Japan has put her signature."

'Boy Emperor' May Head Chinese Federated State

MUKDEN, Manchuria, Feb. 15.—(AP.)—Chinese Manchurian leaders were gathering here today and events apparently were progressing rapidly toward the formal announcement of a new federated state embracing the provinces of Fengtien, Kirin and Heilungkiang and possibly also inner Mongolia and Jehol.

The identity of the personage chosen to become first president of the new state remained a secret, but reports persisted that Henry Pu-Yi, the "Boy Emperor," will be brought from his place of retirement near Port Arthur for the post.

U. S. Marine Sergeant Injured in Shanghai

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15.—(INS.)—An American casualty in war-torn Shanghai, but in an automobile accident, was reported to the Navy Department today.

Tony Rosko, a sergeant of the United States Marines, received a compound fracture of the skull in the accident, the report stated, and his condition is regarded as serious. His next of kin at the time of his enlistment in 1922 was given as a brother, Charles Rosko, 568 North Broad street, Bridgeport, Conn., but Marine authorities have been unable to locate him.

Chinese Brigands To Free American

HANKOW, China, Feb. 15.—(AP.)—The release of Capt. C. J. Baker, held by Communist brigands for ransom, was believed imminent today.

Representatives of the captors of the American employe of the Yangtze Rapids Steamship Company were here today with a story that Baker was ill and offered to negotiate "on any reasonable terms."

Falls Into Boiler, Child Near Death

Josephine Borrell, 3, was probably fatally scalded today when she fell into a boiler of hot water, which her mother, who was washing, had placed on the floor of their home, 418 Iowa avenue, Glassport. She was taken to McKeesport Hospital.

'MA' SUNDAY CHEERS 'BILLY'

The tall and dignified Mrs. "Billy" Sunday joined her husband here last night, and they were to leave the city today for Franklin, where the famous evangelist will open a three-week campaign. He held his final meeting here last night.

Asked whether she would permit "Billy" to conduct his meetings at Franklin, "Ma" Sunday, who learned of his illness through a newspaper while she was en route to Pittsburgh from Los Angeles, said:

"I'd like to have him take a few days' rest—he certainly needs it. But it probably won't make any difference whether I allow him to continue or not. He'll do it anyway."

Mr. Sunday's voice was husky and raw from his recent illness, which he termed "the worst I've ever had." He had preached three days against his doctor's orders. He was glad to see "Ma." They posed for pictures, "Ma" directing Billy to sit on the arm of her chair. Billy happy and anxious to please.

U. S. CITIZENS TO FLEE

SHANGHAI, Feb. 15.—(United Press.)—One hundred and seventy Americans living in the Yangtze estuary area were instructed today to leave their homes by U. S. Counsul General Edwin S. Cunningham.

The instructions were issued as a result of the arrival of the large Japanese army at Shanghai. Its operations, it was feared, would endanger the lives of the Americans.

Cunningham also advised the 105 Americans at Soochow, 24 at Wusih, 13 at Changhow and 10 at Changshu to evacuate as well. Instructions to Kiangyin referred only to women and children. All the Americans referred to are missionaries.

Evacuations will take place via Nanking and Hangchow. For the present, the instructions do not apply to Shanghai.

HOUSE NEARING VOTE ON NEW BANK BILL

Senate Prepared to Speed Action on Glass-Steagall Measure to Expand Credit

International News Service.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15.—Invoking extraordinary procedure to force quick passage of the Glass-Steagall credit expansion bill, House Democratic leaders today called the measure for consideration under suspension of rules.

Representative Steagall (Dem.), of Alabama, chairman of the banking committee, moved the suspension with the consent of Speaker Garner, this limiting debate to two hours, except by unanimous consent.

Meanwhile Senator Glass (Dem.), of Virginia, handling the measure in the Senate, also planned to obtain speedy action in that body. He and Steagall conferred today on means of facilitating action.

ONE-YEAR LIMIT

The measure, described as the most important banking bill before Congress in years, is limited in effect to one year, but may be urged as permanent legislation. The bill authorizes:

Making of loans by Federal Reserve banks to groups of five or more independent banks on demand promissory notes on collateral security not now eligible for rediscount, at 1 per cent above the existing rate.

Granting of credit through rediscounting to individual banks on vote of six members of Federal Reserve Board on security not now eligible, at 1 per cent higher rate.

Permits placing of government obligations as security for federal reserve currency above the 40 per cent minimum gold requirement, the provision being intended to free $750,000,000 gold now backing reserve notes above the legal requirement.

OPPOSITION MILD

The bill faced some opposition and amendments, but in view of the rise in the stock market, leaders predicted the necessary two-thirds vote could be obtained for passage under suspension.

Representative Rainey, of Illinois, Democratic leader, planned to make a speech declaring the bill of Democratic origin rather than a "Hoover proposal."

The chief feature of the bill, substitution of government bonds for private debts as security for note issues, he said, was first proposed by former Senator Robert Dale Owen, of Oklahoma, in 1900. It had repeatedly been urged by Democratic members and the Republican administration has consistently rejected the proposal in the past, he said.

House Group Votes Farm Loan Bill

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15.—(AP.)—Legislation to set up a $10,000,000 revolving fund to assist in financing agriculture credit corporations was approved today by the House Agriculture Committee.

The bill, drafted by Chairman Jones with the assistance of the Agriculture Department, is designed to make available additional credit to farmers from the intermediate credit banks.

Rainey Denies He's Backing Roosevelt

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15.—(INS.)—An emphatic denial of published stories that he had declared himself for Franklin D. Roosevelt for the Democratic presidential nomination was made today by Representative Henry T. Rainey, of Illinois, Democratic leader of the House.

The Illinois delegation, of which he expects to be one, Rainey said, will vote solidly for Senator J. Hamilton Lewis at the Chicago convention. Rainey said he had "no other choice" than Senator Lewis for the nomination.

2 DEATHS ADD TO HAPSBURG MYSTERY

Valet Goes to Grave With Secret of Tragedy Fatal to Austrian Heir, Sweetheart

VIENNA, Austria, Feb. 15.—(AP.)—Death has drawn another red herring across the trail of the fog-ridden mystery of the nineties—the death of Archduke Rudolph, heir to the Austrian throne, and his beautiful sweetheart, Baroness Marie Vetsera at Mayerling, Austria.

Johnann Loschek, 87-year-old former valet to the crown prince, died Saturday. He resisted to the last the temptation to tell American journalists for allegedly enormous sums what happened in the archduke's hunting box on that cold foggy January 29, 1889.

Simultaneouly with the death of the valet in Vienna, came a story from Panama that a secretive Austrian physician has just died at San Andres, Colombia, with vague words of guilt on his lips. The doctor, Hans von Tietdjke, spoke of the Mayesling mystery, ahd intimated he was "shielding another higher up."

SON GIVEN SECRET

Old Loschek, holder of a little estate given him by the Emperor Francis Joseph, Rudolph's father, for his loyalty to the Hapsburgs, imparted his secret to his son before he died, however. The son is now Mayor of Kleinwolkersdorf.

All the public knew of Loschek's part in the mystery was cointained in a parcel sealed by the valet shortly after the tragedy came to light. In the package was an onyx ash tray owned by Rudolph, and on it was written in mauve ink:

"Rather revolver. Not poison. Revolver is more certain."

The handwriting was the Baroness Marie's

STRANGER THAN FICTION

Few mysteries of fact or fiction have equaled the deaths of Rudolph and his sweetheart. From the very first false clues marred the trail. The royal family at first merely announced he had committed suicide in his hunting box.

Later it became generally known that Marie died of a gunshot wound by his side. The exact manner of the archduke's death was never fully revealed.

There were stories of suicide; then murder and political intrigue, some of which linked the archduke's name with a coup to seize his father's throne.

Only last year Dr. Friedrich Marx, of Cologne published an article purporting to show that Rudolph was slain by a rival for the love of Marie.

Countess Marie von Larisch, an Austrian, previously published "My Past" in London, and although insisting that what actually happened was conjecture, intimated political intrigue was afoot, and the Archduke John of Tuscany had planned a coup with the crown prince.

Dying Austrian Hints Of Mayerling Tragedy

PANAMA CITY, Panama, Feb. 15.—(AP.)—An aged Austrian physician, Dr. Hans von Tietdjke, a resident of San Andres, Colombia, who refused to divulge his past even to close friends, was reported to have recently confessed on his deathbed that he was connected with the Mayerling mystery.

A Capt. Hawkins, master of the schooner Islena, revealed the strange confession here today. While dying the doctor told the captain this:

"Suppose you had to take the blame for another's crime. Suppose, although living blamelessly, you were forced by circumstances to assume guilt to shield another higher up. Just say Hans von Tietdjke, who was connected with the Mayerling tragedy, has died."

Capt. Hawkins said the physician died refusing to say anything more.

N. Y. Mayor's Relief Expends $825,284

NEW YORK, Feb. 15.—(AP.)—The Mayor's official committee yesterday reported a total disbursement of $825,284.87 for unemployment relief from November 1 to January 31.

James F. Higgins, executive secretary, said 40,015 families or 184,757 persons had been aided since November.

Mill at Prospect Destroyed by Fire

PROSPECT, Pa., Feb. 15.—(AP.)—The flour and planing mill of J. M. Roth was leveled by fire Saturday. The origin was undetermined. Firemen estimated the loss between $15,000 and $20,000

Ruth Nichols Sets Record in Diesel Plane

FURRED RUTH NICHOLS

Society Flier Soars 21,000 Feet Over New York Port

NEW YORK, Feb. 15.—(INS.)—Miss Ruth Nichols, society aviatrix, today appeared to have established still another record.

Clad in heavy garments which made her resemble an Arctic explorer, Miss Nichols flew Clarence Chamberlin's oil-burning monoplane to a height of 21,350 feet over Floyd Bennett Airport. She bettered by almost 2,000 feet the mark set by Chamberlin recently.

When Miss Nichols revealed she began using oxygen inhalation only after being 20,000 feet up, Chamberlin said:

"Boy, I must be slipping."

Chamberlin started oxygen inhalation after climbing 15,000 feet.

One barograph will be sent to Washington for official check. The record for gasoline powered planes is about twice that made by Miss Nichols.

MILITIA BALKS MINERS' RALLY

BARBOURVILLE, Ky., Feb. 15.—(INS.)—Confronted by Kentucky militiamen with glistening bayonets, officials of the National Miners' Union today abandoned their efforts to hold a memorial meeting of striking coal miners at the bier of Harry Simms, 26-year-old union organizer, who was murdered.

The decision came after troops had been stationed at all roads leading into the city with orders to keep miners from entering.

Meanwhile Simms was identified today as Harry Simms Hersh, a son of Jacob Hersh, of Springfield, Mass., by Tom Johnson, a union leader of Knoxville, Tenn.

The body will be turned over to two union representatives, who will escort it to the city limits where several hundred miners will join in simple funeral services, after which the body will be shipped to New York.

Trunk Slayer Calm Awaiting Sentence

PHOENIX, Ariz., Feb. 15.—(INS.)—Although she will face Judge Howard Speakman one week from tomorrow to hear herself formally sentenced to hang for murder, Ruth Judd, "double trunk murderess," to all outward appearances, remained calm today.

Mrs. Judd, accused by the state of murdering Mrs. Agnes Ann Leroi and Hedvig Samuelson, whose bodies were shipped in trunks to Los Angeles, was visited Sunday by her elderly parents, the Rev. and Mrs. H. J. McKinnell, of Darlington, Ind.

SLAYING VICTIM NAMED AS LEADER

Pair Awaiting Trial With Others Win Immunity; May Win Acquittal for Woman

By GILBERT PARKER
International News Service.

HONOLULU, T. H., Feb. 15.—In return for immunity, two of the five native gangsters who were charged with attacking Mrs. Thalia Massie, 20-year-old bride of a United States naval officer, today made complete confessions, International News Service learned from an unimpeachable authority.

The natives were Horace Ida and David Takai, two of the five defendants whose case ended in a mistrial after which Joseph Kahahawai, one of the defendants, was kidnaped and slain.

The most dramatic feature of the new testimony will be the confessions which Ida and Takai made in return for immunity and an opportunity to depart from Honolulu because of fear of vengeance by friends of the defendants.

Kahahawai's subsequent slaying led to the arrest of Mrs. Grace Fortescue, eastern society woman; her son-in-law, Lieut. Thomas H. Massie, and two naval enlisted men, E. J. Lord and Albert Jones. The four are scheduled to go on trial March 10 on second degree murder charges.

Ida was declared to have specifically implicated Kahahawai as the brutal ringleader who broke Mrs. Massie's jaw when she screamed during the outrage.

The reported confessions are expected to have an important bearing in the murder trial of the four Americans whose plea will be based on the "unwritten law."

Mrs. Massie Celebrates Her 21st Birthday

HONOLULU, T. H., Feb. 15.—(INS.)—A frosted birthday cake with 21 candles greeted Mrs. Thalia Massie today as she dined with her husband, Lieut. Thomas Massie; her mother, Mrs. Grace Fortescue, and a small group of intimate friends at the home of a naval officer at the Pearl Harbor naval reservation.

Mrs. Massie received many congratulatory messages, including one from her father, Maj. Granville Fortescue, ill in New York.

CHILDREN SLAIN BY FATHER

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Feb. 15.—(INS.)—Surgical skill was matched today against the mad acts of a 46-year-old father in an effort to save the remaining three of his six children, whom he attempted to slaughter with a hatchet yesterday.

Three of the children and Bolton E. White, the father, are beyond saving. Louise, 13, and Joan, 4, were almost instant victims of the hatchet thrusts. Two-year-old Hilde died in a hospital later.

White took his own life with a shotgun after committing his maniacal deed.

Three other children, Kathleen, 9; James, 11, and Malcom, 7, their bodies gashed, hovered between life and death. Hospital attaches believe they can be saved, although county officials declare their recovery would be "miraculous." A note by the father read:

"My highest ambition is to know that the children go to the place God has prepared for them."

White told in the message that he had commanded the children to "kneel down and pray," before he took their lives.

Fugitive Forces Way Into Officer's Home

Pursued by police after, they say, he had broken a window in an East Pittsburgh restaurant, George McGuigean, 21, of 428 Mortimer street, forced the door of the apartment of Police Lieut. Gordon Cargo. He was arrested as he interrupted the officer at breakfast early today, according to a police report.

McGuigean, police say, had been drinking and broke a window in the Bacheris restaurant, Braddock and Beech avenues, East Pittsburgh, when the proprietor, George Spanas, refused to accompany him.

Girl Found Dazed, Poison at Her Side

A bottle of poison by her side, Anna Byres, 21, was found by her mother early today, collapsed in a bedroom of their home, 260 Freidle street, Whitaker. At the Homestead Hospital physicians said Anna would recover.

TOM MIX TO WED CIRCUS GIRL

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 15.—(INS.)—A romance that blossomed under the "big top" of a circus in which they were star performers was to culminate in the marriage today at Yuma, Ariz., of Tom Mix, millionaire film and circus performer, and Mabel Ward, daring aerialist.

Accompanied by Mix's daughter, Thomasina, 9, and by Mr. and Mrs. Monte Blue, Mix and Miss Ward planned to leave for Yuma and probably return tonight.

Miss Ward, in private life Mabel Hubbell, a native of Middle Grove, Ill., established a record last season by making 300 one-arm revolutions on a high bar, unprotected by nets.

Circus folks termed her "Lillian Leitzel's successor."

Bet Involving Wales, John D. Hard to Win

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 15.—(AP.)—William R. Crissey apparently has found that his $2,000 bet that he could dine with President Hoover, golf with Bobby Jones and John D. Rockefeller, and motor with the Prince of Wales, was a tough assignment.

He made the best last February and recently he was reported "somewhere in Europe" trying to get his automobile ride with the prince.

To date he has accomplished only one of his four tasks—he dined with the President at a banquet.

The last heard from him, Raymond Bailey, who took a part of the bet, says, was that Crissey was on the other side of the Atlantic still trying.

MINER SOUGHT IN SNOW; 1 DIES

KELLOGG, Idaho, Feb. 15.—(AP.)—Without hope he would be found alive, rescue crews continued to tunnel into huge drifts today to find Henry Lund, 42-year-old miner buried under a snow slide in Big Creek gulch.

The crushed body of his partner, Carl Areander, 60, was found last night 175 feet from where the slide toppled over a bluff and shattered their log cabin Saturday.

A black cat—pet of the two men—was found alive. Two cats were dead.

When Areander's body was found, 40 hours had passed since the slide. Shortly after rescuers began their digging, hope was expressed the men might have escaped through one of the many tunnels of the Silver Dale Mining Company, which honeycomb the gulch.

Scottdale Bankers Open Their Defense

The defense of Thomas D. Byrne, cashier, and Frank F. Byrne, bookkeeper and director, to charges of embezzlement, misapplication of funds and making false entries in the books of the Broadway National Bank of Scottdale, began today. The government completed presenting testimony before Judge R. M. Gibson in Federal Court where the case has been on trial since February 1.

Parker Sees Pinchot, Hint High Court Post

HARRISBURG, Feb. 15.—Judge William M. Parker, of Venango County, called on Gov. Pinchot at the capital today. The judge's name has been mentioned in connection with the vacancy on the Supreme Court caused by the death of Justice Emery A. Walling, of Erie.

CRAZED TRAPPER FLEES TO YUKON

EDMONTON, Alta., Feb. 15.—(AP.)—Through the frigid hills of northern Yukon, Albert Johnson, eccentric trapper, is still racing a few jumps ahead of police pursuers. He is wanted for the killing of one police constable and the wounding of another.

While more than a score of constables of the Royal Northwest mounted police, trappers and Indians are on Johnson's trail, an advance guard of two crack mushers is close on his heels. Supplies for the pursuers are being taken from Aklavik by air by Pilot W. R. (Wop) May.

Last report from the chase brought out by the flier was that Johnson had crossed the border from the Northwest Territories into the Yukon territory.

Nicaragua to Urge Marines at Election

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15.—(Universal.)—Representatives of the two political parties in Nicaragua—liberals and conservaties—are in Washington, to request Secretary of State Stimson to permit United States Marines to supervise coming elections, Universal Service learned today.

The envoys are Dr. Carlos Morales, of the Liberalist party, and H. Arguelloa, of the Conservatist party. They will urge that, owing to the present situation in the country, the Marines be not withdrawn until after November.

BOY ROBIN HOOD CONFESSES TO 100 THEFTS

Not Missing Day at School, He Loots Homes of Cash, Gives Money to Destitute

International News Service.

NEWARK, N. J., Feb. 15.—An astonishing story of how a 15-year-old schoolboy, stirred by the plight of poverty-stricken widows, orphans and unemployed, turned Robin Hood, robbing the homes of rich persons and distributing the wealth to the poor, was told today by the boy to police who arrested him.

For three months, he confessed, he spent his nights burglarizing houses. Always he took cash, and used it to provide food and clothing or money to those he believed to be in need.

Because of his youth, the police refused to reveal the name of the boy, who throughout his career of nocturnal robberies never missed a day in school.

He told police he never spent any of the proceeds of his thefts on himself. Once he bought a bicycle for himself for $16, but said his mother's reproachful eyes caused him to sell it and give her the money.

At first, he confessed, he sent the money he stole anonymously to his mother, the widow of a World War veteran, and his two sisters. But when she was puzzled by the unusualness of the repeated money receipts, he devoted the money to philanthropic purposes among the poor of the Weequahic district where his burglaries took place.

Jewels, which attracted him by their beauty, he always threw into ashcans, he told authorities, because he did not know how to convert them into cash. In all, he confessed to more than 100 robberies, police claimed.

DOG POISONER FACES PRISON

Nine dogs poisoned within the past two weeks has caused the Humane Society to begin a drive on the activities of the poisoner in the Termon avenue and Morrel street sections of the North Side.

Reward notices have been posted, and Edwin M. Smith, agent for the society, says an effort will be made to have the full penalty of $500 fine and three years' penitentiary sentence imposed if the culprit is caught.

According to Mr. Smith, there has been an epidemic of dog poisoning in various sections of the city, the most recent being on the North Side. In addition to the nine dogs killed on the North Side, a number were saved by veterinarians, and all dogs are being guarded now.

CAPITAL AWAITS ZIEGFELD'S NEW SHOW

'Hot-Cha' Sure-Fire Hit, Washington Rehearsals Hint; Opening Tonight

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15.—Florenz Ziegfeld's newest musical production, "Hot-Cha," will have its world premiere at the National Theater tonight, with a sold-out house ready to pass a verdict on it.

From all indications at the rehearsals which have been held here the last few days, Ziegfeld has another smash hit, and the score is certain to win acclaim.

The show is the work of those brilliant collaborators, Brown and Henderson, and is designed primarily to get laughs. Three movie celebrities have important roles—Buddy Rogers, Marjorie White and June Knight. Miss White, according to those who have watched her work, is going to prove an outstanding success. She has unlimited pep and can put a song number over with a bang.

Lynne Overman and Bert Lahr have the principal comedy roles, Lahr, of course, being prominently featured. Two Ziegfeld discoveries who seem highly promising are Reva Reyes and Tito Coral, both of whom have important roles. Coral has a splendid voice, and reminds his hearers of J. Harold Murray. June McCloy, feminine baritone of the films, is another of note in the cast.

Much of the music from the show has already been heard via radio, but Ziegfeld has some surprise up his sleeve when the work is actually exhibited tonight. The outstanding hit numbers of an almost perfect score have not yet been played except in rehearsal, and two gorgeous scenes—notably the "Fiesta" number—seem certain to take Broadway by storm. An extraordinary Russian dancer has just been added to the show for this spot.

Ziegfeld says he thinks this year he has the prettiest girls he has ever glorified.

FOE DEMANDS CAROL QUIT

BUCHAREST, Feb. 15.—(INS.)—Political sentiment of Rumania, already at fever pitch because of an expected cabinet crisis, was further inflamed today by the published demand that King Carol II be dethroned.

Gen. Alexander Averescu, leader of the People's party and former premier, signed the article, which appeared in the newspaper he publishes here.

He declared the situation was similar to the one in 1886 before Prince Cuza was overthrown just before King Carol I formed the kingdom.

A ministerial upheaval was generally regarded as foreshadowed by the unexpected recall of Nicolas Titulesco, former foreign minister, who headed the delegation to the Geneva disarmament conference. He is also president of the League of Nations Assembly.

Two Boys Build Speeder From Abandoned Auto

As long as there are boys there will be vehicles, constructed from queer odds and ends of bolts and nuts and what nots. The latest masterpiece of youthful ingenuity to evolve here was completed recently by two youths at Observatory Station.

Three months ago Ralph Cox, 17, of Evergreen road, and Bill Reetz, 17, of Aiken avenue, Observatory Station, bought an old automobile for $3. After dismantling it, grinding the valves, scraping the bearings of the motor, they sold the remaining parts for $5 and proceeded to motorize an abondoned handcar they found on no-longer-used street car tracks nearby.

The vehicle goes both frontward and backward. Although they have no speedometer, the boys claim they can go 35 miles an hour.

Father James R. Cox announced today that he would refuse to speak from the same platform as William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor. This was the priest's reply to Green's suggestion to the Central Labor Union not to invite Father Cox to address a Philadelphia meeting "because Cox has political aspirations."

Green's suggestion was reported by Adolph Hirschberg, president of the labor union.

Father Cox said he had not yet been invited to speak. He described Green as a "representative of Wall street rather than the workingman."

Immense Fish Gives Jay Gould Battle

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla., Feb. 15.—(AP)—Jay Gould told a good fish story here today and exhibited the fish—all 5,000 pounds of it.

Gould's fishing party took the monster, a manta or "sea bat," off the coast here after a terrific tussle, in which everyone of the group lent a hand. Gould's hands were cut and his right arm bruised, he said, the battle. The fish, he said, towed his boat for five miles sternward against the engines.

American Physician At Geneva Stricken

GENEVA, Switzerland, Feb. 15 (AP).—Capt. Kent C. Malhorn, American naval doctor who is physician to the disarmament delegation, took to his bed today with an attack of influenza, an affliction which already has incapacitated several other members of the American mission.

Hugh S. Gibson, acting head of the delegation, was up again today after a two days' absence from the conference proceedings.

H. A. Blair, Chicago Traction Head, Dies

CHICAGO, Feb. 15.—(INS.)—Henry A. Blair, 79, prominent financier and president of the Chicago Surface Lines, died at his home today of bronchial pneumonia. Blair was active in practically all phahses of the city's transportation. He was one of the receivers for the Surface Lines. Blair was born in Michigan City, Ind., in 1852.

Floyd Gibbons Spins Strange Yarn of Trip Along Whangpoo

bing sampans with buggy tops of straw matting and aquatic rumble seats from which they are propelled with single oars—Jimmy, this here river is just crawling with life—bargemen, fishermen, coal loaders, river rats and houseboat inhabitants.

Say, you know there are just hundreds of thousands of men, women and kids who are born on these boats and spend their whole lives on them and die on them.

PIRATES, TOO

Yes, I guess some of them are pirates also, because they are pretty tough looking customers—you know—barefooted and some bare to the waist with ugly knives in their belts against their yellow bellies, but don't interrupt me again because I want you to get this yarn.

CAVALRY ON TROT

Listen! And on the west shore nearby I could see columns of smart-looking Japanese cavalry trotting along the military road that runs between Shanghai and Woosung, and sometimes batteries of heavy guns would rattle by—the big broad steel rims on their wheels banging over the cobblestones as outriders on six horses bent lashes over the animals' backs and moved them into a gallop.

At a road intersection I saw a Japanese brigade commander, a tiny little fellow sitting way up high on a noble-looking bay war horse, surrounded by members of his staff, all gold-braided.

With binoculars to their eyes they looked westward across the ricefields studded with huge mounds of numberless Chinese graves—peered across the meshwork of criss-cross creeks and ditches of the flat low countryside toward the setting sun, which was going down like an enormous orange of molten metal.

It brought out the black silhouette of a crazy-looking six-storied Chinese pagoda, whose upturned eaves and tiled top made it look like a half-dozen 1890 derbies piled one on top of another in a second-hand dealer's window.

You see, Jimmy, there was both excitement and restfulness in that scene and I was tired and had just cabled a long yarn about Japanese fears that the Chinese might attempt to sink Japanese troopships by using floating mines in the Whangpoo River—you know, those great big metal containers of heavy charges of explosives.

They're big round dirty-looking sea monsters with protruding warts all over them—only those warts are delicate percussion fuses and, when one of them bumps against the side of a vessel on or below the waterline—well, sir, it's just simply good night for that vessel and everybody and everything on board.

PASSES U. S. SHIP

I was thinking about the possibility of those things floating down the old Whangpoo and just at that moment my speedboat sped past the United States Cruiser Houston, the flagship of Admiral Montgomery M. Taylor, commander of our Asiatic squadron.

Jimmy, there's one of the prettiest battle buggies on all the seven seas of this here old spinning golfball of a world and when you meet up with her with the eyes and heart of a born Yank and see her colors—our flag flying way out here on John Chinaman's equivalent of the Mississippi River—well, kid, she kinder gives you an old tug and a gulp around and about the upper left hand vest pocket and all of a sudden you want to go completely George M. Cohan.

And then, Jimmy, I guess your old headline hunter must have fallen asleep there in the back seat of that speedboat.

I had a crazy, impossible dream that one of those much-feared floating mines had bumped against the sides of the flagship Houston. Up she went and down into the muddy waters of this Chinese river with more than 1,000 American boys on board.

SNARE FOR UNCLE SAM

Why? I asked, and the question answered itself that fanatics on both sides of this Asiatic conflict are all anxious to involve Uncle Sam in this mess—I don't mean sane Japanese or Chinese, but crazy nuts burned up with misplaced patriotic zeal—insane zealots who would do such a terrible thing to blame the disaster on the other side and try to bring America into this mess on their side.

Japanese here in Shanghai are all eager to have Uncle Sam side with them in their war with China. The Chinese here in Shanghai are eager to bring Uncle Sam into this fight on their side against Japan.

It was all horrible, Jimmy, and it meant death and war and disaster, and then I woke up in a cold sweat as the speedboat bumped against its dock on the bund.

Gosh, what a relief! No more chop suey dinners—I must lay off that Sukyaki diet—that's what I resolved as I ordered a mess of ham and eggs in my room at the Cathay Hotel and sat down to read a newspaper.

RECALLS MAINE

Of course, Jimmy, you and I know that such a thing couldn't happen and both of us hope to God it never does. But listen!

It did happen, Jimmy—by golly—it did happen just 24 years ago today in Havana Harbor. Yes, sir, this day, February 15, 1898, an American warship anchored in that harbor, neutral and peaceful, observing progress of a war between Spaniards and Cubans, was blown up and 268 American boys went down with their ship.

And your Uncle Sam got dragged into a war with Spain and then got kicked into possession of a lot of Far Eastern islands which made him more than ever one of the great powers of the Pacific. Don't laugh, Jimmy. Just ask your dad if he remembers the Maine.

Good night, kid. See you later.

Bodies of 2 Boy Skaters Recovered

BATAVIA, N. Y., Feb. 15.—(AP.)—Tonawanda Creek yesterday gave up the bodies of two boys who had been missing from their homes since Wednesday, when they were seen playing on the ice. Search for the third victim was carried on with renewed vigor. The bodies found were those of Harry Campobello, 9, and Frank Bezon, 9. Michael Caccamise, 10, is still missing.

2 YOUTHS HURT BY FLEEING MOTORIST

Man, 69, Killed, Four Injured in Week-End Traffic; Evade Police

Police today were seeking a motorist who is alleged to have abandoned a stolen machine and fled in anger after injuring two youths in an automobile collision on Washington road and Scott's Mill road, Mt. Lebanon, last night.

Abandoning the machine stolen from Crafton after a short ride before police could halt the car, an automobile belonging to Hobert Bolger of R. D. 8, Scott's Mill road, which was parked in the driveway of her home shortly after the collision, Mrs. Elizabeth Machine of Valcent Belmere, 16, of 516 Belaire avenue, Beechview.

Riethaver, 21, Albert Bell, 20, of 300 Chadwick avenue, Newickley, were cut by flying glass.

Peter Brezovec, 49, of 48 Zelma way, Arlington, Mercyhurst Hospital after being struck by police said he was driven by Thomas Melnick, 20, of 5 Beller street, at Dawson street and the Boulevard of the Allies.

J. S. Hall, 21, of 2614 Quarry street and Alex Schwartheer, 32, of 26-4 Quarry street were receiving in South Side Hospital from injuries when their machine was struck by a Carrick street car at Arlington and South Hall avenue yesterday.

Mrs. Anna Ivanic, 32, of 3427 Church alley and Joseph Armine, 2, of the same address were injured when their car struck a pole on South Eighteenth street near St. Michael's Cemetery. Peter Mc, the driver, escaped with minor injuries, police said. The woman and the youth were in South Side Hospital.

ROVERS SCORED BY CONSTABLES

That recent drive by the result of which a committee of deputies at the request of the District Attorney's office visited the constable, was hailed at a meeting of the Constable Benefical and Protective Association yesterday in the Courthouse.

District Attorney Park pointed out today his office's only connection with deputy appointments was to investigate the applicants after aldermen had petitioned the courts for appointments.

Aldermen and justices of the peace were charged with fostering the practice which has resulted, speakers said, in the commissioning of an excess number of constables in districts where the duties of the elected constable were insufficient to occupy all his time. As a result of the discussion a motion seeking a precise definition of the law providing for the deputization of constables after presentation by Constable John McVey, of the Ninth Ward.

GIBBONS WON SPURS WITH VILLA ARMY

Puns Won Friendship Of Mexican Rebel Chieftain.

[illegible] Gibbons' first adventure [illegible] described in the following article, the first of a series concerning the career of this hard-hitting reporter, who is covering the Washington Conference for the International News Service.

By HENRY WALES
International News Service.

NEW YORK, Feb. 15.—(INS.)—Jack Gibbons was instructed to go to Mexico to cover the world championship boxing bout between Jack Johnson and Jess Willard. When he reached the border the affair was canceled.

Then Gibbons had an idea. Instead of returning to Chicago he telegraphed his editor suggesting that he try to get Pancho Villa, then in the midst of his revolutionary campaign, as an interview. Gen. Carranza.

Villa had announced his intention of hanging any American reporter who fell into his hands, so the bold proposal of the Yankee reporter to seek him out fell on receptive ears. The editor wired back O. K.

Villa in Hiding

The outlaw and his army, after suffering a first defeat by Carranza, were hiding out in the hills of Northern Mexico, seeking to avoid another battle until they had time to reform and get more supplies and reinforcements.

Floyd rode across the International Bridge at El Paso in a private car with a little bundle of food and, in Juarez, he bought a horse and cheaper clothes in Mexican money. He strung the package behind himself and started southward and started.

A few days later he rode into Villa's camp. Floyd was taken straight before the chief. Villa couldn't seem to scare him. Floyd started talking. He told Villa a new joke. Villa started laughing. They chatted together more than an hour.

The result was that Villa ordered another box car added to his private train, and that car fitted with a bunk and a table was Gibbons' home and office. The train followed the army wherever it could. When Villa and his staff left the railroad, they took horses and there was always a mount for Gibbons.

With an exclusive series of articles about Villa and his army Floyd finally returned to civilization, and Chicago.

Joins Pershing

A year later he returned to Mexico. After his clean-up with Villa he was obviously the man to accompany Gen. Pershing in his "punitive expedition" to break up the Mexican band which had shot up Columbus, N. M. The contact Floyd made there with "Black Jack" Pershing was to be of priceless value later.

The American regulars [illegible] over-matched the "typical comic opera" outfits that Gibbons had traveled with. Villa, after quarter, the years before Floyd's knowledge of the customs and of the outlaw's army made him a favorite with Pershing and his staff.

Next year was 1917. The United States broke off diplomatic relations with Germany. Our entry into the war was forward. Gibbons was ordered to London to await the American declaration of war. That was when Count Von Bernstorff, the imperial ambassador, received his passports. The editor suggested Gibbons take the same ship with the envoy.

Torpedoed at Sea

But Floyd had a better idea. He knew that ship would be safe from submarines. And he preferred to take a gamble on riding a boat that might be torpedoed. So he embarked in the Laconia. There were 72 other passengers and 200 in the crew. The vessel was jammed with munitions for the Allies.

Sure enough, 200 miles off the Irish coast, at 10 o'clock at night, when Floyd was in the smoking room of the Laconia, a torpedo struck the ship, cutting the submarine blockade the ship gave a lurch. There was a thud as the torpedo exploded under water against the hull. Then five short blasts from the whistle. That signal meant:

"Abandon ship, take to the boats!"

Floyd was in a lifeboat with 23 passengers and a half a dozen of the crew. The U-boat glided alongside and a guttural voice through a megaphone asked if the captain or any of the ship's officers was aboard.

Hours later the lifeboat was sighted by a British mine-sweeper and the survivors taken aboard. That night they were landed in Queenstown.

Meanwhile Gibbons had prepared a 4,000-word dispatch for his newspaper describing the torpedo attack and the loss of the Laconia.

Without even changing his clothes, which had dried on him, he went to the cable office and wrote down his story on a typewriter and filed it to America.

First Big Smash

It was his first big smash, a masterpiece of vivid descriptive writing.

A few days later Gen. Pershing and his staff landed at Liverpool.

FLOYD GIBBONS (CENTER) . . . HE "PALLED" WITH MR. VILLA

Torpedoed at Sea, But Joins Pershing and A. E. F. Pioneers.

Floyd likes to tell how the careful British censorship sought to delete any reference to the port at which the advance contingent of the American Army disembarked. But Floyd slipped in a paragraph about "the Mayor of Liverpool welcoming the distinguished American leader" and that got by the vigilant censors.

Gen. Pershing greeted Floyd like an old pal. He invited him to ride to London in his private car. A few days later after Pershing had completed his negotiations with the war office, secret plans were made for his trip to France. No newspaper correspondents were to accompany him, only the half dozen members of his staff, officers and several British liaison officers.

But when the little channel packet landed at Boulogne from Folkestone, there was Floyd Gibbons, striding down the gangplank. Pershing had fixed that for him.

He arrived in Paris with the General, drove with him through the Rue de la Paix, where the midinettes were on strike because the war had ruined temporarily the de luxe dressmaking business, and went on to the Hotel Crillon in the Place de la Concorde.

He saw Pershing go out on the balcony of his suite, in response to the cheers of the French crowd outside, saw the General seize the folds of Old Glory and the Tricolor intertwined above him, and heard his famous remark:

"Lafayette, we are here!"

3,000 NEWSIES SEE UBANGIS

It has been asserted that the primitive savage knows no fear. This idea, however, was crushed like an eggshell when 3,000 red-blooded Sun-Telegraph "newsies" swooped down on the Ubangi savages and their native African Congo village at Motor Square Garden yesterday afternoon as guests of the management. It was expected that the real thrill of the day would come to the newsies. Instead, however, the tables were turned. The Ubangi's got the thrill. In fact there large duck-billed lips quivered with excitement—almost fear—when those 3,000 boys crowded around them. With so many inquisitive boys on hand all squirming to get a near view of those queer natives of the Congo, there was no chance to put on their show.

Incidentally, the weather in Pittsburgh isn't just what they are accustomed to in the tropical Congo region and the Ubangis were loath to get out of their warm sweaters and blankets. But those strange thick protuding lips were there and they brought exclamations of astonishment from the youngsters.

Boy, 11, Will Face Bandit Slaying Trial

POPLAR BLUFF, Mo., Feb. 15.—(INS.)—Estle Austill, 14, of St. Louis, will go on trial here during the April term of Circuit Court for the murder of W. E. Haley, filling station owner, it was decided when the boy was arraigned. His father told the court that his son would stand trial.

Austill, the state charges, shot and fatally wounded Haley during an attempted holdup.

Hard Times Hit Drinking by Students

COLUMBIA, Mo., Feb. 15.—Add to the good effects of the depression a greater measure of sobriety among college students.

This conclusion was summed up following the observations of Dr. Albert K. Heckel, dean of men for the last eight years at the University of Missouri here. He said:

"I think the depression has had a marked effect on student conduct. I believe we have a general sobriety we never had before. The students haven't the money to buy liquor. They say so themselves."

TROLLEY BANDIT APOLOGETIC

Apologizing to a lone passenger and the motorman, a "gentleman bandit," meticulously attired, held up a Washington street car early yesterday near Brookside and made his getaway with $40 of the company's money and some street car takens.

The robber boarded the car in Washington. Seating himself near Motorman M. J. McElwee, of 115 Liberty avenue, he waited until the car reached Wolters stop, where W. T. Thomas, of 412 Hosack street, boarded the car. Then the robber said:

"Sorry, gentlemen, just step to the front of the car. It's a stickup. I'm an amateur, but I need money, and I'll kill if necessary to get it."

He took the money from the motorman and turned to Thomas, taking his pay check. When Thomas told him it was all he had and that his wife and children needed it, the robber returned the check.

2 SLAIN IN IRISH VOTE CAMPAIGN

DUBLIN, Feb. 15.—(INS.)—High political passions roused by the bitter campaign which at the general elections tomorrow will determine whether Ireland will continue allegiance to the British crown or renew her 700-year fight for complete independence today had brought about the first fatal outbreak.

Patrick Reynolds, running for re-election to the Dail Eireann, lower chamber of the Irish Parliament, and Detective McGeehan, were shot and killed while soliciting votes in Fixfield. Reynolds was a member of President William T. Cosgrave's Cumann-n-Gaedhael party. He and McGeehan were shot as they left the house of Joseph Leddy. The latter was arrested.

Both the men killed testified previously at an inquest into the death of James Vaugh, Republican leader, who was reported to have been beaten by civic guards after being arrested.

President Cosgrave today continued his pleas to voters to re-elect him and defeat Eamon de Valera, who is opposing him with pledges that he will renounce the oath of allegiance to the King and repudiate land annuities owed to British landowners.

Vaudeville Pioneer Dead in New York

NEW YORK, Feb. 15.—(AP.)—Charles Edward Bray, credited with originating "two a day" vaudeville houses and "travelogues," died of a brain hemorrhage at his hotel apartment Saturday night.

Bray, born in Salem, Mass., 73 years ago, was a former general manager of the Orpheum circuit and a pioneer vaudeville manager in the West.

The Farmers Bank Building, Fifth Avenue and Wood Street, erected in 1902, was among the first high buildings constructed in Pittsburgh. The banking quarters of the Farmers Deposit National Bank have been on the street floor of this building for twenty-nine years.

100 YEARS OLD today

A CENTURY of continued growth that parallels the great industrial progress of Pittsburgh is recalled today as the Farmers Deposit National Bank observes its one hundredth anniversary.

Pittsburgh in 1832, sixteen years after its incorporation as a city, had a population of less than 20,000. The business district was bounded by Market, Third and Smithfield streets and the Monongahela wharf. Farms flourished in what is now termed the "Golden Triangle." Nevertheless, Pittsburgh was already gaining recognition as a manufacturing center. Its name was synonymous with iron products. Its glassware was on the White House table of President Jackson. Robert Fulton had constructed the first commercially practical steamboat and boat building became a major industry here.

In February, 1832, the Pittsburgh Savings Fund Company was formed with $5,000 capital stock. Nine years later, its name was changed to the Farmers Deposit Bank of Pittsburgh. In 1864, the year after the National Banking System was established, it was chartered as the Farmers Deposit National Bank.

During this period, canal, river and railroad transportation developments opened the markets of the world to Pittsburgh products. Invention of the telegraph speeded communication. Discovery of gold in California found Pittsburgh the "Gateway to the West." The addition of steel mills, oil refineries, potteries, cotton and woolen mills, chemical works and other industries increased manufacturing in this city. Among the iron and steel mills established at this time were those of B. F. Jones and James Laughlin.

In the last three decades of the Nineteenth Century, Pittsburgh's progress was accelerated. The discovery of natural gas as fuel revolutionized whole industries. George Westinghouse began to manufacture his mechanical and electrical apparatus. Andrew Carnegie established his steel mills. The Bessemer process for making steel was brought to Pittsburgh. Pittsburgh became known as "The Steel City." Many other diversified lines of manufacturing, notably among them the food products of H. J. Heinz, were established and helped to carry the fame of Pittsburgh throughout the world.

The Farmers Deposit National Bank entered the Twentieth Century under the able guidance of T. H. Given, who had been cashier from 1880 until 1892, when he succeeded to the presidency. Under his administration, the bank made great strides and rendered constructive service to Pittsburgh's industries. He anticipated in 1902 the modern demands of this century by constructing the Farmers Bank Building of twenty-four stories at Fifth avenue and Wood street where the banking quarters are today.

During the past twenty-five years, developments in transportation and communication facilities have brought Pittsburgh still closer to its markets. Aluminum products, electrical equipment, radio, aviation and many other modern lines have taken their places along with other industries which Pittsburgh's natural resources fostered.

Pittsburgh continues to progress, and the Farmers Deposit National Bank continues to progress with Pittsburgh. Today, with one hundred years of proven safety as a background, it is among the hundred largest banks in the United States. As it enters its second century of service to Pittsburgh, the Farmers Deposit National Bank pays tribute to those who have contributed to its growth.

"Prince" is the trade-mark of the Farmers Deposit National Bank. He was a white bull terrier bought in 1839 by the late T. H. Given, then Cashier of the bank. It was a familiar sight to find "Prince" in the banking rooms until he disappeared in 1851.

PHILA. GUNMEN SLAY RIVAL

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 15.—(AP.)—Gangsters led Joseph (Two-Gun) Murray into a trap and killed him with five bullets early today.

Murray, reputed New York dope runner, was killed at the threshold of his home in a central city apartment house by gunmen who had posed for 38 hours as his "new neighbors."

The killers shot him in the back and fled.

The only clues left by the gunmen were a pistol and the remnants of the food and drinks they had consumed while awaiting Murray, an ex-convict whose ambidextrous ability with a pistol, police said, they had learned to fear.

W. E. Harmer, owner of the apartment building, said the slayers took an apartment adjoining Murray's on Saturday. Police found they had kept Murray under surveillance by watching at peep holes, drilled into a door. They killed him as he stepped into the dimly lit hallway, dressed to go out.

Shortly after the shooting, a pretty 28-year-old blonde, describing herself as Murray's wife, Margaret, appeared. She screamed and collapsed.

KASHMIR RISING FATAL TO 23

DELHI, Feb. 15.—(INS.)—Fierce clashes in Kashmir towns between Moslems and Hindus which claimed 23 lives before the rebellious outbreak was quelled today, led to proposals the government establish a regency of British officials in Kashmir state.

Troops were distributed at strategic points throughout the revolting districts.

If a government council of ministers is established in the state dominated by British members Great Britain would gain control of one of India's richest provinces now ruled by a Hindu Maharajah.

A great stir was caused here by the declaration of Maulana Shaukat Ali, Moslem leader, that Gandhi "betrayed the Moslem community."

Utility Talk Before Westinghouse Club

A description of local utility companies will be heard by members of the Industrial Pittsburgh course of the Westinghouse Club, of Wilkinsburg, tonight. Joseph McKinley, vice president in charge of sales of the Duquesne Light Company, will be the speaker. He was the first power salesman of the company, joining the Allegheny County Electric Company in 1903.

Mr. McKinley

Constance Bennett May Be Aloof, But She Draws At the Box-Office

By HARRISON CARROLL

(Copyright, 1932, by King Features Syndicate)

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 15.

Constance Bennett's aloofness may torch some of the public, but she's still the big draw at the box office. And the studios know it. Right now, for instance, Warners is angling for a story which they think may suit the glamorous marquise even better than "The Dangerous set."

It's a novel by Harriet Henry and it's called, "The Rakish Halo." Provocative title, isn't it?

Connie Bennett

The story is about a girl who leaves a rich but alcoholic Broadway broker for a romantic young man of her choice. There's a trip to Reno, which means a chance for a colorful episode in the Nevada divorce mill.

Whatever comes of the negotiations, Warners plan to make the most of Connie's last picture under that famous "vacation" contract. She's due to report to the Burbank studio in April.

GOSSIP OF CELEBS

Tala Birell will not appear in "The Marriage Interlude" after all. It seems the heroine of this picture finishes up in the fifties, and Universal doesn't want its foreign discovery to make her first appearance in a character part. . . . Mary Duncan is a Hollywood visitor. She says she'll return to Broadway to do a play called "I Must Love Someone." . . . Jack Kirkland, ex-husband of Nancy Carroll, wrote it. . . . film stars get the strangest requests. A college boy writes Mae Clarke that his school will not allow him to paste her picture on the wall, so will she please send him a frame. . . . Walter Huston was the one real friend Edgar Wallace made in Hollywood. . . . Dean Markham writes me, and I forget to mention it till now, that he is a partner to Harold Goodwin in that mushroom-growing venture. . . . There's to be a horned-toad race in Palm Springs next Thursday. Mervyn Leroy, Ruben Mamoulian and Mrs. Jack Warner will sponsor entries.

Nancy Carroll

IN THE CASTING

The next Tom Mix picture, all six, Western tale will be "Death Valley," a story by Jack Cunningham and Stanley Bergerman who is Carl Laemmle's son-in-law. Shooting starts on Washington's Birthday with A. Rogell directing. . . . After that, Tom will do Peter B. Kyne's "Oh Promise Me." . . . Priscilla Dean, and when did we see her last will appear in the fourth comedy produced by the Thalian Club. It's to be called "Hollywood Kids," and Bryan Foy will direct as usual. Others in the cast are Louise Fazenda, Edna Murphy, Natalie Moorhead, Earle Foxe, John T. Murray and Claudia Dell.

Traffic Club Dinner Set for March 10

The Traffic Club of Pittsburgh will hold its thirty-first annual banquet March 10 in the William Penn Hotel. The address of welcome will be made by William S. Guy, president of the club. Gordon Fisher, chairman of the board of Spang, Chalfant & Co., Inc., will be toastmaster.

The speakers will be Frederick E. Williamson, president of the New York Central, and the Rev. Dr. Roy L. Smith, philosopher. Wheaton, Ill., E. L. Blandford is chairman of the annual dinner committee.

South Hill P. T. A. To Meet on Friday

The Parent-Teacher Association of South High School will hold a celebration in honor of the Washington bicentennial in the school auditorium on Friday evening. The Senior Dramatic Club under the direction of Miss Margaret Kline will present a play, "The Decision at Dawn."

Scandal!

Ethel Barrymore will be in the Alvin one week from tonight in "The School for Scandal."

Savages Stay In Garden

The royal household of Ubangi savages remains on exhibition for another week amid replicas of Congo huts in the Motor Square Garden. They may be seen daily from noon until midnight. While the boxing bout is being staged in the garden tonight the savages will appear in the basement. The visitors from the Congo include eight duck-billed ladies and one gentleman, their king.

Clive Brook Visiting His English Home

Clive Brook, English film star, now on a leave of absence from the Paramount Hollywood studios, is in London visiting his father and mother whom he has not seen for more than a year. He was accompanied by Mr. Brook. Upon his return to Hollywood in March he will be co-starred with Claudette Colbert.

Plays, Players and By-Plays

By WILLIAM J. LEWIS

Fred Stone comes to the Alvin tonight in his new musical comedy, "Smiling Faces," which will be seen at the usual matinees as well as at night. Miss Paula Stone is among the support for the genial Fred.

Next Monday night Alvin audiences will be seeing another Professional Players offering. "The School for Scandal," which has Ethel Barrymore as its star. Tickets for the revival of the Sheridan comedy will be on sale in the box office Thursday and thereafter.

From today on the box office boys of the Nixon will be giving out the dorats for Flo Ziegfeld's new musical show, "Hot-Cha," which will have its premiere in Washington tonight and which will come to the Nixon stage next Monday. Bert Lahr and Buddy Rogers are featured in a big cast that also includes Lynn Overman, Marjorie White, June Knight, June McCloy and a lotta others. The book of this n is by Lew Brown, Ray Henderson and Mark Hellinger. The dances have been arranged by Bobby Connolly and the settings are by Joseph Urban. Nuf ced.

"Grand Hotel" will be seen in Pittsburgh this season, but not until April. It is an Alvin booking for the tenth of that month, with Eugenie Leontovitch as the ballet dancer. . . . Nina Mae McKinney, talented Negro actress, who was seen here in "Porgy," and is now making personal appearances in movie houses, will be seen on the screen in an original story based on Harlem Night clubs. . . . Billy Rose whitewashed his "Crazy Quilt" for Los Angeles presentation, evidently being in fear of the fate of "Lysistrata" there. . . . "The Tenderfoot" will be the next vehicle for Joe E. Brown, who has abandoned stage plans because of studio demands on his time. . . . O. P. Heggie, who has been Hollywooding, will return to the New York stage next month in "They Didn't Mean Any Harm."

Screen Bills In Theaters

Saturday saw three theaters revert back to straight photoplay bills, discontinuing stage vaudeville, which had been introduced a month or so ago. These theaters are the Harris, the Sheridan Square and the Enright.

The Harris now offers two feature-length pictures, the current bill having "The Speckled Band" and "Air Eagles." Sherlock Holmes comes to life again in "The Speckled Band," which is a British-made production. Lloyd Hughes and Shirley Grey are co-featured in "Air Eagles," which, as its title indicates, is a romantic comedy of aviation.

John Gilbert is starred in "West of Broadway," the new film in the Sheridan Square. In this one, Mr. Gilbert plays a war veteran, jilted by his best girl, who marries a night club lady for spite. Lois Moran has the feminine lead.

"Charlie Chan's Chance," recently seen in the Warner, is now in the Enright. Here we find Warner Oland as Chan, solving a murder mystery and getting off some Americanized Chinese-proverbs. H. B. Warner, Marian Nixon and Linda Watkins are in the supporting cast.

Skippy's Father Cast In Air Drama

Claire Dodd, one of Hollywood's most beautiful actresses; Willard Robertson, playwright and actor best known for his work as the father in "Skippy" and "Snooky," and George Barbier, who achieved screen renown as the king in Maurice Chevalier's "The Smiling Lieutenant," have been assigned to leading roles in "The Broken Wing," modern aviation picture. They will support Lupe Velez. Leo Carillo and Melvyn Douglas. Lloyd Corrigan is the director.

Morris and Lombard Head Film Cast

Chester Morris and Carole Lombard will head the cast in the film version of the Mildred Cram magazine story, "The Beachcomber." The picture will enter production shortly under direction of William C. de Mille. "The Beachcomber" will be Morris' second film for Paramount under his recently signed contract. He is now working in the cast of "The Miracle Man."

$2,000 in CASH Prizes

How many words can you make out of DUTCH MASTERS?

Here's fun for the whole family—and the chance of winning a big prize at the end. Dutch Masters—as most men know—is the name of a cigar, famous for its happy blend of choice tobacco. The contest is to see how many words can be made from the letters in D-u-t-c-h M-a-s-t-e-r-s.

Take one letter at a time and write down all the words beginning with that letter that you can make by using other letters in Dutch Masters. For example...

| D | U | T | C |
|---|---|---|---|
| Dare, Dress etc. | Utter, Usher etc. | Tame, Taste etc. | Cud, Cress etc. |

CONTEST RULES

Prizes will be given for the greatest number of words made out of the letters in Dutch Masters. No word must contain a letter more times than it appears in Dutch Masters.

Use only standard English words; no proper names.

List your words on paper under each letter (the D's together, the U's, etc.). Write only on one side of paper.

Mail your words with five Dutch Masters Cigar bands, or reasonable facsimiles in colors, to Contest Department, Consolidated Cigar Corporation, 730 Fifth Avenue, New York, the judges of the contest. Envelopes must be postmarked before midnight, April 11, 1932.

If two or more contestants are tied for a prize, the award will be made to the neatest entry.

PRIZES

| | |
|---|---|
| First Prize | $1000 |
| Second Prize | 500 |
| Third Prize | 100 |
| Fourth Prize | 50 |
| Ten Prizes, each | 25 |
| Ten Prizes, each | 10 |
| | $2000 |

There's no trick in it—just a test of wits. We want a lot of people thinking "Dutch Masters" because then a lot will try Dutch Masters Cigars. And that's all we ask. One trial means one more friend for life of the best ten cent cigar in the world.

A Columnist's Sec'y Jots Down a Few Notes

Dear W. W.: After all the false alarms, the carbon monoxide menace has really been solved. No more garage deaths, no more foul odors in city streets. The work was done by one of the greatest universities in the country, located 160 miles from New York.

Did you ever know that George Jean Nathan once convinced a group that one of Augustus Thomas' plays was better when played backward? . . . Kelcey Allen is the only critic who can sleep through a play no matter how bad it is.

Arthur Willi called. Wants you to go into the Palace. Call him at his home. I asked Willi what made him think you had time? . . . The Eternal Light at 23rd St. (N. Y.'s pledge to its slain soldiers to insure everlasting peace), is dirty and greasy, and now down to one bulb, which is almost out . . . Benny Holzman phoned to ask if you knew that the Statue of Liberty was carrying the torch for prohibition. . . Fred Allen says business is so bad in most theaters that ushers walk down the aisles backwards, as they haven't the heart to look the actors in the face.

Everything okay with H. I understand. . . Yes, "M" married again secretly after she returned there, but if you print it, it will start trouble, so I told her you wouldn't. . . Shuttleworth's mag has a Russian travesty on the column of gossip and very amusing. Best of the quips: "Life is just a Bolsheviki". . . Ruth Etting phoned . . . May I have your tickets to "Blessed Event"? . . . Hear it has been improved immensely since you saw it in Newark. . . The gag about "What do you know that I don't know?" wired to Bob to which he replied Plenty" is credited to Broun in it, as are numerous other quips from your files. . . You mean to say you don't rate any royalties, at all?

Jean Harlow's newest is a Pittsburgh M. C. . . . The YWCA officials have been kicking up a holler since November because of racial prejudice in connection with the passing of a famous colored educationalist, who was in a motor crash and hospitals in the vicinity of the accident were lax. . . F. W. Spooner, of Milwaukee, has a simile that goes this way: "As disheartening as telling your best gag to Buster Keaton, Charlie Butterworth or Tom Howard," who have the deadest pans all the time. . . By the way, Butterworth is combing Hollywood trying to find out your sources from there. . . Tell him to quit wasting time. . . That Clare Willis girl at the Silver Ball has sung on the radio, but she has to make a living and isn't fussy about table-warbling, because the tips are plenty all-right. . . That's the trouble with too many entertainers. They won't take off the high hats that are so unbecoming unless they are worn at a funeral. . . Dan Healy opened big at the Paramount Hotel. He certainly is a popular boy.

Be sure and credit the American Legion with doing great things for the Man-a-Block Plan, also the American Federation of Labor and the Association of National Advertisers who have done a great deal to put more men to work! ...Mr. McCooey was ill, but is feeling much better...Reuben is burning. Says he doesn't think you ought to tell jokes about him. Why don't you Give It All Up and please him?... I mean just cut out doing a column, or if you want to be extremely popular with everybody 'tell them how marvelous they are...Remember S. Jay Kaufman? He wrote pleasant things every day about people, encouraged obscure and talented artists and never complained about anything, except targy theater-comers and couvert charges...So when his paper changed hands they replaced him!...Catch on?...Mrs. W. says she'll take a plane. I told her no—you didn't want that ...She'll phone later...The Helen Rowland signature on that letter is not the writer, so I wickered I'... Mrs. G. denied it, but don't they always?

Why, asks Elmer Meyer, do so many cartoonists forget to draw wires on telephones and receivers?...A club in the Bronx has started what they think will prove to be a fad—dancing in stocking feet. Oh, yeah?

Harold Seton brought this in, very good, I thought. He calls it Suitable Scriptures, and if you like he'll forward more on the well knowns. F'rinstance: For Peter Arno—"All pleasant pictures." Isaiah 2:16 . . . For Clark Gable—"He that hath an ear." Revelation 2:7 . . . For Mae West—"Superfluity of naughtiness." James 1:21 . . . For Col. Lindbergh—"He did fly upon the wings of the wind." Psalms 18:10 . . . For Fred and Adele Astaire—"A brother or a sister is not under bondage in such cases." I Corinthians 7:15 . . . For John D. Rockefeller—"Go, sell the oil." II Kings 4:7 . . . For James J. Walker—"My tongue is the pen of a ready writer." Psalms 45:1 . . . For Judge Seabury—"And all the people greatly feared the Lord and Samuel." I Samuel 12:18 . . . For Walter Winchell—"And, behold, the man clothed with linen, which had the inkhorn by his side, reported the matter." Ezekiel 9:11.

Piano Quintet Op. 26..Dohnanyi

The Yost Quartet gave its third concert in Schenley Ballroom yesterday afternoon, presenting a program of music entirely new to Pittsburgh.

There was a quartet of Darius Milhaud, radical Frenchman whose latest opera is marked as "decidedly unpleasant music." Milhaud's compositions are all characterized by painstaking workmanship, but I have yet to hear, of all his works, more than a few of his songs which show the least sign of inspiration. Pochon's arrangements of the Irish folk songs are sonorously scored for quartet without detracting from the simplicity of the original tunes. The Dohnanyi Quintet is a surprise in that he (for he is a brilliant pianist) has given so unessential a voice to his favorite instrument. It is, nevertheless, a beautiful elegiac composition, totally lacking in any appeal to the gallery, but brimful of a certain quiet grace and charm.

The quartet was in much better form throughout the afternoon and Katherine Hessler as soloist in the quintet showed a remarkable feeling for ensemble playing. Her tone is not large nor ever brilliant, but it is gentle, feminine and pleasant.

ATLANTIC CITY PIER BURNS

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Feb. 15 —(AP)—The Steeplechase Pier, a resort landmark since 1892, was demolished by a spectacular fire last night.

William C. Fennan, manager of the pier, estimated the loss at $500,000. A huge advertising sign, containing 27,000 lights, and six stores in the front of the pier were destroyed.

The flames were discovered at 9:50 p. m. and were not under control until nearly 1 a. m. when the pier was a mass of smouldering embers. Only the fact that the wind was blowing from off shore prevented the flames from engulfing Haddon Hall and stores on the opposite side of the boardwalk.

The operator of the electric sign, whose name could not be ascertained, was missing.

FLOOD RAZES ALASKAN TOWNS

NOME, Alaska, Feb. 15.—(AP)—A meager report, embodied in a letter, was the source today of news that seven Eskimo villages were wiped out by floods before Christmas on the mainland east of Nelson Island, with the loss of many lives.

The letter said floods over a large area were followed by severe cold, and the bodies of numerous victims were later found encased in ice. The district is extremely isolated, with no communication system.

The section, northwest of the mouth of Kuskokwim, is flat and low-lying country and serious floods have occurred there before, old timers recalled here. Within high country to which to escape the inhabitants of the villages were trapped, the letter said.

Negro Businessmen Open Conference

A week of conferences for Negro businessmen was opened here today by James A. Jackson, United States Department of Commerce specialist, with headquarters at the Urban League of Pittsburgh, 806 Wylie avenue. The conferences, under auspices of the league and Business and Professional Men's Association, will include a general meeting Wednesday night in the Peyton Rose Auditorium, 5710 Broad street, preparatory to a special business week.

Tonight's Highlights

WCAE—Marimba Band, with Paul Gannon, tenor, and Raymond Griffin, bass, at 8; Lawrence Tibbett singing Dvorak's plaintive "Goin' Home," Stothart's boisterous sea chantey, "Tramps at Sea," and Rossini's 'Largo al Factotum," at 8:30; the Gypsies Dance Orchestra, at 9, and the Sun-Telegraph Nite Club, featuring Loew's Penn stars and Riggs and Moke, at 11.

KDKA—Stirring marches by Maj. T. J. Vastine, pioneer radio director, and his band in the "Westinghouse Parade" at 6:15; the Jesters, at 7:15; the Maytag Orchestra, with the Merrie-Men Quartet, in modern popular numbers and the old favorite, "I'll Take You Home Again, Kathleen," at 9, and Sue Carol and Nick Stuart at 11:15.

WJAS—Vaughn de Leath, at 6:15; Bing Crosby's own arrangement of "Dancing on the Ceiling," at 7:15; the Mills Brothers harmonizing "Who," "Was That the Human Thing to Do?" and "Frivolous Sal," at 9; Mildred Hunt in the "Broadcast Rehearsal," at 9:15, and Guy Lombardo's syncopation at 10.

WWSW—The Schenley Trio at 7, Father Cox at 7:45, the Shafer-Englert Orchestra at 8:30, and the fight from Motor Square Garden at 10.

KQV—John K. Chapel's series on George Washington in his "Twilight Reveries" at 5; Jack, Tony and Pete, at 8:15, and the KQV Players' mystery drama at 9.

Fan Fare

A CHINESE PRINCESS will tell American women how Oriental flappers are "going modern" on an NBC network Wednesday afternoon. She is Princess Du Ling, descendant of the Manchu dynasty. Maybe NBC got its idea from hearing about Mrs. William Yot, of Dormont, on one of Lou Kaufman's Globe-Trotter programs last week.

Bing Crosby and John Kelvin wear their hats when they broadcast so they can hear their own voices better above the music of the orchestra.

BERT FROHMAN, at Loew's Penn Theater this week and on the Sun-Telegraph Nite Club program tonight, has served as master of ceremonies at smart night clubs abroad. Before he was 20, Bert made his first trip abroad to appear at the famous Kit Kat Club in London. Then he crossed the channel and became a favorite at Les Ambassadeurs, in Paris.

You won't hear Clara, Lou and Em tonight. They switched to a regular morning "spot" at 10:15 a. m., starting today.

PRESIDENT HOOVER'S address before a joint session of Congress at noon next Monday officially opens the celebration of the two hundredth anniversary of the birth of George Washington. It will be on the networks.

Bill Moorhouse, the tenor, has the flu. . . . Sam Lanin, orchestra director heard over WJAS, never waved a baton until he joined the Navy. . . . The five musicians in Fred Schmadel's "Musical Library" on KQV play 17 different instruments. . . . Frank Westphal, Chicago band leader, claims the world's record with 10,000 band performances. . . . Wonder what Maj. Vastine has to say about that. . . . Mrs. Mollie M. Lyons, KQV Home and Style Service, has a shoe-collecting hobby.

BEATRICE FAIRFAX, whose advice on love and marriage has been read by millions, makes her debut as a radio star Wednesday, when the "Romance Exchange" is broadcast for the first time on KDKA. The program thereafter will be on the air Monday, Wednesday and Thursday mornings at 11:30 and Thursday evenings at 7:15.

Believe it or not, but none of the Mills brothers can read music.

ELEVEN COUNTRIES are listening in to the program of spirituals by the Capella Chorus and Jubilee Singers of Fisk University, heard over WJAS this afternoon. It originates in Nashville, Tenn., and goes by short-wave to England, where it is again rebroadcast throughout Europe.

Ted Husing has his shoulders taped, because, in trying to get some added color for his Winter Olympic Games broadcasts, he went skijoring, Norwegian variation of ordinary skiing. His performance was "putrid," to say the least, and he stumbled, landing head-first in the heavily-packed snow with such a thud that both of his shoulders were severely bruised.

Many Pittsburghers will be interested in the tenth anniversary celebration by WGY, Schenectady Saturday. While the first WGY transmitter was a low-power outfit, its programs penetrated many of the early radio receiving sets here. Many of the early announcers and entertainers are returning for the birthday party, which will be a network broadcast.

No Youngster Owes Life to Father or Mother

Does Babs owe her life to her dad—?

Must she give up the man she loves, and all chance of regular living and happiness?

All because dad made so many sacrifices to give her a bigger and better education and a wardrobe full of trick clothes—

Dad's strong for the notion that she does and she must—and has almost convinced her that she's an ungrateful daughter if she doesn't. But she can't quite make the grade in spite of what her "conscience" tells her.

"I can't bear the idea of never seeing Bob again!" she cries. "I know I shouldn't be selfish but—oh, what shall I do?"

DAD OBJECTS TO FRIEND

Dear Sally:

I have a problem that it just breaking my heart, and try as I will, I can't seem to solve it for myself, so I am coming to you for your advice. You have helped so many other people, that I have a hope that you can help me.

I am 22 and I have finished college. Now I want to marry the man I love, but my father objects to my leaving him. I was only 10 when my mother died, and dad has been both father and mother to me ever since then. I know that he loves me deeply. He had to make real sacrifices to put me through school. And he always saw to it that I had more spending money and better clothes than most of the other girls I went with.

He has devoted himself to me almost entirely ever since mother was taken. He often says that he simply idolizes me. He has until lately granted me every wish I ever expressed that was in his power.

Two years ago, I met Bob. Dad seemed to like him fine, until he began to realize that we were falling in love. Then he ordered me never to see him again. He refused to allow him to come to our home. And now he rants and raves about how "unworthy" Bob is, until I am nearly crazy. And it isn't true. Bob is a fine fellow. He has a good job, one with a future, and people like and respect him.

FEELS SELFISH

I know I owe my father a terrible lot, and when I stop to think of it all, I know I am selfish to want to leave him, but I am not strong enough to give up my life's happiness to repay him. When he begs me not to leave him it nearly breaks my heart. Yet—I want to leave. I know I should be unselfish but I just can't.

Oh, please help me. I am so unhappy! What shall I do? Sometimes I feel as if I should stay with dad. Sometimes I feel angry and defiant. I am so muddled I don't know what to do.

BARBARA.

What'll you do, honey?

Go ahead and marry your man, if you're sure he really is as fine as you think—and you love him. No youngster owes her life to her father or mother, no matter what sacrifices that father or mother may have made.

Supposing dad did go without things, to give you more than other girls had? He was doing it because he enjoyed doing it, Barbara. He got a great joy out of seeing you so smart and beautiful. And your dependence on him flattered his egotism. That is really why he is making such a fuss now. He sees you growing up—growing away from him—no longer dependent on him, and him alone. And without realizing it, he is jealous.

A GREATER DUTY

He wants to keep you his Little Baby Girl. But he can't do that, because children don't belong to parents. They belong to life. And if you go ahead and marry, as you want to do, dad'll gradually realize that.

If you don't—then what? Dad will be highly pleased—and many short-sighted souls will doubtless praise you for being a "dutiful and grateful daughter." But life won't praise you. Life will punish you for being a coward and a traitor.

It is your duty to love your father. But you have a greater duty and that is—to live your life. And if you don't insist upon performing that greater duty, your whole existence will be stunted and futile and you'll have no one to blame but yourself for your own misery. For—it's up to you to defend your own rights, my dear. If you don't—no one else will . . . or should.

Fay King Groups Wives Into Temporary, Guardian, and Little Known Classes

By FAY KING.

Most wives of well-known men may be grouped into three classes.

The temporary wife. The guardian wife. And the wife who is little known.

The temporary wife seems the most important. If it wasn't for remembering his last wife and the one the gossips figure will be his next wife, theirs would seem a perfect match.

The guardian wife has an eagle eye and an invisible handcuff. They are always smiling and apparently so happy together, but there seems to be some terrifying code of communication between them which cowers him completely.

The wife seldom seen is always a happy surprise. She is praised by those who know her, and her husband's content and good behavior in his freedom does her great credit.

Madge Tries to Sum Up Results of Trying Interview

To my great relief, Philip Veritzen rose from his chair as he asked me again whether I would surely have the revision of my third act ready for his inspection the next day.

"At 11 o'clock, to the minute," I told him, trying to smile and make my voice light and friendly, when what I longed for more than anything else in the world was a sandbag or a blackjack. I could wield either over Philip Veritzen's handsome head, with enjoyment. I told myself grimly, for I rarely had been angrier than when he had been giving me his "reasons" for preferring Avis Arlen to Mary as a daughter-in-law.

"Thank you. I shall be here," he said. "Remember, the stiletto, not the pick ax, when you are operating upon that character, Vickers."

He must quite fancy his unoriginal simile, I reflected, as I smiled dutifully at it, for he had used it twice within a few minutes. But I did not care if he recited the alphabet backwards, if he only succeeded in getting himself out of the room before I lost control of my nerves altogether and shrieked hysterically, as I had been afraid I should more than once since the beginning of our interview.

But at last with a final low bow, a final kiss upon my hand, he was gone, and waiting only until I was sure he was out of hearing, I locked the library door, and paced the floor rapidly, my never-failing remedy for getting myself under control.

I had salvaged my play! That was the first happy thought which came to me, when at last, with nerves again under control, I ceased my ranging up and down the room like a prisoned animal, and sank into a big chair to rest for a minute or two before going to Dicky with whatever news I had, as I had promised I would do when the interview was over.

The character of Vickers which, subconsciously, I had made a caricature of Dicky, had not ruined my third act, as I could follow Mr. Veritzen's command to alter the speeches and the business I had given the offending character, and bring him into harmony with the rest of the play. And the assurance which Mr. Veritzen had given me that my third act not only "carried out the promise of the other two without any perceptible let down," but also was as "pretty a piece of craftsmanship" as he had seen in a long time, made me glow with the peculiar happiness which only professional recognition of a piece of creative work can give.

Not even my bearding of Philip Veritzen concerning Noel and Mary had ruined my chances for having my play produced, as I had feared in those few minutes when his eyes had glittered with the fury which is his at anything savoring of lese majeste. Miraculously, he had quelled his anger—or forgotten it.

The reasons he had given me for his opposition had angered me almost beyond control, but looking them over in retrospect, I realized that as long as he did not openly oppose the engagement, Mary and Noel could be depended upon to look after their own interests. If they needed any aid, I promised myself grimly that they should have it, no matter what the consequences to myself. With that pledge disposing of my last anxiety, I arranged my manuscript, and carrying it with me—for I intended to take no chance of anyone's seeing the lines I had subconsciously given to the character Vickers—I unlocked the door of the library and started for Dicky's room.

I had gone but a few steps when Lillian rounded the corner of the hall and grasped my arm.

"I've been lying in ambush ever since Katie ushered old Phil out," she said. "I've had her stationed in the hall waiting to do the heavy ceremonies ever since he came in. I didn't want to see him, for I wanted to get the lowdown on it from you, yourself. But tell me now, before, like Dickens' Peggotty, I burst all my buttons, what was his verdict? Good. I can see that from your face, but how good? Come on, spill the good news!"

"He likes the third act," I told her frankly, for Lillian and I have no reserves of mock modesty between us. "He says it bears out the promise of the other two, and that it is good work."

"Do you mean to say," she asked breathlessly, "that he did not outline a single revision?"

My mental thermometer dropped abruptly. The moment I had dreaded had come. Somehow, someway, I must make it clear to this faithful friend that I did not wish her aid in making the revision for which Philip Veritzen had asked.

How to Keep Well

By DR. ROYAL S. COPELAND

Exclusive Milk Diet Is Not Wise for Children

Not so many years ago we were taught that babies could live by milk alone. Any suggestion of a more liberal diet before the age of one year was considered most unorthodox. But recent researches into the needs of the growing child have revolutionized our former ideas.

Dr. Copeland

A form of anemia has been discovered in certain infants between the ages of three months and three years. These are children who have been fed almost exclusively on goats' milk or cows' milk, and occasionally on breast milk. This is called "milk anemia."

Premature children, twins and those weak from birth are the most frequent sufferers. Underfeeding alone, even over a considerable period of time, has not produced the blood changes characteristic of milk anemia. In this ailment the red blood cells, those carriers of oxygen from the air, lose their power, in part at least, to do their normal work. Consequently the entire body suffers from the lack of oxygen.

There are two classes of cases. One shows signs of malnutrition. The skin is of waxy color and the growth is stunted. The victims are nervous and irritable. Often they suffer from respiratory diseases and other uncomfortable ailments.

The other type is more difficult to recognize. In this group are children who may be plump. They have good appetites and seem well except for a tendency to become fatigued easily. But a blood examination will show a picture similar to that of the first, the more fragile type.

In the usual varieties of anemia there is quick response to the administration of iron and the application of hygienic measures. But in milk anemia little improvement can be secured without using certain dietetic measures.

The first step toward a cure is to diminish the amount of milk and to substitute cereals, vegetables purees and fruit and vegetables juices. In most cases, even the very young babies can digest cereals, especially when they are cooked in vegetable water. The favorite method is to cook carrots, spinach or green peas, and when the vegetable is cooked to use the pot liquor for cooking the cereal.

For children of four months or more, a little of the sieved vegetable may be mixed with the cereal. For the older children, liver or bone marrow may be given, as well as small amounts of olive oil or codliver oil.

But all these measures may be useless unless the amount of milk is gradually reduced. Or rather, the milk is replaced by these more substantial foods.

Sunlight, fresh air and the ultra violet ray to the chest are measures calculated to encourage the upbuilding of the thin and depleted blood. In severe cases transfusion of blood from another person may be required.

Contract Bridge -:- OFFICIAL SYSTEM As Adopted by Leading Authorities

By E. V. SHEPARD

How Many Tricks Can B Win at Diamonds?

As stated on Friday, the above hands were bid as follows: Z, 1-No Trump; A, Double; Y made no bid throughout. To show game probabilities at hearts, provided his partner held a strong doubling hand, B bid 3-Hearts. Z passed, but A shifted to 3-Spades. Liking his partner's spades about as well as A liked B's hearts, B ventured a shift to 4-Diamonds. The responses made A believe that a small slam might be made, even against a no-trump showing of adverse strength and he jumped into 6-Diamonds.

The opening lead was Z's A of clubs.

Like many another hand where contracting has been pushed to the limit, the declarer has to proceed with great caution; the play is full of traps for nearly every variation from the one outlined here of B's actual procedure. To enable him to gain club entry to his own hand later on, A's J was ducked under Z's Ace. Rather than open up one of the other suits for B, Z led a second club, which B won with his 10.

It appeared more simple to establish dummy's spades than to try establishing hearts; accordingly B led his lone spade, and won the trick with a finesse of A's Q. A low spade was returned and trumped.

When there are outstanding against you five trumps, there are 68 in 100 chances that the five will be divided 3-2 between opponents, and B proceeded to utilize those probabilities. He led his J of diamonds, and was allowed to win the trick. He led his lowest diamond and won the trick with A's 10. Dummy's lowest spade was led, and trumped by the declarer, dropping Z's King. This meant that dummy's A-9 of spades could pick up the missing J, wherever it lay. Dummy also contained two good clubs and two good diamonds. All the declarer had to do was to make certain that Z did not in some manner take a trick of any sort.

At the end of the seventh trick, of which the declaring side had lost only one, B held five untouched hearts, and a lone club. Looking at all four hands, it is easy to see that it would have been perfectly safe had B led a club, but he was not certain that Z held another card of that suit. It was possible that originally he held four hearts; if he had falsecarded by playing his K of spades when he also held the missing J, Z would trump a club lead.

To make absolutely certain of results, B led his K of hearts, and trumped the trick when Z put up his Ace. Even if the A had not been played, still he would have trumped. An excellent principle of play is never to take any needless risks. The balance of the tricks were claimed without further play, and A-B scored their doubled contract of a small slam.

-:- Correct Manners -:-

By MRS. CORNELIUS BEECKMAN

The Bridesmaid

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

1. I am to act as bridesmaid for a friend of mine soon. The bride is to wear white and I am to wear pink chiffon. Will it be correct for me to wear a rhinestone necklace with bracelet to match? The ceremony will take place in the morning.

2. Is flat silver an appropriate present from the bridesmaid to the bride?

3. When visiting a friend, is it correct to say, "Thank you" when anything is passed by the maid, such as coffee, cake and so forth? A. M. C.

1. It is for the bride to say what she wishes to have you wear, both as to costume and accessories. Have you asked her? I see no reason why this necklace and bracelet wouldn't be a lovely combination to wear, but do ask the bride.

2. This depends. Usually the bride's family plans to give her the flat silver, and usually she has in mind a special pattern that she wishes. But if you are sure that her silver hasn't been planned for, and if you are sure of the pattern that she prefers, this would be a lovely gift.

3. Yes . . . a "Thank you" is always an appropriate and gracious thing to say for even the smallest of services, and well-bred people do not spare their expressions of appreciation.

After Dinner Coffee

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

Is it correct to use the coffee spoon for the regular size coffee cup, or is it used only for demitasse? Mrs. A. M. B.

The small after dinner coffee spoon should be used only with the after dinner coffee cup. It is of a size appropriate for this, but too small for a larger cup.

The Home Journal

A notebook containing household data, such as curtain measurements, number of rolls of wallpaper required for each room, etc., proves a joy when replacing necessities. It saves all that measuring and calculating.

He brought her tea garden to your tea cup

WHEN the founder of A & P sold his first pound of tea, he had the idea which was to make us successful by being useful to the public.

Tea in those days was selling for from two to three dollars a pound. And no wonder. An A & P advertisement, published in Harper's Weekly as early as 1867, lists eight profits which were then being taken between the tea garden in China and the tea cup in America.

"The Proprietors became fully convinced several years ago," the advertisement says, "that the consumers of Tea and Coffee were paying too many and too large profits on these articles of everyday consumption, and therefore organized this Company to do away, as far as possible with these enormous drains upon consumers, and to supply them with these necessaries at the smallest possible price . . . We propose to do away with all these various profits . . . with the exception of a small profit to ourselves—which, on our large sales, will amply pay us."

And thus he managed to cut the price to one dollar a pound. And the result, of course, was that more people could afford to buy tea. This method of direct buying and small profits applies today, not only to tea, but to every one of the 1200 items we sell. Our policy was, is, and always will be, the elimination of unnecessary profits taken on food between the garden and the grocery shelf.

Household Hints

If you have had some trouble with small rugs slipping on polished floors, place a rubber stair tread under each end of the rug. These may be purchased at very little cost.

When two tumblers become fixed one inside the other, stand the outer one in warm water and pour cold water into the inner glass. The outer glass will expand and the inner one contract, so the two are easily separated.

When making a filling for lemon pie, put the whole rind into the mixture for the last few minutes of cooking. Then remove with a spoon. It will add greatly to the flavor without giving it the bitter taste so often connected with grated rind.

REFUSAL TO CUT DRY BUDGET STIRS ROW

House Sub-Committee Backs Hoover Recommendation For Same Appropriation

International News Service.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15. — A prohibition row was projected into the House today when the Appropriations Committee declined to cut the $11,369,500 fund for the prohibition bureau while slashing virtually all other expenses in the State, Justice, Labor and Commerce departments.

Despite the protests of two militant anti-dry members of the sub-committee handling the bill, the committee upheld President Hoover's budget recommendation fixing the dry fund the same as last year.

The total of the bill for the four departments was cut 10 per cent below last year and 4 per cent under budget estimates. It carries $124,713,818 to run the departments the next fiscal year.

500 AGENTS ASKED

The Prohibition Bureau had requested 500 additional agents as recommended by the Wickersham Commission, it was disclosed, but this request had been turned down by the Budget Bureau.

The committee, defending its action, said that funds for the dry law bureau, anti-trust division of the Justice Department and immigration had not been touched because they are important law enforcing agencies.

Attorney General Mitchell explaining his stand before the sub-committee, defended the prohibition fund as follows:

"Here is a question of law enforcement in this country, and when I use that term I do not mean only prohibition; I mean every aspect of law enforcement. It is a great national problem, and I shrink from anything that looks like a relaxation in our efforts to enforce those laws."

Representative Tinkham (Rep.), of Massachusetts, and Representative Griffin (Dem.), of New York, members of the sub-committee which framed the bill, demanded a cut in the dry law fund but were voted down. The bureau had $160,000 left over from last year.

NOT SATISFIED

Asked by Tinkham if he is satisfied with prohibition enforcement, Mitchell said:

"No, I am not satisfied with it. I would like to see it improve. I think we have improved it a good deal and made a good deal of progress with a very difficult problem."

Mitchell estimated that 50 to 60 per cent of expenditures of the Justice Department in criminal activities applies to dry law enforcement.

Prohibition Director Woodcock, testifying, said that fines, penalties and seized property reduced the net cost to $5,485,178.

He said 681 letters of authority to agents to drink liquor to obtain evidence were issued last year and 14 agents were discharged for drinking.

U. S. TO PUSH RADIO SUITS

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15. — (INS.)—The federal government expects its anti-trust case against leaders of the radio industry to be tried despite reports that a patent pooling agreement would settle the case.

John Lord O'Brian, head of the anti-trust division of the Department of Justice, told the House Appropriations Sub-Committee considering the Justice Department bill that the proposed patent pool would dispose of only one important phase of the case.

He explained in testimony made public today that negotiations with the Radio Corporation of America, General Electric, Westinghouse Electric, American Telephone and Telegraph and Radio subsidiaries had not reached a definite conclusion. O'Brian declared:

"The negotiation to which I refer relates solely to the cross licensing of patents. It is one of the chief subjects in the bill of complaint; but the inter-relationship of the parties, their inter-corporate relationships, their various contracts, their conduct toward the world, all of those issues remain to be tried and will be tried."

Woman, 2 Men Held In Jewel Robbery

KITTANNING, Pa., Feb. 15.—A 28-year-old mother and two men were under arrest here today for the $500 robbery of the H. H. Weylman jewelry store Friday night. Ken Nichols, 21, confessed late Saturday night, according to police, that he robbed the store. The loot was recovered in his home today, police said.

Mrs. Pearl Bloss and Ralph Barnett, alleged to have stood guard, are in the county jail. Barnett is under bond for a hearing before Frank J. Atkins, justice of the peace.

Wall Street's Balloon Again Soaring Some

—By ARTHUR 'BUGS' BAER—

Notice what Wall street did Saturday? Boys, the balloon is loose again.

The old street of sorrows and elapsed payments picked up over two billion dollars in the most spectacular rise since grandma's bed caught on fire.

It's all good news to the lads who lost their brass ring on the last loop in 1929.

We were in. But they shook us out like a farmer emptying a bag of Long Island potatoes.

Now we're on the outside like a boy's nose pressed against a candy store window.

We can see all the good things. But it ain't going to do us any more good than whiskers on the barber shop floor.

Well, like Kipling, we took our fun where we found it. And we left our funds where they took it.

100 GROUPS ASK DRY LAW POLL

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15. (INS.)—Demands for a referendum on prohibition were made by more than 100 organizations, including the American Legion, American Bar Association and the Junior League, during 1931, according to the annual report of Henry H. Curran, president of the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment, made public today.

Members of the House favoring submission of a repeal resolution to the people in state conventions, increased from 160 to 190, and in the Senate from 18 to 34, the report declared.

Curran reported a membership of 506,100 in the association. He listed the following important developments, in addition to the increased "repeal" strength in Congress:

Party leaders have announced that record roll calls on submission of a repeal resolution to the states would be taken in both Houses.

State branches of the "association" have been increased by eight, bringing the total to 24 active state units.

Advocates of repeal or submission won House seats in several districts formerly held by drys.

Dry losses, Curran said, have shown that the prohibition front is disintegrating inside and outside of Congress.

LEWISBURG PEN OPEN IN AUGUST

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15.—(AP.)—The new Northeastern Federal Penitentiary at Lewisburg, Pa., will be a full going concern by the latter part of August.

Sanford Bates, director of prisons, told a House Appropriations Sub-Committee several minor changes of plans and the usual delays in construction may delay the institution's completion to that time, although he hoped to have it open by July 1.

The committee included $469,000 for operation and maintenance of the prison for the first year in the appropriation bill for the Justice, Commerce and Labor departments, reported to the House today. That sum provides for a personnel of 137 at the prison.

Boy Trader Hurt When Gun Explodes

Jean Ivory, 14, of 253 Arabella street, who was shot in the thigh when an old triggerless gun exploded while he was handling it, was recovering in South Side Hospital today.

Police said he was to trade the old gun to his friend, Kenneth Hamilton, 13, of 412 Arabella street, for a bean shooter. The gun exploded while they were examining it, police said.

Nebraska Educators Questioned in Raid

LINCOLN, Neb., Feb. 15.—(INS.)—Profs. L. C. Wimberly and N. E. Eliason, of the University of Nebraska, were questioned by prosecutors today in connection with a raid early Sunday on a student party. They told the authorities they were merely acting as chaperons at the party and knew nothing of a quantity of liquor confiscated by raiding officers.

Methodist Ministers Hold Conference

The Methodist Episcopal movement is now the greatest of all time in India was the report given at an all-day session today of Methodist Episcopal ministers at the Smithfield Street Methodist Episcopal Church. The Rev. Dr. Albert Baker, associate secretary of the Methodist Episcopal Foreign Missions, was the principal morning speaker. Miss Theodora Chitambar, daughter of the Bishop of India, spoke in the afternoon.

TWO WOMEN DIE IN FLAMES AT M'KEESPORT

One Gives Life in Vain Effort to Save Friend as Downtown Landmark Burns

Two women were burned to death, one in a reported attempt to rescue the other, when fire swept the Laney homestead at Sixth avenue and Locust street, in the heart of McKeesport's business district, early today.

Mrs. Joseph Laney, 60, was said to have lost her life when she tried to carry out a friend, Mrs. Frances Bay, 75, of the Hill District, Pittsburgh.

The bodies of the women, both Negroes, were found in the ruins two hours later.

One of McKeesport's landmarks, the big frame structure crumbled fast as flames swept through it. Families in adjoining houses fled to the street.

Mrs. Laney's husband conducted one of three small stores on the first floor of the building. His home was on the second floor.

Laney was absent. He is a son of the late Boston Laney, one of the first Negro settlers in McKeesport.

LEGION OPENS JOB DRIVE

The American Legion's anti-depression drive to obtain jobs for the unemployed was to open today with the canvassing of industries and homes. Forty-four Allegheny County posts are participating.

The county drive is part of the legion's national drive to put 1,000,000 men to work within 30 days. It will be supported by one of the greatest advertising campaigns in the history of the United States.

Report meetings will be held in the William Penn Hotel headquarters of the campaign. A general committee was to be named today.

URGES LIMITED BARGE SERVICE

The federal government should stay out of direct competition with the railroads in barge lines on the inland waterways and should improve only such streams where it can be shown that a better service will be rendered to the public, according to Dr. William Z. Ripley, professor of political economy at Harvard University.

Dr. Ripley criticized President Hoover for his attitude on waterway improvements. He declared he has never lost faith in the future of the railroads. The states are about to regulate unfair bus competition, he declared, and the railroads will survive because the public needs them.

U. S. TO DEPORT 20,000 ALIENS

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15. (INS.)—The Department of Labor expects to deport 20,000 aliens in the next year as a result of a country-wide drive, Secretary of Labor Doak informed the House Appropriations Subcommittee at hearings made public today.

This was the goal set for last year, but the department fell short about 2,000. The Appropriations Committee granted the budget request of $1,750,000 for deportation expenses.

Doak told the committee that as a result of drives on smugglers, the number of aliens illegally entering the country is decreasing.

Maid Loses $60,000 Jewels in Taxicab

NEW YORK, Feb. 15.—(AP.)—Loss of a black leather bag containing 30 pieces of jewelry which she valued at $60,000 was reported to police last night by Mrs. Frederick Lewisohn.

Mrs. Lewisohn, who is mentioned in the social register, said the bag was lost in a taxicab by her personal maid, Marie Luneau.

Mrs. Benney Hurt While Riding Horse

Mrs. George A. Benney, Sr., Sewickley society woman, was recovering in Sewickley Valley Hospital today from injuries received when thrown from her horse near the Allegheny Country Club links. Charles Oliver and William Crittendon, golfing, saw the accident and took Mrs. Benney to the hospital.

Board Will Vote On Change in Rules

A change in the constitution of the Squirrel Hill Board of Trade whereby ex-presidents would be eligible to serve on the board of directors will be voted upon at the monthly meeting tonight at 5810 Forbes street. President Thomas G. Hasley will preside. A program of educational motion pictures will be offered.

ESTEP OPPOSED BY ELLENBOGEN

Henry Ellenbogen today announced as a candidate for the Republican congressional nomination in the Thirty-third District against Harry A. Estep.

Ellenbogen, in a statement today, indorsed a five-billion-dollar bond issue by the federal government for public construction for relief for the unemployed through local agencies, regulation and control of public utilities, restriction of the power of injunction by federal courts, and revised federal taxes which would bring increases in the higher brackets.

James R. George, North Side business man, is announcing as a Republican candidate for the Legislature from the Seventh District, pledged himself to sponsor a bill for a $25,000,000 state housing program if elected.

Representative Thomas W. Neely, Sr., Sewickley, is a candidate for re-election to the Legislature from the Thirteenth District. He has served two terms. Neely pointed out that he had supported election reform measures in the past, and would continue to do so.

BOY CONFESSES KILLING CHILD

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 15.—(INS.)—The greatest manhunt in the criminal annals of Philadelphia came to an end today as Willie Brown, 16-year-old Negro incorrigible, confessed the killing of little Dorothy Lutz.

The 8-year-old child was found by police brutally murdered in an untenanted dwelling, seven doors from where she lived, after a five-day hunt. A little skipping rope which the boy told her was in the empty house lured the child to her fate, according to his confession.

Willie left home after his brother had remarked that the police were looking for a boy seen talking to the Lutz girl just before her disappearance. The suspicious action led to his arrest.

Police said the youth at first stubbornly insisted that he knew nothing of the murder. He feigned insanity for a time.

The youth was well known to police and had spent five years in Glen Mills Reformatory.

He was to be arraigned on a murder charge today.

NEW YORK, Feb. 15.—(AP)—Failure of Trafilo Romero, 26, an unemployed dishwasher, to pay his rent caused his arrest last night as a suspect in the murder of Marie Rosales, 13, whose body was found in a bathtub in an unoccupied tenement Tuesday.

He was taken to police station by his landlord, and notes on some pawn tickets aroused the suspicions of a policeman, who thought the writing looked like the scrawled postcard message which led to the discovery of the Rosales girl's body.

PARLEY OPENED BY MANAGERS

Failure of employers to retain workers due to age was condemned as a social and economic waste today by Prof. R. W. Stone, of the University of Chicago, before the opening session of the National Personnel Conference of the American Management Association in the William Penn Hotel.

The excuse for such discharges based on personal defects and senility might be applicable to some workers, the speaker said, but the majority are both able and willing to work.

The conference will continue three days, with open forums featuring each talk. Human fatigue in industry was discussed this afternoon by Prof. A. G. Anderson, University of Illinois. Three round-table conferences will be held tonight following a dinner meeting.

'Ukelele Ike' Sued For Rent Arrears

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 15.—(AP)—A suit on file here against Cliff (Ukulele Ike) Edwards, film actor and entertainer, charges that he owes William Mann $280 for two months' rent on an apartment.

A similar suit was filed by Mann against Manvy Dover, actress, declaring she owed $507.50, 10 weeks' rent, for an apartment in the same building.

Starving Deer Fed Hay From Airplane

WALLACE, Ida., Feb. 15.—(INS.)—Hundreds of half-starved deer in the mountain country north of here were fed with "hay from the skies." Because of unusually deep snow the ordinary sources of food has been cut off.

An airplane was chartered by the local chapter of the Izaak Walton League and flew over the snow-covered district dropping a ton of alfalfa to feed the animals.

Quell Rubbish Fire In Downtown Bldg.

A still alarm brought firemen early today to the Clark Building, Liberty avenue and Seventh street, where they extinguished a rubbish fire, according to a police report. No damage was reported.

Another alarm was sounded for a fire in a flue in the kitchen of Thompson's Fifth avenue restaurant early today. Damage was estimated at $20.

'TAPE' BANDITS BIND THREE IN TWO SAFE ROBBERIES

4 MEN HELD UP IN BUNKER HILL CARBARNS

Thugs Haul Away 200-Pound Safe From Produce Firm; Week-End Crime Grows

Tape bandits bound three men in two safe robberies early today as the climax of an outbreak of lawlessness over the week-end that included holdup of the Bunker Hill car barns.

Using adhesive tape which they had obtained by pretense of purchase, two gunmen bound the lips, hands and feet of Ralph Kreuer, clerk in the pharmacy of Dr. L. G. Ignelzi, 600 Larimer avenue, and compelled him to open a safe, soon after he opened the store for business today.

The robbers fled with $360, including $60 cash and stamps belonging to the government, for the pharmacy was a postal sub-station.

Kreuer was released by I. Goodman, a newspaper distributor, of 2608 Woodstock avenue, Swissvale.

TAKE SAFE AWAY

Robbers carted away a 200-pound safe, containing $200, from Fisher Brothers' egg and poultry establishment, 1128 Franklin street, North Side, early today after taping Lee Ledick, 25, and William Spears, employes, both of Newark, O., and leaving them in the basement. The robbers also took $25 from a cash register, police were informed.

Two hours later, the safe, broken open, was found in Imperial.

At the Bunker Hill car barns H. W. Connell, dispatcher; James Henry and Stewart Smith, telephone operators, and Anthony Kaufman, of 712 Herron avenue, who was waiting for a trolley, were threatened by three bandits who escaped with an unestimated amount of money.

The four victims, police said, were surprised as they were talking in the office of the car barn. While one armed man ordered them to go to the waiting room, the other two grabbed several money boxes and fled. Police were seeking the trio.

ESCAPES POLICE SHOTS

Two shots were fired by Patrolman Edward Brown at an alleged burglar whom he surprised at the home of Harry Veich, 58 Seldon street, Overbrook, early today. The suspect, believed to have been hit by the officer's fire, escaped.

Two armed men who lined up customers in Daniel's Bath House, early yesterday at 1306 Epiphany street, police said, escaped with $800 taken from Max Shullman, 614 East Ohio street; $35 from Max Friedman, Hazel street, and $51 from Louis Steinberg, Logan street.

Harry Berlinsky, 28, of 1011 Vickeroy street, was treated for injuries received when he was dragged from his machine and slugged near his home, last night, according to a police report, which said Berlinsky was robbed of $900.

Joseph Kahout, of 141 South Sixteenth street, reported he was held up and robbed of $50 by two men. He is the cashier of the South Side Turner Hall and was en route home when the robbery occurred.

A watch valued at $100 was taken from Jack Row, of 2459 Snyder street, by three men who jumped into his machine when he stopped at the entrance of Schenley Park, police said.

Police reported that five men held up the Metro Club, 1911 Murray avenue, and escaped with more than $1,000 after threatening several men engaged in a card game in the club, said to be maintained by Fourteenth Ward Republican leaders.

8 Men Arrested In Swissvale Raid

Eight men were arrested, 45 cases of beer and 10 gallons of moonshine liquor confiscated when Swissvale police, headed by Chief of Police Thomas Cummings, simultaneously raided five homes in the Italian section of the borough Saturday night.

THREATS TO 4 HOLD MAN

Nick Giviglia, 26, of 865 South Canal street, arrested early today on complaint of two girls and their escorts, was held for court charged with violating the firearms act, by Magistrate J. J. Sweeney in North Side Police Court.

The girls, Stella Fritzley, 806 Suismon street; her cousin, Millie Kohler, 4 Ravine street, Sharpsburg; John McMillen and C. J. Eisentraut, both of 903 Constance street, testified that while they were seated in a car in front of Miss Fritzley's home, Giviglia, posing as an officer and brandishing a revolver, compelled Miss Fritzley to go into her home. There he is said to have tried to intimidate the girl's aunt. Giviglia testified he had been drinking.

WILL ROGERS SAYS

NEW YORK, Feb. 15.

To the Editor, Sun-Telegraph:

Had a fine day yesterday over with the Morrow family in Jersey. The more difficulties pile up on us the more we realize what this country lost when we lost him. The Lindberg baby is the cutest thing you ever saw—walking, talking. He disgraced the Lindberg name by crying to come away with Mrs. Rogers and me in the car. Say, just left Ring Lardner. There is a man that has forgot more humor than all the rest of us try to write. He is working on a new baseball series that's bigger news to America than if the Japs evacuated Chu-Chin-Chow. Had lunch and a two-hour chat with Al Smith. He took me up on top of his building—the highest in the world. He can pretty near see Washington from there. Well, as near as anybody else can, anyhow. Yours, WILL.

WEST END JOINS UTILITY RATE FIGHT

Elliot Arranges Rally In School House Tonight; East Boroughs Active

West End and Elliott district public utility domestic consumers will rally tonight at Thaddeus Stevens School, South Main street, to join the foes of excessive rates. East Borough residents will stage a demonstration in North Braddock tomorrow night.

Additional municipal and civic group support is anticipated with the rate fight discussion scheduled during the week before six organizations. Duquesne Council will be asked to join the Pennsylvania Fair Rate Association at its monthly meeting tonight by a special committee of the Duquesne Business Men's Association, headed by H. E. Levine.

SEWICKLEY INVITED

The Sewickley Valley Board of Trade is also expected to act on an invitation to join the association tonight.

Two other meetings tonight will hear the objects of the association explained. Attorney W. G. Negley, vice president of the Allied Boards of Trade, speaking before the Washington Heights Board of Trade, while C. V. Shoup, secretary, appears before the Dormont Chamber of Commerce.

Public utility committee members of all North Borough councils, meeting Friday night at the Bellevue Borough Building to discuss street car service in the district, will be invited to join the rate association. Shoup will address this meeting. The next night he appears before the Volunteer Firemen's Association of Western Pennsylvania at Verona.

STEEDLE TO SPEAK

State Representative Joseph G. Steedle and Chairman O. W. Heselbarth, of the Forty-fifth Senatorial District committee of the association which is staging the rally, will be among principal speakers tonight at West End. Ward Chairman H. J. Neeley will preside. District committeemen will be named to carry the association's fight to the polls at the primary on candidates opposed to legislation reforms.

The association's officers, headed by President A. B. Davidson, of Tarentum, will speak before tomorrow night's meeting in Scott High School. Attorney Henry Ellenbogen also will talk. Municipal officers from all East Boroughs have been invited to attend with the domestic consumers.

Uninspected Autos To Bring Arrests

Pittsburgh motorists driving after April 1 without proper certificates of inspection will be arrested, Traffic Inspector Jacob Dorsey said today after a conference with Capt. Philip J. Dorr, of the State Highway Patrol. Dorsey assured complete co-operation in ridding the city of alleged bogus inspection seals.

Hungarian Artist's Drawings On Exhibit in Gallery Here

"GYPSY BOY" . . . . FROM EXHIBITION BY MILAN PETROVITS

"BREAD AND SOUP" BY PETROVITS . . . NOW ON EXHIBITION

Peasant and Gypsy Scenes Drawn By Perovits

"Hungarian Rhapsody" treads a vigorous measure at the Wunderly Gallery in an exhibition of about 50 drawings by Milan Petrovits.

Soldiers swagger, maidens coquette, lovers dance, old women pray, and Magyars tipple in these racy, idiomatic drawings.

The group showing the vagabond pursuits of gypsies is the romantic climax of these picturesque genre drawings. "Gypsy Orchestra" expresses, through design, in values of black and white, the pungent rhythms of Romany music.

Emotional piety such as that in the studies of peasants praying, particularly "At the Shrine in the Wall" and "Religious Aspiration," surprises eyes accustomed to today's intellectual mode.

Also unabashed in their frank appeal to human interest, are the well-drawn "Gypsy Fiddler" and "Bread and Soup."

The artist has set Hungariana down, untroubled by the modern obligation to stylize folk-like spontaneity into visual ethnology. Note the flood of Mexicana now rampant.

Petrovits' Czardas-like reflections of unimpeded human impulses beckon refreshingly in the midst of our own more calculated ways of living and of art.

These drawings will be on view through February.

HORNING RITES TOMORROW

Funeral services will be held tomorrow afternoon in the Sixth Presbyterian Church, Forbes street and Murray avenue, for J. O. Horning, vice president and treasurer of the Mesta Machine Company, who died Saturday in Rochester, Minn.

Mr. Horning was a lifelong resident of the Pittsburgh district and had been associated with the Mesta Machine Company 41 years. He was a director of the Monongahela Trust Company, Homestead; a member of the Sixth Presbyterian Church, Dallas Lodge No. 508, F. and A. M.; Pittsburgh Commandery No. 1, Knights Templar; Syria Temple, Duquesne Club, Pittsburgh Athletic Club and the Pittsburgh Country Club.

He leaves his widow, two sons, John C. and Richard O. Horning, and two daughters, Mrs. George Connelly and Mrs. George Schroeder, all of Pittsburgh.

NEW COUNCILS AIDING RELIEF

Hill, Lawrenceville and South Side community relief councils, newly organized to aid unemployment relief, were to begin operation today.

Clearing and checking cases handled by various relief agencies to prevent duplication and conserve relief sources will be the first work of the councils, Miss Isabel Kennedy, organizer for the Federation of Social Agencies, said.

The Hill district office will be in the Irene Kaufmann Settlement. The South Side headquarters will be located in the Jones Motor Company, Carson and South Thirtieth streets, and Lawrenceville in the Pittsburgh Boys' Club, Butler street.

Thirteen district councils will be in operation soon, Miss Kennedy said.

Seven new directors will be elected at the annual meeting of the Welfare Fund tonight in William Penn Hotel.

Passerby Prevents Woman's River Leap

Mrs. Anna Lombardo, 58, of Twenty-fifth street, McKeesport, was in the home of relatives today after, police said, she was saved from a plunge into the Youghiogheny River by a pedestrian late Saturday.

Athur Erickson, of 732 Fifth avenue, McKeesport, told police he saw the woman climb to the bridge railing. He ran and seized her, he said, as she was about to leap. Police reported she told them she was unemployed and tired of living.

SPEED APPEAL TO HIGHER TRIBUNAL

Dauphin County Bench Finds $10,000,000 Bill Legal; Allegheny to Share Benefit

International News Service.

HARRISBURG, Feb. 15.—The Talbot bill, passed by the special session of the Legislature and appropriating $10,000,000 for relief purposes in the state, was ruled constitutional today by the Dauphin County Court.

Attorney General William A. Schnader had contended that the bill did not come within the purview of the call of Gov. Gifford Pinchot, who summoned the General Assembly to provide unemployment relief. Schnader also argued that the Legislature did not provide revenue for the appropriation and that the estimated revenue for the biennium cannot accommodate the added appropriation.

Test proceedings were started by R. L. Coughlin, solicitor for the Central Poor District of Luzerne County.

Judges William M. Hargest, Frank B. Wickershaw and John E. Fox signed the opinion. It directed that a peremptory mandamus be issued directing Mrs. Alice Liveright, secretary of welfare, Charles A. Waters, Auditor General, and Edward Martin State Treasurer, to carry out the provisions of the act.

The State Supreme Court probably will be asked immediately to sustain the Dauphin Court's decree.

Final approval of the Talbot relief bill would release immediately approximately $800,000 in state funds for relief in Pittsburgh and Allegheny County. The Poor Directors of the county would receive $400,000 and the Department of Public Welfare a similar amount.

The total share of Allegheny County and Pittsburgh in the $10,000,000 fund would be about $1,729,258.92.

Gov. Roosevelt Urges Federal Jobless Aid

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15.—(AP)—A telegram from Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt, of New York, commending efforts for federal unemployment, today was read to the Senate.

The Governor's message did not refer specifically to any one relief measure.

Sharp division is evident in the Senate on the $750,000,000 La Follette-Costigan bill for direct relief and road construction.

Pinchot Urges Reed, Davis to Back Relief

HARRISBURG, Feb. 15.—(AP)—Gov. Pinchot today called upon Senators David A. Reed and James J. Davis to remove the "collar" of the Republican state organization of Pennsylvania and to disregard the "Hoover policy" by providing direct federal relief for the unemployed.

As "Governor of a state which has a million unemployed," Pinchot urged them to vote for the La Follette-Costigan $750,000,000 direct relief measure now before Congress. The Governor said:

"I ask you to rise above the selfish order of the Republican state organization which in the recent extraordinary session of the Pennsylvania Legislature raised not one cent of revenue to provide relief and earmarked for unemployment relief not one cent of what it did appropriate."

He asserted that malnutrition has increased 30 per cent in Pennsylvania schools in a single year. He continued:

"Senator Reed has said Pennsylvania can and will take care of its unemployed. You know in your heart the bitter untruth of that statement. Private aid has reached the limit.

"The time has passed for pretending that dreadful want has not come to America. Your responsibility is as great as mine."

Two Directors Ill, Poor Loan Blocked

Illness of Dr. W. L. Henderson and H. H. Dixon, two of the county's three poor directors, is temporarily blocking the Poor Board's plan to borrow $600,000, it was learned today.

Henderson, with influenza-pneumonia, is critically ill, his physicians said.

Bankruptcy Asked For Trunk Company

An involuntary petition in bankruptcy was filed in United States Court today against the B. B. & B. Trunk Company, by three creditors, with claims totaling $3,784.

Sinking of Maine Marked by Veterans

John D. Meyer, former U. S. District Attorney, discussed world peace last night at services commemorating the destruction of the battleship Maine, held in North Side Carnegie Hall by the Allegheny County Council, United Spanish War Veterans. Other speakers were Attorney Benjamin Lencher and the Rev. E. J. Travers, pastor of Samson's Mills Presbyterian Church, McKeesport. Charles F. Armstrong president.

Firemen to Carry Body of Ex-chief

Wilmerding firemen will be pallbearers for John Truxel, 45, of 214 Westinghouse avenue, Wilmerding, former borough fire chief who died early yesterday, it was announced today.

The coffin will be escorted to the Grandview Cemetery Wednesday afternoon on the borough fire truck, following the services. Mr. Truxel retired from the department a year ago.

He leaves his widow, Mrs. Lottie Truxel, six children, Elmer, Daniel, Chester, Katherine, Vera and Virginia Truxel.

Barking Dog's Alarm Proves False

HE BARKED LONG, LOUDLY . . . AND POLICE DRAINED A LAKE!

Police Drag Lake But Find Only Toy Wagon

A mongrel dog barking frantically on the edge of Lake Elizabeth in West Park, North Side, and a child's toy wagon, which police dragging the lake fished out, proved to be false clues today.

Attracted by the dog's yelping and spurred by the finding of the wagon, police drained the lake early today, fearing they would find a child's body.

Empty, the pool disclosed nothing but the usual winter accumulation.

'Sons' May Save Body From Pauper Grave

Sons of the American Revolution today are investigating ancestry of J. G. Lewis, whose body lies unclaimed in the morgue, to learn whether he is a descendant of Francis Lewis, of New York, a signer of the Declaration of Independence. If it is found that he is, the organization will bury him in a grave marked by the Daughters of the American Revolution.

Dornfield Will Direct Revue at Mosque

WILLIAM DORNFIELD

Selection of William Dornfield, well-known entertainer, to act as master of ceremonies at the revue, "A Trip Around the World," at Syria Mosque the week of February 29, was announced today by the committee in charge. Dornfield will, in addition to his own act, introduce the stars of the revue which is to be presented.

The revue and dancing is presented under the auspices of the uniformed bodies and working units of Syria Temple.

Nobles of Syria Temple will gather at the Mosque Thursday evening for "A Night of Mystery," to be preceded by a buffet luncheon at which Potentate Karl Rex Hammers and Recorderer James W. Barber will be hosts. United States Senator Robert La Follette will be the principal speaker at a testimonial dinner Friday in the William Penn Hotel, which Syria is to give to honor of Potentate Hammers. He will speak on "The Progressive Movement in Politics."

Farmers Deposit National Marks 100 Years as Bank

The Farmers Deposit National Bank of Pittsburgh today celebrates its one hundredth birthday. As the bank begins its second century of service it points with pride to its position among the 100 largest banks of the nation.

The history of the bank reflects not only its own advance, but the progress that Pittsburgh has made in the last century.

The Pittsburgh Savings Fund Company was organized in February, 1832, with a capital stock of $5,000. Pittsburgh had a population of 20,000 and had been incorporated 16 years. Nine years later the name was changed to the Farmers Deposit Bank of Pittsburgh. In 1864, when the national banking system was established, it was chartered as the Farmers Deposit National Bank.

Many of the present depositors are familiar with the picture of "Prince," the dog whose photograph is the trade mark of the bank. But only a few know that this dog once was a familiar sight as he curled up in the corner of the banking room or crouched in the doorway to greet visitors.

Prince was a white bull terrier bought in 1889 by the late T. H. Given, then cashier of the bank. The animal could be seen daily in the banking rooms until he disappeared in 1898.

BULLARD SHOWS PACIFIST PERIL

Defenseless People Enslaved, Army Expert Says

This is the second of six articles by Gen. Bullard on the perils of pacifism and internationalism. The first article appeared in Sunday's Sun-Telegraph.

By LT. GEN. ROBERT LEE BULLARD (RETIRED)

Commander Second American Army in France, President National Security League. As Told to

EARL REEVES

An elemental fallacy occurs through the confusion of disarmament or reduction of armament with world peace, as if one produced the other or as if they are somehow identical.

Then the pressure upon Congress is intensified by a massing of "popular opinion" in a fashion which implies that all women, all religious bodies, all welfare societies and all social services stand united in the belief that we must make ourselves more defenseless and so presumably insure peace.

It is not, of course, true that all these elements of our population believe that defenselessness brings security.

I am reminded that I once saw a curiously startling object lesson in the relation of arms to security, to standards of life and to civilization. I was serving in the Philippines. Before my eyes daily was a living panorama which might have been described as the ascent of man.

CULTURE WITH ARMS

There were monkeys in the trees having for defense only their hands; the Manobo had been driven also to live in trees though they carried stick, club or [illegible] spear; they feared the little black, armed with bow and arrow. These in turn fled from the knife and spear of the Moro, who was himself helpless before the Tagalog who bore obsolete Spanish arms, and finally, at the top, was the American with modern arms.

Throughout all this ascent the state of wellbeing of advancement and of culture was in direct proportion to the status of armaments.

It seemed to me then that the monkeys which, in the struggle for life, had had sense enough to pick up and use a club had developed in no more the others remained monkeys.

Looking over the world as I have known it first hand and studied it constantly during 40 years as a soldier, it seems to me clear enough that the countries in which life is most worth living are precisely those which have relied on armaments to protect their growth and development and that the relation between arms and standards of civilization holds down through the scale.

WEAK EGYPT ENSLAVED

For a practical example of the effects of disarmament I would cite Egypt, virtually enslaved under the dominion of other nations for 2,000 years — until the phrase "Despoil the Egyptians" has become an idiom of our language.

There is always one kind of disarmament which tends to bring peace. That is, when disarmament plainly shows that one party is certain of getting licked if it fights. This is the kind of disarmament that pacified our Indians. So runs the Allies' logic in disarming Germany. I have no doubt but that in the chancelleries of Europe today are men who, for a similar reason, would like to see the pacifists successful in disarming the United States.

With Washington we declared unequivocally against the "entangling alliance" of a security pact under which we would have been bound to come to the aid of France in case of war. Since that time France has been thinking solely of the interests of France—the very first of which, as she sees it, is security.

SECURITY OF FRANCE

It should soon be evident that whatever high ideals America may voice, French actions at the Geneva disarmament conference will be dominated by that single word. Let us disarm if we will by all means is her position; but France cannot disarm or reduce the measures of military precaution which she has taken unless given in tangible form security guarantees by her late allies.

Pacifists who would have us go to Geneva guided by a spirit of sweetness and light take little account of the granite-hard facts of the international situation as it exists today.

On the contrary, they believe vaguely that there is no danger of war, or that the war exhausted nations cannot again make war. But that was thought of Japan after the Russo-Japanese War, and of the Balkans after the Turko-Balkan War—but all these took a hand in the World War. That was said of Turkey after the World War, but soon thereafter Turkey whipped the Greeks. The same was said of France, but for a decade France has been ready to fight at the drop of a German hat.

JAPAN ATTACK CITED

Japan, of course, is at war again now—a war it is significant which all the world's [illegible] peace machinery could not prevent.

Generous impulses of the human heart do not prevent wars. Wars arise mainly from economic causes which affect or seem to affect the very subsistence of peoples. Differences arise wherein each side fights stubbornly in the firm conviction that it is right and the weak and people goes to the wall.

I recall that 15 years before the great war Elihu Root declared that if we did prepare in peacetime our next war would train us—but at the cost of our lives. It did. But we are already forgetting the lesson.

ROOT'S WARNING

No man perhaps worked harder or harder for international under-

Civilization Gains With Security Of Armament

standing than did Root, but he also said:

"Within the experience of those now within sound of my voice we shall have grown to a nation of two hundred millions; we shall have grown so large that the whole world outside of America will be jostling against us; and unless America is strong to defend its rights, unless America has not merely the men and the money, but the trained intelligence and the skill to defend its rights by force . . . America will break into a hundred parts and the government which we love, and under which we enjoy the blessings of freedom and justice, will cease from the face of the earth."

There is the considered verdict of a man conservative of thought, no alarmist—one of the nation's greatest intellects—and we should think upon it now.

No national has ever kissed its way to the supremacy which brings advantages for its people or maintained those advantages for its citizens while defenseless.

They were arrested following the holdup Saturday night of a chain store in Trafford. Police said Smith admitted planning the Trafford holdup.

INDIAN WOMAN LAUDS NATION

Discussing the present and future of India, Miss Theodora Priyamavada Chitambar, a graduate of Isabella Thoburn College in Lucknow, India, spoke yesterday morning in Bellevue Methodist Episcopal Church and in the evening in Christ Methodist Episcopal Church, Center and Liberty avenues. She said:

"No one refers to my country any longer as 'Dark India.' Efforts are being made on every hand to eradicate those elements from the country which have so far retarded her progress. These efforts are being made not only through organization but through individual enterprises. The women of India are rapidly taking their places alongside the men and doing remarkable work through their organization. The All-India Women's Conference on education and social reform is the chief organ through which they work."

why Chesterfields are Better!

Just think what this means for Chesterfield smokers. It means that the larger part of 90 million dollars is invested in Domestic and Turkish tobaccos that are being properly aged in Nature's way, and cured so as to make them sweeter and milder.

CHESTERFIELD tobacco is packed in wooden casks, each containing about 1,000 pounds and stored for two years in modern, up-to-date warehouses.

These warehouses, if placed end-to-end, would be about four miles in length. From floor to ceiling they are filled with these casks of fine tobacco, ageing in Nature's slow but sure way.

It takes a lot of money to make a good cigarette—money to buy good tobaccos and money to age them properly.

CHESTERFIELDS are milder, and taste better . . . there's a 90 million dollar reason why! Just try them!

Mrs. Anthony Wayne Smith, Jr., Only Charter Member Now Living, Made Honorary President

By MRS. CHARLES M. BREGG

Mrs. Anthony Wayne Smith, Jr., the only living charter member of the Women's Press Club, was made its honorary president at the forty-first anniversary dinner held Saturday in the College Club. In accepting the honor Mrs. Smith reminisced of her early newspaper work, on the Press and as owner of Sewickley Life, and her talk was full of charming wit, wisdom and fine philosophy. A song, the words of which were written by Mrs. Albert J. Dawson, was sung to Mrs. Smith.

The dinner was most attractively appointed, with vases of red tulips and red candles alternating down the long table, while at each place was a photograph of the club mounted on a large red heart. These with tiny crystal candlesticks holding red candles were the favors.

A game in which each one present pledged herself seriously and honestly to tell "her heart's desire" served to further cement the friendships that have been the club's foundation for more than four decades and it demonstrated, too, that the art of conversation is still alive to a stimulating degree, despite what pessimists have to say concerning its decadence.

Reveal Desires

The game was the second feature of the dinner, the first being the magazine contest in which each member represented a well-known magazine. Miss Mary L. Hay, the president, who by the way, represented "The New Republic" with a tiny map of Spain, won the prize for guessing the greatest number. The prize for the best representation went to this writer for her representation of "The Youth's Companion"—a hip flask.

Mrs. John F. Collins, Jr., Mrs. Anne Ryan Lesh, Miss Bernice and Miss Mary Shine arranged the dinner.

Far, yet Near

"A TRIP SOUTH! I'd love to go!" Mary Blake was thrilled at the opportunity to accompany her husband.

"But we'll have to start tomorrow," he warned her. "Can you get ready so soon?"

Mary considered. There were countless details to settle, appointments to cancel. And the children—who would take care of them?

For the moment it seemed hopeless. Then Mary's face brightened. "Let's telephone Mother! She'd love to have Tommy and Beth. Look up the trains—she'll meet them at the station."

The telephone, Mary realized, would solve many of her problems. "Of course, we can leave tomorrow," she said eagerly. "The children will enjoy the change, too. By telephone, we'll not be far away!"

ELIMINATION OF GIFT TOSS FAVORED

WHILE STEPS TO improve basketball are being suggested and discussed, how about starting another movement for a radical rule change that would eliminate the free throw? That question has been put to a number of prominent court men, including such a widely known veteran as Dave Kerr, and not a few of them agree that discarding the gift toss would help the game. One old-timer holds that the play is contrary to the sport, which was originally devised for the pleasure and benefit of all the players in the lineup, with team play as the main object, whereas the free throw has absolutely no team play connected with it.

Dave Kerr

But that isn't the main objection. The free throw makes basketball the only game in the world played by teams in which one man can win a contest with absolutely no interference from an opponent. That one point may be the deciding margin, and yet the player making the free throw can step up and toss it in with no opponent permitted to raise a finger to stop him. The element of competition that makes any sport is entirely removed. Five men have to stand by looking on while one player wins the game for the other side.

IT MAY BE argued that in baseball one player can go to bat in the last inning with the score tied and win the game by hitting a home run over the fence, with no fielder able to reach the ball. But it must not be forgotten that the pitcher has a chance to prevent that home run by working with sufficient effectiveness to keep the batsman from making it.

Even in football, though a team is permitted to make a try for an extra point after touchdown, or for a field goal by a free kick after a fair catch, the opposing side has a chance to prevent it by breaking through and blocking it. And instead of being a one-man play, with no one else permitted to take part, all of the 22 players in the game are involved.

SEVERAL CHANGES IN the basketball playing code have been suggested to offset the free throw. One would enforce the rough foul regulation by eliminating the rough players from the game, the opinion being advanced that if they are good players that penalty will be severe enough.

Another is that on all fouls committed within the fouled player's territory, that is between the end of the free-throw arc and the end line of the player's own basket, the ball be put in play on the end line on the side of the floor on which the foul was made.

A THIRD PROPOSAL is that on ordinary personal and all technical fouls, the ball be put in play the same as in out of bounds, but past the restricted territory set aside for fouls made within the goal area. The object of these changes would be to eliminate rough play and also the possibility of games being won or lost on free throws. There is hardly any question that some such alteration of the code would serve to improve the game by making it more a sport of team competition and less of an affair that can be won by one man while the whole opposing team is defenseless.

Gordon Slade

MAX CAREY himself never was the greatest hitter in the world, but he thinks he can improve the stickwork of a couple of his Brooklyn players this year by changing their styles. His first decision in that direction was to make a choke hitter of Hack Wilson instead of the free-swinging slugger the Martinsburg man has been in the past.

Now Max plans to take similar steps in the case of Gordon Slade, who is to be the Dodgers' regular shortstop if Glenn Wright's wobbly ankles don't come around. In his first time at bat in the majors in 1930, Slade made a home run with two men on. That gave him the notion that he was a slugger, but he never cashed in on the idea. He didn't get another homer all that season and he made only one last year. So Carey hopes to break him of the swinging habit by making him choke his bat, figuring that in any event the experiment can't hurt a .235 batting average much.

THE BROOKLYN MANAGER'S plan to alter batting styles causes Fred Mitchell to doubt that it can be done successfully. He contends that it's next door to the impossible to change the style or form of a batter with good results.

Mitchell has been around a bit in baseball. He was a catcher in his playing days under the name of Yapp, manager and also president of the Cubs, manager of the Braves, and is now business manager and chief of scouts for the Braves and also head diamond coach at Harvard.

"PERSONALLY, I'VE ALWAYS thought that many otherwise capable managers have handicapped some of their men by trying to change their batting stances and styles," Mitchell remarks. "You can point to very, very few big leaguers who have shifted their styles while in the majors and made a success of the new one. Your hitters are born, not made. Some of the batters who slumped in 1931 may find themselves again this year, but if they do you can bet it won't be because they changed their batting styles. Wilson has been a great hitter in his own long-bat style. You might as well try to get a woman to discard the hat she believes is most becoming as to get a man like Hack to choke his bat and shorten his swing."

PUBLISHED REPORTS OF the death of Billy Clingman, former major league baseball player, have brought a denial from such a fairly trustworthy source as Clingman himself. He says he is hale and hearty at his home in Louisville, in which city he has been engaged in the engraving business for 27 years.

Veteran Pittsburgh fans will recall Clingman as an old Pirate. He came here from the Milwaukee club in 1895 and succeeded Fred Hartman at third base for the Buccaneers under Manager Connie Mack, being part of an infield that included also Jake Beckley at first base, Louie Bierbauer at second and Monte Cross at shortstop. Early in 1896 Clingman was traded to Louisville for Outfielder Joe Wright and Catcher Eddie Boyle, Denny Lyons coming back to take Billy's place at third base.

THOUGH JACK SHARKEY is the manager and coach of Ernie Schaaf, the latter's continued success appears to be getting under Sharkey's skin. While listening to New York newspapermen praise Schaaf's ability the other day, Jack remarked that Ernie would not be able to hit him once if they were to put on the gloves together.

Isidro Ribas

A number of smart boxing men in the East do not agree with Sharkey. Some even go so far as to say that Ernie would take everything Jack could send his way and would wear him down in a battle going 15 rounds.

CHARLEY PETERSON, of St. Louis, is a strong favorite to defeat Isidro Ribas, of Barcelona, Spain, as they move into Chicago tonight for the second round of their novel match for the world championship at fancy-shot billiards. Peterson gained a 13-point lead in the opening block at St. Louis last week. The third, fourth and fifth rounds are to be played in Washington, New York and Havana. Cue fans in Pittsburgh and elsewhere who have marveled at Peterson's trick-shot wizardry look for him to increase his lead steadily. "Pete" is held to be without an equal in his line. For years he has been backing up his famous old standing challenge of "show me a shot I can't make." Apart from his trick and fancy shot skill he holds several other records, including the world mark of 54 for high run off the red ball, 100 points at straight rail in 26 seconds and 1,000 in four minutes.

SIX DRASTIC CHANGES ARE MADE

HANOVER, N. H., Feb. 15.—(AP)—The National Football Rules Committee announced six drastic modifications of the playing code today.

In an effort to check the "tendency toward increasing injuries" the committee decided:

1—To restrict the formation of the team receiving the kick-off by requiring that five players of the receiving team remain on their 45-yard line until the ball is kicked; and to allow the kickoff to be made either by place-kick, punt or drop-kick.

LIBERALIZE SUBSTITUTIONS

2—To forbid players on the defense to strike an opponent on the head, neck or face with hand, wrist, forearm or elbow.

3—To liberalize the substitutions rule to allow a player withdrawn from the game to re-enter once in any subsequent period.

4—To forbid use of the flying block or tackle.

5—To make the ball "dead" when any part of the ball carrier's body except his hands or feet touches the ground.

6—To amplify the rule regarding equipment so as to require padding of hard and unyielding substances with felt, foam rubber or other soft padding at least three-eighths of an inch thick.

These changes were termed by Chairman E. K. Hall the most important in making the game safe for the players since the modifications of 1906 and 1907.

INJURIES INCREASE

Although it had been found that the "so-called fatality list accredited to football was more than 50 per cent entirely misleading and inaccurate," Hall said, the committee had noted an increasing number of injuries, due, it was believed, to the "intensive development of the open game."

"The result," Hall explained, "has been to bring into the game certain practices or styles of play, most of them entirely legitimate and within the spirit of the rules, which are tending, in the opinion of the committee, to bring into the game certain new sources of hazard to the players."

It is to combat this tendency that the modifications have been adopted.

HENRY TO HEAD W. & J. SPORTS

WASHINGTON, Pa., February 15.—Announcement of the selection of Wilbur F. (Pete) Henry, as graduate manager of athletics is to be made soon, according to information from the W. & J. campus. He has been acting as manager through action of the athletic council since the resignation of William G. Theurer at the beginning of the year.

Henry, All-America tackle at Wash-Jeff, and named by Walter Camp as a tackle on his all-time All-America team, has been line coach of the Presidents and tutor of the basketball squad.

Recently, because of duties of the manager's office, he has been forced to turn over the basketball coaching to Glenn (Woops) Wild, freshman football coach and assistant track instructor. Henry will also relinquish his football coaching next year, his successor to be named by the new head gridiron coach who will be chosen to succeed Bill Amos.

Henry has an unusually engaging personality, has a wider acquaintanceship among the alumni than almost any graduate of the past 15 years and it is believed he will be able, as manager, to restore much of the good will between the alumni and the athletic authorities, lost in the past few years.

Greensburg Golfer Seniors' Medalist

PINEHURST, N. C., Feb. 15.—(AP.)—Thomas S. Jamison, of Greensburg, Pa., who took medal honors in the twelfth annual Pinehurst seniors' golf tournament with an 84, was paired with G. S. Proctor, of Pittsburgh, in the first round of match play today. Other pairings: R. T. White, of Bayonne, N. J., vs. R. Breed, of Danvers, Mass.; A. P. Gray, of New York, vs. J. Amiddleton, of Chicago; R. C. Shannon, II., of Biddeford, Me., vs. C. S. Strout, of Biddeford.

POLO CLUB BEATEN

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Feb. 15.—The Mill Creek Riding Academy polo team defeated the Pittsburgh Polo Club here yesterday, 12½ to 11, after losing to the Cavaliers, of Pittsburgh, Saturday night, 19 to 11½.

DREYFUSSIANS

Stories They Tell of the Late Barney Dreyfuss

By CHARLES J. DOYLE

Walter Maranville, were his business acumen up to his diamond skill and comicalities, would be an extremely rich fellow today, but Maranville, great drawing card that he was—and is—failed to press his advantage [illegible] which he held. For instance, the Pittsburgh club made piles of money during the Rabbit's four-year sojourn with the Buccos, but there have been many [illegible]ny Buccos who held out for better contracts than were owned by the little fellow.

This tale, however, has to do with one of the Rabbit's didoes in the days before he stopped his foolishness. The Freebooters were in Boston and the Rabbit was unfortunate enough to fall in with a group of his alleged friends. It seems Rab and his pals were driving from Springfield to Boston in the wee hours of the morning.

Skipper Bill McKechnie received an early morning message to the effect that his star shortstopper was in jail in Brookline, a very straight-laced suburb of Boston. The good folks of Brookline had only four or five charges against Rab, including those of socking a cop and driving without a license. McKechnie had to call upon some very powerful political pressure to get his star out of hoosegow, and when he took a squint at Rabbit he figured he was in no shape to play ball.

Bill was for sending Rabbit home in disgrace, but the shaky one insisted he was O. K. Well, to make a long story short, Maranville made a single with two out in the ninth to win a battle which featured a young riot and a lot of other exciting things.

Rabbit's winning hit had the effect of softening McKechnie, who had mapped out dire punishment for the wee one. Bill eventually recommended to Barney Dreyfuss that Rabbit be fined $500 for his escapade.

When the Buccos returned home Rabbit was called in on the carpet for a lecture. But, as the late George Stallings once told me, it was a hard task to punish Maranville owing to the fact that when the shortstop erred he would go to extremes to make amends.

Dreyfuss realized his star should be punished and he imposed the $500 fine as recommended by McKechnie. He added, however, that in case Rabbit behaved he would give him the money at Christmas as a present for his little girl.

Rabbit behaved and when the season closed he took a position in the circulation department of a Pittsburgh newspaper for the off months. Remembering his pact with Dreyfuss, he visited Barney before Christmas to collect his money.

Dreyfuss was quick to recall the agreement and made out a check for the $500. Maranville took the paper, looked at it and then showed dissatisfaction.

"What's the matter?" asked Dreyfuss. "Don't you think it's good?"

"Oh, yes," retorted Rab—"but where's the interest?"

(Follow this series of reminiscenses of the late Barney Dreyfuss daily in the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph)

SARAZEN WINS BIG TOURNEY

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 15.—(AP.)—Gene Sarazen stuck close to par on the final 36 holes of the Metairie Golf Club's $5,000 open yesterday, and claimed first money of $1,000 with a 72-hole total of 290. Harry Cooper, Chicago, finished second with 291 to collect $750.

Denny Shute, Cleveland, scored 292 for third place and $600, and Walter Hagen, Detroit, finished with 297, along with Johnny Golden, Noroton, Conn. They divided fourth and fifth money, drawing $450 each.

Walker, Londos In Mixed Match

CHICAGO, Feb. 15.—(INS.)—Mickey Walker, contender for the world heavyweight boxing championship, and Jim Londos, claimant to the heavyweight wrestling title will meet in a mixed match at St. Louis, it was announced here today.

Jack Kearns, Walker's manager, said the match will be held the last of April or early in May.

Londos will be barehanded while Mickey will don the regulation eight-ounce gloves.

Long's Sports Review on Friday

Due to a change in program, James J. Long's weekly Sports Review over WCAE, the Voice of the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph, will be heard hereafter on Friday evenings at 7 o'clock instead of on Mondays at 6:30.

The weekly Sports Quiz period of the Trained Seals of the Sports Department of the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph will continue at its usual time, on Wednesdays at 7 p. m.

In addition, this week, Walter Okeson, head of the Eastern Association for the Selection of Football Officials, will be heard over WCAE at 6:30 o'clock Thursday evening.

DISTRICT FIVES IN BATTLE FOR LAURELS

GAMES TONIGHT

G. Washington U. at Duquesne.
Canonsburg C. M. C. at Duquesne Freshmen.
Geneva at Bethany.
St. Vincent at Waynesburg.
Fairmont at Marshall.

Local collegiate basketball is resumed tonight, when Coach Chick Davies, of the Dukes, sends his remodeled starting lineup, which easily defeated the crack Adrian College five Saturday night, against George Washington University, of Washington, D. C., in the Bluff gym. The Durable Dukes are out to avenge the 48-27 setback handed them recently in the capital city by the Washingtonians.

In a preliminary fracas, Canonsburg C. M. C. meets the Dukes' yearlings. Other important contests on tonight's slate find Geneva at Bethany, St. Vincent at Waynesburg and Fairmont at Marshall.

The Duquesne varsity game lineup:

| Duquesne | | Washington U. |
|---|---|---|
| Feldstein | f | Patrick |
| Irwin | f | Burgess |
| MacDougal | c | Herforder |
| Bremner | g | Chambers |
| Moody | g | Zahn |

Referee—Vane Wallace. Umpire—Dan Brickley.

THREE-CORNERED RACE

A three-cornered race for regional honors came out of a thrilling week in which the ebbing tide salvaged the wrecked hulks of the underdogs.

Duquesne, Westminster and Allegheny, setting the pace in a furious drive for laurels, led the parade in Western Pennsylvania and began to share interest with rival fellows of indoor athletics—boxing, wrestling, track.

Thiel, with a record indifferent to success, found a full measure of glory in displaying a latent offensive that dragged three teams to defeat. Bethany was unexpectedly smothered, 49-19, by Charley Benson's rejuvenated five; Grove City fell, 39-31, and John Carroll felt the full force of a blizzard of goals that buried the Clevelanders, 61-15.

DUKES COP TENTH

John Lawther's Westminster machine crushed the 12-game winning streak of Allegheny's speedy team by 48-18 and carried on its nearly 50-point-a-game average by pulverizing John Carroll, 70-13.

The three-cornered question of supremacy may remain unanswered, as neither Westminster nor Allegheny has contact with Duquesne.

Ending the week by defeating Adrian, 35-19, for its tenth victory out of 14 starts, Duquesne virtually won definite recognition as Pittsburgh's city champion. Pitt's record suffered two defeats, from Georgetown, 33-30, and Navy, 29-22. Creighton is Pitt's next foe, playing here Saturday. Carnegie, idle last week, plays W. & J. tomorrow.

GROVERS BEATEN

Geneva gave Duquesne plenty to worry about before the Dukes came out ahead Tuesday, 28-25. Waynesburg, beaten several times, blasted Grove City, 35-31.

Allegheny and Geneva meet in a postponed battle at Beaver Falls Thursday.

Pitt sent a bunch of Panthers down to Morgantown for the indoor games and won the weight event, with Valenti heaving the shotput 44 feet 1 inch. Luch, a teammate, was second. Pitt boxers invade State College this week and W. & J. sends a team to Morgantown to meet West Virginia.

Nancolleth Markable Dog Show Champion

NEW YORK, Feb. 15.—(AP.)—Nancolleth Markable, only two weeks out of England, carried the pointers back to the top of the Westminster Kennel Club show Saturday as he was selected the "best in show" in the climax of the country's largest canine exhibit.

To the cheers of nearly 10,000 dog fanciers who thronged Madison Square Garden, the beautifully marked light orange and white pointer was awarded the grand championship over five other champions, all winners of their respective breeds and variety classes.

New Bedford Gains Soccer Cup Finals

NEW YORK, Feb. 15.—(INS.)—The New Bedford Whalers will clash with the New York Giants here next Sunday in the Eastern final of the National Challenge Cup competition of the United States Soccer Association. The Whalers qualified for the final by defeating Hakoah, 1 to 0, in the semi-final here.

TOWNS IS BURIED

Eddie Towns, noted golf professional who died Friday at the home of his wife's parents, 1435 Dormont avenue, was buried this morning from the Langentin funeral home, Washington road, with interment in the Mt. Lebanon Cemetery. Funeral services were held yesterday. Towns formerly was affiliated with the Allegheny, Shannopin and Ambridge clubs, and was private instructor for Edward B. McLean, of Washington, D. C.

"The first time I fought Paul Pirrone, at the Meyers Bowl last summer, I was running a temperature and should have been in bed, yet I came out of the bout with a draw to my credit. When I met him again, in the Moose Temple, a few weeks ago, I was knocked out in the second round by a punch I saw coming and could not avoid. If I did not think I could turn the tables I would not be fighting him again now."

Tiger Joe West

Thus confidently does Tiger Joe West, local middleweight, speak of his 10-round main bout in Motor Square Garden tonight.

"I know exactly what happened to me in the Moose fight," the Tiger continues. "In the first round, Pirrone came tearing at me with a right swing for the head and I moved in under it and delivered a solid left hook to the body that hurt him. It was generally conceded I had the better of that round. Then, in the second round, he came piling in with the same sort of right-hand punch and I decided to counter again in the same manner.

PREDICTS VICTORY

"I miscalculated the speed of his rush and the right landed before I could move inside it. That's all I remember about the fight. They tell me I went down heavily and struggled up at the count of nine in a groggy condition with my hands down, an easy mark for a finishing left that followed.

"There will be a different story tonight. I'll take no more chances of punching it out with such a dangerous hitter. I know I can outbox Paul and I will be in there to take the play away from him from the start this time."

So anxious to redeem himself against Pirrone was West that he accepted tonight's fight for 10 per cent of the gate, which is no part of a main bouter's end. Even the challenger in a championship bout usually gets 12½ per cent in addition to the opportunity to win the title. But, as the Tiger says, money is no object in this case. He will be satisfied to rehabilitate his damaged prestige.

MARINO IN SEMI-FINAL

Tony Marino, McKeesport's flashy flyweight, who has been boxing windups in other clubs, makes his second start in the Garden, where he last appeared in an opening bout, against Mickey Farr, of Cleveland, brother of Johnny Farr, in the eight-round semi-final. Eddie Hebner, of Clairton, and Matty Oldach, of Erie, are in the second bout and Bobby Stewart and Patsy Hennigan in the opener, at 8:30.

Between Rounds

The proposed Jackie Fields-Jimmy Bivins welter non-title bout at the Garden next Monday night is out and the club is seeking an opponent for Tony Canzoneri, Fields' nemesis. It is said Fields showed an ankle in training and may come here later to box Belmont.

Apples Meyers, Moose Temple promoter looks for Sailor Dick Evans, Youngstown veteran, to upset the dope and give the pastry a tough battle when they clash in his windup in the newborn arena Wednesday night. Evans was out of the ring for some time prior to a series of bouts recently, and Meyers has had him working out with Tiger West here to determine his condition and says he is satisfied he will prove a good foe for the brilliant Salerno. Evans always was a punishy puncher and has met the best welterweights and middleweights during his career.

Matchmaker Bill Dummer, of the Ruppian Arena, is at work on his preliminary card for his 8:30 Hall Tiger Joe Randall show Friday night. He believes this pairing of two local favorites will give him his first full house. This will be the third show for the new club, which is in the red, but holding out very well. The Arena is located within five minutes' ride of the downtown section and is a large, roomy place and should prosper once the fans get in the habit of patronizing it.

Ray Fabiani, Philadelphia wrestling promoter, is back in town today to confer with Charley Reinecke, our local impresario, about their next show, to be held in Motor Square Garden Thursday night of next week. Reinecke has the promoting license and Fabiani the name on the Garden. Fabiani will be the matchmaker and also is otherwise financially interested in the enterprise.

The Greater Pittsburgh amateur boxing tournament is on the boards at McKeesport Wednesday and Thursday nights. The Etna Elks hold an amateur show tonight and a card of amateur bouts will be held in St. Andrew's Hall, North Side, tomorrow night for the benefit of the needy of the Twenty-first Ward. Amateurs also perform in Greensburg tonight.

Buck McTiernan, Saxonburg middleweight, is working out ready and will be seen in action shortly. His contract with Benny Bantach expires the 25th of April and he plans to make a new connection. Meanwhile, Benny, who still has George Panka, the heavyweight, has taken unto himself the three Clements brothers, of Natrona, Tex., the heavyweight; Lloyd, 170 pounder, and Gerald (Jerry), 128-30 pounder.

Eddie Wergant, former featherweight boxer, of New Castle, Pa., is managing three boxers out of Mt. Vernon, O., which he'd like to show in these parts. They are Mickey (Kid) Ivory, light-heavyweight, who was a sparring partner of Kingfish Levinsky in Chicago; Jimmy Kurnick, lightweight, and Frank Regich, another light-heavy.

8 FEET 8 OF CENTER

WILLARD SCHMIDT, CREIGHTON STAR, WHO FACES PITT

They may grow 'em tall in I-o-way, but how about that Creighton University basketball team from Omaha, which plays Pitt in the local Stadium Pavilion next Saturday night? They're a husky crew of six-footers, with this young fellow standing 6 feet 8 inches in his socks and having a reach over his head of an additional two feet—almost enough to drop the ball into the basket.

GIANTS WOULD BLUFF TERRY

Sam Leslie, powerful Giant infield recruit, is a fine young man, but when the Giant officials let it be known that they are grooming Sam to take Billy Terry's big role, in the event that Bill persists as a "holdout," they are attempting to run through a nice bluff, it would seem.

Bill Terry

Leslie is just as pretty to behold as Terry so far as physique is concerned; at the plate he is a picture, but, as Jewel Ens once said of Ray Rohwer, "Did you ever see him with a glove on?" Ray looked like a Frank Schulte when he came from a California college to the Bucos; when he attempted to field it was quite another story.

TERRY SHOULD WORRY

Now Leslie may be a good fielder in one sense. It is likely he can take almost any kind of a thrown ball, but those who should know say Sam is not so hot when it comes to rifling the ball around the infield.

Terry refuses to allow his bosses to cut $7,000 off his $22,500 pay check. Doubtless a compromise will be effected, but Terry isn't likely to take the Leslie threat too seriously.

Memphis Bill is quite a character. He would be more valuable to McGraw were he more aggressive, but, like the old Mississippi that flows through his home town, Bill keeps rollin' along.

Terry apparently has accumulated enough money to assume a stand of independence; yet he likes baseball and is apt to remain as a big league star for several seasons to come.

BILL SCORES BULLSEYE

Bill is credited with having let fly with one of the best cracks in baseball when he held out a few years back.

The New York office wrote him some snappy letters as he dissented in the matter of pay. He demanded something like $15,000 at the time.

Finally his bosses became quite sore and told him he was unreasonable.

"Fifteen thousand is as much as a bank president receives!" they informed Bill in rebuttal.

"Well," answered Terry, "you get a bank president to play first base and I'll stay home."

—Charles J. Doyle.

BUFFALO, N. Y., Feb. 15.—(AP.)—Ray Schultz, of Buffalo, rolled a perfect score of 300 in one of the 10 games of his bowling match with Frank Caruana here last night.

WILLOW BOXERS GIVEN O. K.

GREENSBURG, Pa., Feb. 15.—Despite protests of John T. Taylor, of Pittsburgh, secretary-treasurer of the Allegheny Mountain Association of the A. A. U., the Drum and Bugle Corps of the local American Legion post will use Willow A. A. boxers of Pittsburgh in its amateur show here tonight.

Taylor on Saturday warned the legionnaires not to permit the Willow Club's millers to appear on the local program against members of the Pittsburgh Lyceum, of Pittsburgh, or the Al Sands Club, of Pittsburgh, due to a suspension of Jack Metz, Willow Club coach, because of the latter's withdrawal of boxers from an amateur tournament held in the Keystone A. C., Pittsburgh, recently. Metz refused his boxers permission to appear after he had protested a decision in one of the bouts.

Bob Lyon, matchmaker of the legion, after hearing Taylor's protest, communicated with Henry Blum, chairman of the A. A. U. registration committee, and, according to Lyon, Blum told him Metz alone was under suspension, but the local club was free to use any members of the Willow A. C. Blum is said to be backed in his action by Harvey J. Boyle, member of the State Boxing Commission.

NATIONAL CUP.
New Bedford 1—Hakoah 0

By TOM BIRKS

In a game that flashed a few thrills, and little of anything that smacked of real soccer football, the Castle Shannon Morrys and Morgan again battled to a 1-1 tie in the semi-final round of the Western Pennsylvania challenge cup, at South Park, yesterday, with a crowd estimated at 10,000 watching the game. In another game, Moon Run bumped Cedar Grove, 4 to 0.

For a long time it appeared the Morrys would qualify to meet Union Switch in the grand final. Shannon had scored a snappy goal after 15 minutes of play, Detrick shooting from 14 yards out to beat Burnaby.

GOAL UNEXPECTED

Until that time Morgan had been doing the pressing and the unexpected run and center by Wilson, with a good cross, gave Detrick a chance to send the ball into the net.

This marker stood for 70 minutes, then Morgan tied Shannon's defense into a knot, when, with Johnny McClosky beating Benick by drawing the goalie out of position, Harry Sickles punched the ball out of the untenanted goal.

Buff Donnelli took the penalty kick and Benick never had the least chance to save.

It was probably the worst game of the season. Morgan and Morry were off form, and Van Jura was the only player to show any sort of soccer, and he gave a fine display of his prowess.

REVAMPED LINE

Manager Peckovitch revamped the forward line, but it accomplished nothing. Morgan was just as bad. Buff Donnelli scored from the penalty kick, which was all he did during the 90 minutes. Chappell played a splendid game. He tied Zeewan in a knot, and the flashy Shannon winger passed out of the picture.

Benick came into the limelight with a couple of good saves. One, from the foot of Mitchell, gave Benick a chance to gain the applause of the crowd.

The cup committee of the West Penn meet tomorrow night, and it is possible the replay will be staged Sunday at South Park. This time the game will be played to a finish. The lineup:

| Shannon Morrys—1 | | Morgan—1 |
|---|---|---|
| Benick | G | Burnaby |
| Van Jura | RB | Cyclic |
| Perkovitch | LB | Franklin |
| Paton | RH | Chappell |
| Sickles | CH | Matthews |
| Kratoval | LH | Mitchell |
| Wilson | OR | Mitchell |
| McGreevan | IR | Francis |
| Detrick | C | Donnelli |
| Petrolini | IL | McClosky |
| Zeewan | OL | Lyons |

Goals—Benick, Buff Donnelli. Referee—Camsden. Linesmen—McArtle and O'Connor.

SPORT VIGNETTES

Charley Reinecke, who will be Ray Fabiani's partner in the promotion of wrestling bouts in Motor Square Garden, is a former local boxer and wrestler who first made a reputation for himself as an amateur . . . He also was a baseball player in his youth, and in later years he coached the wrestlers at the University of Pittsburgh and acted as a referee in a number of mat shows here . . . Almost 60 years old, he still retains fine condition and can throw many a younger man, being well versed in the art of both catch-as-catch-can wrestling and jiu-jitsu . . . He has no illusions about wrestling as a sport . . . The shows are run differently these days than in his time, he admits, but he says he will strive to keep down the so-called "showmanship" of the wrestlers to a minimum . . . He believes his reputation is such that the local fans will have confidence in his sincerity of purpose and asks a chance to prove himself as a promoter.

Imagine, if you can, the embarrassment of J. M. (Joe) Leithead, assistant treasurer of the Hillman Coal and Coke Company, as he sat with his family around the radio in their home one night last week and heard J. J. Fruend, Jr., veteran local basketball sponsor, name him as the cleverest basketball player ever developed in the local ranks . . . Did the former captain of the famous old South Side team of more than a quarter of a century ago blush and swell with pride? . . . Well, here's an extract from a letter of appreciation written by him to Freund:

"Thanks for the compliment you paid me over the air when you frolicked with the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph's Trained Seals the other night . . . By putting me on top of all the good ones developed around here, I guess you stretched things a bit, but I got a kick out of it just the same . . . We 'Marty Brills' do get some credit once in a while, it seems . . . I guess it was old age that gave me a thrill as I sat at home with the kids listening to you spiel of the old-timers in basketball and drag me into the discussion in such a flattering manner . . . Knowing you all of these years, I appreciate your kind words."

A.'s light-heavyweight elimination tournament in the semi-final to the Jack Dempsey-King Levinsky bout in the Chicago Stadium Thursday night, has beaten Owen Phelps, all but knocked out Larry Johnson and technically stopped Battling Bozo to reach that stage . . . His opponent, a southpaw, has been the sensation of the tournament, eliminating Lou Scozza his last time out . . . The winner will meet Dave Maier for the title . . . Two other entrants in the tournament are undefeated, but have dropped out, Baxter Calmes because he no longer can make the 175-pound limit and Harry Ebbets or unannounced reasons . . . Comes to hand the third annual edition of Frank G. Menke's All-Sports Record Book, the finest compilation of sports statistics ever put together . . . # OLYMPIC COACH TO WRITE ON GAMES

Lawson Robertson, field coach of the last three United States Olympic teams in all track and field events, is a notable addition to the sports staff of the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph. His nature articles on the 1932 Olympic games, the first in 28 years to be held on American soil, will command world-wide attention, for Robertson this year is head coach of all contenders representing the United States in all the Olympic games events.

In addition to complete up-to-the-minutes Olympic and pre-Olympic data, his articles will provide readers a great deal of related material, designed to increase their understanding and enjoyment of the games themselves.

Among the topics to be embraced are: Modern training and coaching methods; how to make the American Olympic team; the Olympic tryouts; regular outdoor meets which will throw light on the makeup of the United States team, including the intercollegiates and the N. A. A. U.; the best performances of American and foreign athletes; possibilities of record-breaking in the 1932 games, and, finally, actual reports of the big events themselves when they take place.

Robertson, who is universally recognized as an outstanding authority on affairs of the track and the field, has been head coach at the University of Pennsylvania for years. He himself was a noted sprinter and member of the Olympic teams of 1904, 1906 and 1908. It goes without saying that under his direction the destiny of the American Olympic team is in exceedingly capable hands.

Keep accurately informed of developments in this greatest of all sporting events by following Robertson's articles. His series will run exclusively in the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph, beginning Wednesday of next week.

FISKE RETAINS SLED TITLE

OLYMPIC BOB RUN, MT. VAN HOEBENBERG, LAKE PLACID, N. Y., Feb. 15.—(AP)—Billy Fiske, American living abroad, successfully defended the four-man Olympic bobsled championship today by beating off the final drive of Harry Homburger and his world record holding team in the last two heats of the delayed title event.

Going into the final two heats with a margin of slightly over 3 seconds, Fiske piloted his team down the mile and a half run over a much faster course than yesterday in two runs of 1 minute 57.41 seconds and 1:56.59. His total for the four heats was 7.53.69.

HOMBURGER UNFORTUNATE

Hitting a bad slew in dangerous Whiteface on his first run, Homburger, driver of the world record holding team, was clocked in 1:58.56 for his first run and needed to break his own world record mark of 1:52 in the final run to catch the champion. Homburger made a spectacular effort, riding the curves high and taking every chance, but the best he could get out of his sled was 1:54.28, fastest run of all the heats, but not enough to catch Fiske. Homburger's final total gave him second place.

Hanns Jilian, last of the first-string German drivers, two of whom crashed with near-fatal results in practice, captured third place with a total time of 8 minutes 4-100 seconds, the first of the foreign riders.

SWISS STAR FOURTH

In fourth place finished Reto Capadrutt, young Swiss sensation of the two-man bob event last week, with 8.12.18. Count Rossi Di Montelera, of Italy, was fifth with 8.24.21; Lieut. Al Papana and his Rumanian aviators crew sixth in 8.24.22, and Baron Walter von Mumm, German reserve driver, last with a total of 8.35.45.

The times of two heats yesterday and two today, with the total times:

| | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| Billy Fiske | United States | 1:56.16 | 1:57.43 | 3:53.59 |
| Hanns Kilian | Germany | 1:56.11 | 1:58.07 | 3:54.18 |
| Reto Capadrutt | Switzerland | 1:56.43 | 1:57.35 | 3:54.18 |
| Count Rossi Di Montelera | Italy | 1:57.40 | 2:00.47 | 3:58.27 |
| Harry Homburger | United States | 1:58.56 | 1:54.28 | 3:53.24 |
| Hanns Walter von Mumm | Germany | 1:57.40 | 1:58.05 | 3:55.45 |
| Lieut. Al Papana | Rumania | 1:56.32 | 1:58.43 | 3:55.15 |

The running of the bob run championships, three times delayed, closed out the Olympic program, although the games closed officially Saturday and gave the United States the unofficial team championship with a fine total of 103 points.

The final standing, figured on a point score basis of 10 for first, 5 for second, 4, 3, 2, 1, for the remainder of the first six finishers in each championship event in that order, was:

United States, 103; Norway, 77; Canada, 49; Sweden, 26; Finland, 23; Austria, 15; Germany, 12; France, 10; Switzerland, 9; Hungary, 7; Roumania, 4; Poland, 3; Italy, 3; Belgium, 1; Czechoslovakia, 1.

Only two of the 17 nations that entered 331 athletes in the games starting February 4 failed to score a point. They were Japan and Great Britain.

OLSON'S SWEDES BOW

CUMBERLAND, Md., Feb. 15.—The Cumberland Kazoo quintet, with a hard-fought game from Olson's Terrible Swedes, of Romaneville, Mo., here yesterday, by the score of 31 to 26. The Kazoos are all the way.

JACKETS BEAT STARS, 2-1

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Feb. 15.—The Yellow Jackets of Pittsburgh gave the Syracuse Stars one of their few home defeats in the International Hockey League here last night, 2-1, all scoring being packed into the last 10 minutes of the third period. The teams are now tied in the cellar position. The victors snapped a Syracuse streak of eight games at home without defeat.

A fistic battle in the penalty box between Proudlock and Downie provided the fireworks for the first two periods. Both drew double minors and, to keep the peace, a state trooper was stationed between them.

The scoring was confined to the third session.

Eddie Rodden, Jacket center, broke the ice midway in the session when he made a beautiful solo, making his shot with two Stars hanging on his arms. Matte followed up with another 6 minutes later, and Savage ended the scoring shortly after. The lineup:

| Pittsburgh | | Syracuse |
|---|---|---|
| Barton | goal | Hainsworth |
| Rodden | r. d. | Proudlock |
| Dunning | l. d. | Downie |
| White | r. w. | Franklin |
| Locking | l. w. | Pringle |
| Matte | c. | Clark |

Second period—No scoring. Penalties—Clark, Barton, Downie, Proudlock, Dunning.

Third period—scoring: Rodden, 12:10; Matte, 16:26; Savage (Wentz), 18:30. Penalties—Fraser.

Pittsburgh spares — Romnes, Barton, Rodden, Dunning, White, Locking, Matte, Abbott.

Syracuse spares—Wentz, Marsh, Martin, Fwango, Clark, McBride, Savage.

Referee—Jerry LaFlamme.

NELS STEWART CRIPPLED

TORONTO, Feb. 15.—(INS)—Nels Stewart, captain of the Montreal Maroons, will be on the sidelines for at least a month as the result of an injury sustained in the free-for-all battle between members of the Maroons and Toronto Maple Leafs a few seconds before the close of their National Hockey League contest here Saturday night.

In the mixup somebody stepped on Stewart's right hand, the blade of the skate breaking a bone.

PROS TO MAKE CHANGES

By VERN SWARTSFAGER

Much ado about something—or nothing. That's the way of rumors, particularly with regard to the annual shuffling of golf professionals as they seek to get placed for the season to come.

Now the latest report has to do with Jimmy O'Donnell, affable erstwhile instructor at Edgewood, recently replaced by Paul Erath, and Fred Baroni, former Thornburg, Montour Heights, Chartiers Heights, Conneaut Lake, and Stanton Heights and present Oakland Beach (Conneaut Lake) pro, who are said to be directly in line to succeed Jimmy's brother, Bill, at the new Churchill Valley Club. Jimmy at this time is at Ocala Highlands, Fla., giving a flock of satisfaction to his pupils there.

MAY GO TO OAKMONT

It also is said that Ted Luther has decided to give Valley Heights the well-known "go-by" to throw in with Emil Loeffler, pro-greenkeeper at Oakmont, as Dutch's assistant.

Further, Bill O'Donnell is said to be signed for the job left vacant (if there is a job, much less a club left) at Culbertson Hills, Edinboro, Pa., by Johnny Capebianco, who has signed with Aliquippa. The reason for the doubtfulness of the job is attributed to Capobianco's statement, with regard to his change, in which he remarked:

"The Edinboro Club passed out of the picture due to stock market losses by its owners."

Likewise Johnny is tickled pink to get back among his friends in this sector. Of Aliquippa he says:

"Although the club is new, they have a lot of enthusiastic members."

GIBSON'S FATHER DIES

And from none else than long, lanky, popular J. O. (Jack) Gibson, former professional at the Fox Chapel Golf Club, who is likely to be among those working in this district again this season, comes word that all's well along the battlefront at Hollywood, Fla. He writes:

"The McKays, Jack Kennedy and Dale Zimmerman are all here, and we are having a good time on the beach. Just had some sad news a week ago. My dad passed away suddenly. He was always alluded to 'over there' as the 'G. O. In' of golf. I will miss him terribly."

Jack's dad, you know, was one of the foremost masters in the art of golf club making in the world.

TRANSAMERICA REGAINED BY GIANNINI

Founder Wrests Control Of Huge Holding Company From New York Interests

WILMINGTON, Del., Feb. 15.—(AP.)—Victory perched on the banner of the A. P. Giannini group today in the long battle for control of Transamerica Corporation, the big holding concern.

In a short but snappy annual meeting, the Giannini interests took control and elected without opposition a set of directors who later selected the officers of the company.

GRANT PRESIDENT

A. P. Giannini, founder of the corporation, who fought the management headed by Elisha Walker of New York, was elected chairman of the board of directors and John M. Grant of San Francisco was made president.

Giannini announced he would serve without pay and that Grant would receive $20,000 a year. Giannini succeeds Walker, and Grant will take the place of James A. Bacigalupi.

OTHER OFFICERS NAMED

The other officers selected are James A. Crooks, New York, secretary and assistant treasurer, and Leonoard A. Woolams, treasurer. Only one vice president was elected today. He is James F. Cavagnaro, who was a vice president under the Walker regime.

The directors meeting was adjourned to meet in San Francisco on February 24.

Most of the directors elected today will serve only temporarily and their places will be taken by financial men mostly residents of California.

WILL FORGET FIGHT

After the annual meeting and the directors meeting were over, Giannini said that he wanted to make it clear the fight for control would be forgotten. He said:

"We are going to run this corporation for the best interests of all. The permanent board of directors will be chosen without regard to what faction they may have been with."

Walker said:

"As Transamerica's largest stockholder, I wish the new management every possible success."

New Castle Plant Activity to Jump

YOUNGSTOWN, Feb. 15.—With the completion of arrangements by the American Can Company with the United States Steel Corporation for its 1932 tin plate requirements, industrial operations in New Castle, Pa., are scheduled for a decided increase.

In years heretofore the Shenango Works of the American Sheet and Tinplate Company has received a liberal share of the order. This plant receives its raw materials from the Carnegie Steel Company at New Castle, which has been down for six months. The finished material is shipped to the New Castle plant of the American Can Company. More than 3,000 workers will be affected by the increase in operations.

STOCK MARKET REGAINS PART OF LOSSES

Early Declines of 1 to 5 Points Reduced; Trading Falls; Steel See-Saws

NEW YORK, Feb. 15.—(AP.)—The stock market experienced the inevitable setback today that follows the sort of breath-taking uprush of the past two sessions of trading.

The market slid back rather precipitantly in the early dealings, but soon managed to dig in its heels. A morning recovery was interrupted by adverse copper dividend news, but the list turned slowly upward again later, regaining a part of the decline. Price averages indicated that only about one-fourth of last week's upturn had been lost. Trading dwindled to less than half Saturday's volume.

Early losses ranged from 1 to 5 points in leading issues. This was more than half regained, before a second sinking spell intervened. Leaders ranged a point or more above the morning lows by early afternoon. American Telephone dropped 5 to 127¾, rebounded to 131, fell back to 127⅝, and again turned upward. United States Steel fluctuated similarly, getting down as much as 2½ points. Auburn dropped nearly 7 points. Utah Copper, a thinly traded issue, dropped 14 points on its dividend omission. Kennecott and Anaconda lost about a point, and International Nickel nearly as much. Du Pont lost 2½, but recovered most of its loss on the regular dividend announcement. Extreme losses of 2 to 4 were numerous appearing in such issues as American Can, Case, Sears, American Tobacco "B," Consolidated Gas, General Electric, Westinghouse, Allied Chemical and others.

Commission houses reported a distinct revival of public interest in the market, but noted that buyers were decidedly cautious, after the several false starts of the past two years. On the whole, however, market sentiment remained much improved. This was apparent in an abrupt upturn in the price of stock exchange seats, one selling at $161,000, a gain of $26,000 from last week.

Omission of common dividends by Kennecott Copper, and its two subsidiaries, Utah and Nevada, as well as by International Nickel, had been rather widely expected, in view of the consistently unprofitable prices at which the red metal has been selling. Du Pont ordered the regular quarterly payment of $1 a share, as more generally forecast, despite the recent reduction by General Motors, in which du Pont is the leading stockholder.

Transamerica stock was virtually unaffected by the return of the Giannini interests to control of the corporation. Report that the new management would follow highly conservative policies led Wall street observers to expect little immediate change.

STOCKS HIGHER IN EUROPE

LONDON, Feb. 15.—(AP.)—Trading on the stock exchange opened with a burst of strength on favorable Wall street news and ropes regarding reparations. Dealings started earlier than usual and prices hardened all around, led by American issues and industrials. Some profit-taking occurred in the afternoon, but the closing was good with general net gains.

PARIS, Feb. 15.—(AP.)—Prices on the Bourse moved irregularly, Wall street's improvement having only a slight effect and profit-taking and mid-month settlements causing some issues to lose ground. Towar dthe latter part of the session the market steadied and prices closed firm.

BERLIN, Feb. 15.—(AP.)—Buying on the strength of Hindenburg's presidential announcement and influenced by Wall street gains on Saturday brought about gains of one to seven points in stock shares today.

WHEAT SHOWS WEAKNESS

CHICAGO, Feb. 15.—Responsive to downturns in securities, grain values underwent early setbacks today. Wheat sagged despite strength shown by the Liverpool market and notwithstanding indications of stringent need of prompt shipments to trans-Atlantic countries. Opening at ⅝c decline to ⅛c advance, wheat afterward weakened all around. Corn started unchanged to ¾c off and subsequently showed a general drop.

The following quotations on the Chicago Board of Trade are reported by A. E. Masten & Co.:

Steel Sentiment Aided by Ford Announcement

CLEVELAND, Feb. 15.—The magazine Steel says mill schedules for the current week indicate a drop of 26 per cent from 27 per cent, but the Ford announcement is helping to stem bearish sentiment in the steel industry.

COTTON SHOWS SLIGHT GAIN

NEW YORK, Feb. 15.—(AP.)—Cotton opened steady today at an advance of 5 to 9 points on a continuation of Saturday's rise, encouraged by firm cables. May sold at 7.00.

The buying was again for both trade and commission account and no doubt included further covering, but the advance attracted considerable realizing and more or less southern selling which appeared to come from spot houses and brokers who sometimes act for the co-operative interests. This was sufficient to supply the early demand around the initial levels and prices sagged off a few points by the end of the first half hour when active months showed net gains of 3 or 4 points with May selling at 6.93.

Buying was less urgent after the early demand had been supplied and prices worked back to about Saturday's closing quotations under further southern selling and realizing, which included some selling through houses with Wall street connections.

Buying for trade or commission house account continued in sufficient volume to give the market a fairly steady undertone, however, and business was comparatively quiet with May ruling around 6.92 at midday when the general list was about net unchanged to 2 points higher. The carded cloth statistics for January showed a reduction of 12.5 per cent in stocks on hand and an increase of 21.5 per cent in unfilled orders.

LIVERPOOL, Feb. 15.—Cotton—Spot in better demand, improved business; prices 1 point higher; quotations in pence. American strict good middling, 6.28; good middling, 5.88; strict middling, 5.78; middling, 5.73; strict low middling, 5.63; low middling, 5.53; strict good ordinary, 5.33; good ordinary, 5.03. ## Stock Market Aflame; Prices Go Skyrocketing.

—By B. C. FORBES—

RARELY HAS the financial world performed such an about-face as was witnessed on Thursday and Saturday.

Exhilarated by the prospect of legislation calculated to facilitate credit expansion on any scale deemed desirable, Wall street overnight changed its attitude towards securities, towards commodities, towards the whole economic outlook.

Mr. Forbes

The result was sensational advances in leading shares and notable strength on commodity prices.

BRIEFLY, BOTH Republican and Democratic leaders have agreed to pass promptly legislation authorizing the Federal Reserve Board to issue currency based on "acceptable collateral," instead of as heretofore against nothing but gold reserves and commercial paper. The Federal Reserve Board will be clothed with authority to issue in its discretion federal reserve notes on gold and on security other than commercial paper, of which the supply has been limited. This country has at least three-quarters of a billion dollars of gold which has been sterile for all practical purposes, because it could not be made the basis for additional currency.

Banks will now be able to draw much more freely and heavily upon the federal reserve for currency.

THE FINANCIAL world attaches prime importance to this promised legislation. Deflation admittedly has been seriously aggravated by the grim determination of banks to put themselves into an abnormally liquid condition. This has involved rigid cutting down of loans, selling of securities, refusal to entertain applications for credit. In short, most banks anxious to be prepared for any and all demands, have become vaults rather than credit granting institutions.

Now, they can reverse that policy and practice.

Has the United States decided to go in for "inflation?"

"Inflation" is the cry raised by envious France—and by some armchair theorists at home, theorists wholly undisturbed by the magnitude of unemployment and the hardships of the unemployed, undisturbed by the prostration of business, undisturbed by the suffering imposed on millions by the ridiculous extent to which vicious deflation has already been carried.

Which, after all, is more important? Adherence to traditional theories about gold and currency, or taking steps necessary to make it possible for people to earn a living?

I. FOR ONE, prefer whatever "risks" may be entailed in putting this country's stock of gold to work, prefer making it feasible for banks to function rationally, prefer to see reasonable expansion of credit than to court revolution by doing nothing to stay the already dangerous spread of unemployment, ruinous decline in commodity values, disastrous slaughter of bond and stock prices, appalling shrinkage in business activity and profits.

WE ARE a long, long way from inflation, a long way from inflation in the prices of farm products, bonds, investment stocks, or in our currency. The impending changes in our bank laws do not mean that U. S. currency will be unsoundly based. It will still be more generously covered by gold than the world has regarded as necessary. It will still be the most trustworthy currency in the world.

PESSIMISTS MAY declare:

"A spectacular spurt in stocks doesn't mean that business has improved one iota."

Let improvement in bonds and stocks continue, let wheat and corn and cotton and other commodities move to a substantially higher level, let credit become readily available, let bank failures be stopped—and then see what will happen to business and employment.

EMBERS OF LOVE -:- Story of a Pretty Girl in Whom Burned The Flame of a Great Emotion -:- By HAZEL LIVINGSTON

Lily Lou Begins to Worry About Ken's Prominent Girl Friend

CHAPTER X

The music wasn't going well. Lily Lou's memory was bad. She studied and studied, and forgot all she knew.

It was because she was worried about Ken. About herself and Ken. He told her a million times that he loved her. She didn't know how many times he had kissed her, and held her in his arms, and loved her. But he didn't say anything about getting married.

It didn't have to be now. If he'd even say that it couldn't be now—just talk about it as something 'way 'way off in the future. But he didn't.

There would be whole weeks when she'd hardly see him—just an hour or two together in the car, at night. His mother wanted him to drive her somewhere. His father wanted him to join a week-end hunting or fishing trip with some older men. Peggy Sage . . . a knife went through Lily Lou's heart when he said her name. . . . Peggy Sage's dad was opening up the Sage place for a week and he'd have to go, because his father wanted him to. Vincent Sage was a heavy owner in the steamship company, the men liked to get together quietly and talk about the future of the line, and they had old-fashioned ideas about Ken and Peggy wanting to listen in. . . .

"I suppose it is all planned for you and Peggy Sage to marry some day, and consolidate the interests!"

"Oh, well, you know how your family is!" Ken laughed, a little uncomfortably.

"I won't be jealous . . . I won't! I won't!" Lily Lou promised herself. But it is so hard not to be.

A PRETTY FACE

She read the society columns, for the first time in her life. Peggy Sage . . . Peggy Sage . . . Peggy Sage . . . Her name jumped out of every page, her picture smirked from every Sunday section. Lily Lou studied the pictures, trying to be fair.

It was a pretty face, she admitted that, a bright, pretty face. Prettier than hers, in a way. More . . . more alluring. Little white teeth, fluffy light hair, dark wise eyes.

"She's the girl for him really," she thought, sometimes. "And I ought to let him go, and not think about anything but music now. There'll be time enough for romance for me later—"

But she didn't mean it, not even while she said it to herself. In her heart Lily Lou Lansing knew that she could never give up Ken Sargent. He might give her up, might forget her, or marry that Sage girl, but her heart was his. She knew that.

Because the music wasn't going as it should they told her that she'd come to an impasse, that she ought to go to New York now, and study under new surroundings.

CRISIS REACHED

"I'm almost afraid to go any further with you," Miss Seaman said. "I know that if I send you to Tolari now I'll have nothing but praise for what I've done, and you'll have the best possible start, for you haven't a fault, nothing to unlearn, a gorgeous foundation to soar from, and if I go on . . . Miss Lansing, I'm afraid—I'm really afraid to—"

Lily Lou came home. Thought. Thought until her head ached. She'd been waiting for this for months. Now that it was here, she didn't know what to do. If it would come just a little later, after she knew how things were to be with her and Ken, she'd know . . . But she couldn't leave now . . . she just couldn't . . . Not until she knew. And besides, she'd lost something. Not ambition, but courage.

Two or three months ago she'd have gone to New York with no more worry than she had come to San Francisco. Secure, strong in her belief that she could always get work. She could handle a switchboard, she could type, she could, if necessary, work in a restaurant, or a store . . . She'd have little difficulty because she wasn't choosey, and she was efficient. Her strength, her boundless vitality would get her through the studying, the practicing . . .

But now she wasn't so sure . . . "I wish I'd never set eyes on Ken Sargent," she thought, resentfully.

She began making excuses, and seeing less of him. "Look here," he told her, "you're trying to get along without me, aren't you?"

"Perhaps—"

"Lily Lou, it isn't any use. We love each other."

"I know—but—"

"But what?"

"Oh, everything."

"Lily Lou, will you come up to the house Friday night? Mother's having Peggy and a couple of others to dinner and dancing at the country club. I'll have her invite you."

Lily Lou wanted to go, and she didn't want to go. She was afraid. Afraid of Ken's mother, of his portly father, of that Sage girl . . . And still, if she didn't go . . .

"I'd love it," she said bravely.

"Fine!" Ken answered. His voice wasn't very hearty. She thought, with a flash of intuition, "He is like I was . . . he doesn't want his family to share me. He wanted to keep me separate!"

She was almost on the point of refusing. Why should she have to meet Ken's people, and he hers? They didn't belong to them, they belonged to each other . . .

Still, she'd said she'd go. Perhaps it would be as well.

She told May, trying to speak naturally, as though it was nothing at all. May answered, the same way. "Oh, well, you'll have to have something to wear."

There was the flesh colored lace dress she had got to sing in at the recital last summer. They got it out . . . Too short. . . .

"And it looked so awfully long to me when I got it!" Lily Lou sighed.

"Perhaps, a little tulle added to the bottom—"

May got the tulle, sat up late cutting and pressing.

Lily Lou thought it looked wonderful until she saw the dresses the others had. But she had her moment of happiness before she started. Ken called for her in the green roadster, with the top up, so that the wind wouldn't muss her hair.

He had with him a little square box—a corsage, of course. Lily Lou's fingers fumbled with the string. It was hard to open, her hands shook so. Underneath the shiny green paper were waxy, salmon pink camelias, just the thing for the dress—just the very thing.

"Like them?"

"Oh, Ken, I love them!"

Irene came in the back way with her donation, her little pink velvet evening wrap. The color wasn't exactly right, but it was darling anyway . . . "Oh, take it, Lily Lou. You've done lots for me—you and Maysie!"

"But it's part of your trousseau. I really shouldn't—"

"Go on—take it!"

"You won't hurt it," May said.

They were all in the front room. Ken was waiting in the dining room, talking to Raymond. Lily Lou gave a last, approving look at herself in the glass. She wished it were full length, so that she could see her feet. When you tipped it so that you could, you looked funny . . . Still, pink satin slippers, pink lace dress, pink flowers with green, lovely leaves, pink velvet wrap and her hair, shining and dark, rippling back from her wide, white forehead in beautiful satiny waves . . .

"You're perfect!" May said.

Cinderella on her way to the ball . . . Prince Charming by her side.

Synopsis

Young and beautiful Lily Lou Lansing aspires to an operatic career, but her moderate circumstances necessitates that she go to business and study music evenings. Wealthy Ken Sargent, whom Lily Lou loves, becomes angry when she insists upon practicing instead of seeing him and discontinues calling. Lily Lou grows listless and overworks trying to forget him. She goes to her parents home in Woodlake for a rest. Ken arrives and once again she is happy. She assumes an air of indifference towards Ken, however, and one night, feeling she is no longer interested, he kisses her goodbye and leaves for town. Lily Lou rushes down the path to stop him and stumbles. Ken runs back to assist her and she confesses her love for him. Back in the city, they are together frequently, but Lily Lou realizes they are from different worlds and wonders at the outcome. Her sister doubts Ken's seriousness and advises Lily Lou to think more of her career.

ALL IN A DAY

Santa Claus on Broadway

MIGNON IS a pretty name—and Mignon is a pretty girl. I don't think she really should ever have come to Broadway in the first place. Because, as Marc Lachmann can tell you, she didn't know anything about anything when she stepped off that train from her home town in Indiana. She was the kind of a child that men like to remember but always manage to forget.

She landed, of course, in the show business. Before she knew what had happened to her, there she was in the very middle of a big Broadway production. And, sister, when you're in the middle of a big Broadway production—that's a bad time to commence learning things. Nevertheless, that was Mignon.

I don't know much about her home life way back in Indiana. From the way Mignon acted, the girls all slept in fur coats, and the only bad boys in town were those who were thrown on the screen in the local theater. You never met a girl who had so much and knew so little.

The kid must have been a truly decent kid inside, because she never failed to forward a check to her home every week. Her salary was $50 a week, and $25 of that sum went back to Indiana with unceasing regularity. Thus, with but $25 to live upon, you can readily understand that she had no more than enough to cover her small rent, her food and an occasional pair of stockings.

From out of nowhere—and these things generally happen only in stories—the dream prince came riding into her life. His steed, however, was a blue Rolls-Royce, and he fell for Mignon in excellent fashion. They got along beautifully because I suspect that he was just as dumb as she was. Which made everything perfect.

The boy was little more than a youngster. His father had willed him a grand income, so he would be able to remain a youngster until it came time to cash in. Strangely enough, this was his first venture in the land of the show girls. So you can see how beautifully everything balanced.

The rich lad found himself madly in love with the girl, and his intentions were strictly honorable. He wanted to marry the simple little maid—and when I say simple, I don't mean anything else. But she had objections of some kind. She had promised her mother something or other about marriage, and she told the millionaire that she couldn't go through such a ceremony at the moment.

Meanwhile a strange situation had been established between them. Mignon refused to go out with her Roger. The Mayfair, the St. Regis, the beautiful Casino in Central Park—all these spots would have been more than happy to welcome Roger and his bride-to-be with open arms and open cash drawers. But no. Mignon refused to go.

The girl thought that Roger would surely understand her reason. It was simply that she had no clothes that would have been suitable for her to wear. She didn't want to tell her boy friend that fact to his face; she felt certain that he must comprehend. And with all his money he would surely turn up sooner or later with charge accounts in various stores.

But, being in the same boat herself, she didn't realize just how dumb Roger was. He was one of those ethical birds, and—even if he suspected that she needed money—he believed that she would be highly insulted if he offered her any. You know the kind of a guy I mean.

So there the matter stood. Roger kept inviting her out and Mignon kept on refusing. Both of them wanted to say things to each other, but neither of them dared.

Finally, after weeks of a desperate attempt to use her brain, she hit upon an idea. She would tell Roger that her birthday was due the following week! To her, that was the most novel thought imaginable. She didn't know, of course, that the other showgirls in her troupe had birthdays every other week. If you had told her, she would have asked you why.

Well, Roger took the hint in splendid fashion. He entered a memorandum in his little book just before he kissed her goodnight. And he told her she could expect a little gift from him on the day in question.

The day rolled around, and Mignon could hardly bear her impatience. I don't have to describe her feelings. Perhaps it would be a bank book, containing an account he had started for her. Perhaps it would be a beautiful outfit of some sort. Perhaps—

Around 4 in the afternoon, the landlady handed her a small box. Her heart in her mouth, Mignon looked at the notice upon it. Yes, it had come from one of the smartest shops on Fifth avenue.

Nervously she tore the package open. She removed the contents and her heart fell to her feet. The mug had sent her an expensive camera that had been imported from Germany and was probably worth $100. But of what use was it to a girl who needed shoes and stockings and gowns?

His card expressed his love and devotion and hoped that she liked the gift. Mignon clenched her fist, looked at her dress in the mirror, shrugged her shoulders—and wept.

Another two months went by with the situation unchanged. Many, many times Mignon was tempted to speak her mind—but she just couldn't bring herself to do it. Not even when the boy would press her for a reason why she would not go to an afternoon tea with him.

"Surely you have a reason, Mignon," he would say. "Isn't there something that makes you stay at home instead of going with me? What is it?"

Whereupon Mignon would try to talk sensibly, but the words would not come.

"Just because," would be her woman's explanation. "Just because."

Christmas! Last Christmas! Mignon looked toward the big day with expectations that were of the highest. This was the opportunity for which he had probably been waiting. There would be no camera this time; now he would go the limit in making her a beautiful gift of some sort. Mignon knew that because Roger had spoken of it several times. He had told her that he was going to send her something very unusual—and that he knew she would love it.

Once again Mignon could hardly wait. When he had left her the previous night he had asked her to be at home around 3 o'clock in the afternoon. He had smiled softly and had told her that her gift would arrive at that time. And there she was—waiting with a pounding heart.

The package arrived. As with the previous gift, the same scene was repeated. The nervous pulling at the strings. The quick look at the store's name. The hurried pulling at the wrapping paper. And finally the gift came out.

It was a beautiful embossed book in which she was to keep the pictures she took with the camera! . . .

SUN-TELEGRAPH-WARNER THEATERS -:- Junior Komic Club

New officers were elected at many chapters of the Sun-Telegraph-Warner Theater Junior Komic Club Saturday. Following the election of officers there were stage shows, contests with attractive prizes and other features.

The Harris (Etna) Chapter meeting opened with the singing of the "Star Spangled Banner" and reading of the club pledge. Manager Henderson thanked the present officers for their co-operation in arranging programs for the meetings and proceeded with the election of new officers.

The Glenshaw Junior Orchestra, consisting of 15 boys, ranging from 10 to 14 years of age, then entertained with several snappy numbers. Other attractions were the three bouncing clowns, who did comedy acrobatics until they had the audience in roars of laughter; a stage show presented by students from M. Barth School of Dancing, and a double picture feature program. The feature selected especially for the Junior Komic Club meeting was Buck Jones in "Dead Line."

PATRIOTIC PROGRAM

The programs now being arranged by the chapters for Saturday's Washington's Birthday celebrations, will include a number of short plays that have been presented during the week in school auditoriums. Boy Scouts in every district have volunteered their services in conducting flag drills, and other patriotic exercises. Boy Scout Bands will furnish the music at many chapter meetings.

Nearly a thousand members of the Sun Telegraph-Warner Theaters Junior Komic Club will receive, at the next two meetings, attractive and practical Waterman pencils. Warner Theaters are able to make these gifts to their members through the courtesy of L. E. Waterman, of New York. They will be given, at some theaters as door prizes, and at others as awards to the winners of contests.

Announcements regarding the club are published in this column daily and in the Sunday Sun-Telegraph. Watch for surprise features.

ELLA CINDERS

Out of the Past

For those who came in late
TOMMY HARRIS, A STEEL WORKER, WAS INSTRUMENTAL IN HELPING ELLA ESCAPE THE CLUTCHES OF HER HARD-BOILED STEP-MOTHER.
THE KIDS IMMEDIATELY FELL IN LOVE, BUT TOMMY'S BOSS, MORGAN STONEHURST, INJECTED HIMSELF INTO THE SCENE AND RAPIDLY BECAME A RIVAL FOR ELLA'S HAND.
ELLA SEEMED TO FAVOR TOMMY HOWEVER, AND IN AN EFFORT TO HELP TOMMY RAISE THE NECESSARY MONEY ON WHICH TO BE MARRIED SHE SOLICITED THE HELP OF STONEHURST. HE, NOT REALIZING TO WHAT PURPOSE HIS ADVICE HAD BEEN PUT, WAS LARGELY RESPONSIBLE FOR TOMMY'S SUDDENLY ACCUMULATED WEALTH.
THE STAGE WAS SET FOR ELLA'S AND TOMMY'S WEDDING. BUT AT THIS POINT, YVONNE DE VORE, A CHORUS GIRL, OF WHOM TOMMY WAS ENAMOURED AT ONE TIME, BURST INTO THE SPOTLIGHT WITH A LETTER WHICH TOMMY WROTE TO HER LONG BEFORE HE MET ELLA. HER PLAN WAS TO USE THE LETTER AS A MEANS OF SHAKING TOMMY DOWN FOR A FEW LOOSE SHEKELS, THREATENING A BREACH-OF-PROMISE SUIT IN CASE TOMMY FAILED TO KICK THROUGH.
THIS INTERRUPTED THE WEDDING PLANS, AND SO WE FIND ELLA, WITH BANNERS UNFURLED, DONS HER BEST TO RECOVER THE LETTER AND ROB THIS FEMALE EXTORTIONIST OF HER ONLY WEAPON.
COME ON ELLA,—WE'RE FOR YOU!

OH GEORGE, YOU ALWAYS SAY THINGS LIKE THAT ABOUT NEIGHBORS THE FIRST FEW TIMES YOU TALK TO THEM, BUT.....
LISTEN, HOW MUCH WOULD YOU GIVE FOR A DEVICE ABOUT AS BIG AS A SARDINE CAN THAT ACTS AS A MUZZLE ON LOUD RADIOS? WELL, HE'S GOT IT!
HEAVENLY DAYS! AN INVENTION? OH DON'T TELL ME A BRAINY LOOKING MAN LIKE HIM IS AN INVENTOR?
I SAW AND HEARD IT WORK. NOISE GOES IN ONE END AND SILENCE COMES OUT THE OTHER END. WHAT A DEVICE! A SORT OF TOUGH TRAFFIC COP FOR RADIO NOISE.
THINK OF IT! I JUST KNOW FROM THE WAY YOU TALK THAT WE'RE IN FOR ANOTHER OF THOSE THIRTY OR FORTY MILLION DOLLAR WILD-GOOSE CHASES.
WHOEVER HANDS THE WORLD A SHUSH FOR LOUD RADIOS WON'T HAVE TO WORRY ABOUT BEING PAID, MY WORD! THE MORE I THINK ABOUT THE POSSIBILITIES... MOST OF THE OTHER TIMES I'VE BEEN ON THE RIGHT TRACK I WAS RIDING A HAND CAR. THIS IS DIFFERENT. AND HOW!

Shameful Favoritism

While Spending Hundreds of Millions on Improvements the P. R. R. Neglects Pittsburgh.

Gen. W. W. Atterbury, president of the Pennsylvania Railroad, is reported to be seeking a loan from the Reconstruction Finance Corporation for the electrification and increase of terminal facilities of his road.

Even before the possibility of obtaining help from the government could be foreseen, however, the Pennsylvania was going ahead with these improvements.

In February, 1931—just a year ago—Gen. Atterbury announced that improvements costing a total of $175,000,000 would be carried through to completion in two and a half years instead of four years, as originally planned. The decline in commodity prices and the increase in the efficiency of labor made it feasible and desirable to rush construction, he said.

Pennsylvania Railroad officials were quoted Saturday to the effect that the program laid down by Atterbury was being carried through according to schedule. It was mentioned that 6,000 men are now employed on the electrification of the Pennsylvania between New York and Washington, and that the job will be completed between New York and Philadelphia next summer.

While all this activity proceeds, and these hundreds of millions of dollars are spent in the East, Pittsburgh, the very hub of the Pennsylvania system and its principal source of revenue, is shamefully neglected.

The road's terminal facilities here have been inadequate for years. No one knows better than the management of the Pennsylvania how disgraceful it is that passengers at its station in a city of this size should be required, in order to reach certain trains, to walk across tracks on which other trains are constantly passing back and forth.

The Pennsylvania management has been aware for years of the need for a larger terminal here and has promised to establish one. It has even gone so far as to acquire many blocks of property between Liberty avenue and Penn avenue east of Eleventh street, and has demolished the buildings in preparation for the construction of the new terminal.

And there the matter has rested for several years. That section of the city has all the appearance of having been battered down by an artillery bombardment. It is a shame that this large tract in the heart of Pittsburgh should be left for years in such condition.

Moreover, real estate men state that adjacent property has been so damaged that practically no revenue can be obtained from it, and that the owners are suffering a serious hardship in consequence.

The Pennsylvania Railroad ought to place the completion of the Pittsburgh terminal project ahead of the electrification of its eastern lines. It should take about $20,000,000 of the $175,000,000 it is spending between New York and Washington and finish its station here.

Electrification can wait better than Pittsburgh's station can wait.

Vote Fraud Convictions

District Attorney Andrew T. Park Is Doing Good Work In Fulfillment of His Promises.

On the eve of the primary election District Attorney Andrew T. Park publicly pledged himself to prosecute all criminal irregularities in the election.

The District Attorney has done good work in fulfillment of that promise.

Three more of the numerous persons indicted for election frauds were convicted Saturday. One of them was Constable Paul Walsh, son of Supt. Peter P. Walsh, of the Bureau of Police; another was Samuel Ramsey, a former clerk in the office of the Board for the Assessment and Revision of Taxes, and the third was Saul Klein, battalion fire chief.

These men are not to be regarded as "small fry," and their conviction is bound to make an impression on what is left of the old corrupt machine.

Aside from the conviction of the guilty, the election fraud trials have served a useful purpose by disclosing in detail the methods pursued by the crooks in attempting to steal an election.

This information will be useful in circumventing other such attempts.

Coal at 72 Cents a Ton

The Tragic Condition of the Bituminous Industry Is Disclosed by I. C. C. Testimony.

An illuminating commentary on the tragic condition of the soft coal industry may be found in testimony given before the Interstate Commerce Commission a few days ago by C. H. Dyson, fuel agent of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad.

Incidentally it explains why the Pittsburgh district has lost much of its coal business to West Virginia.

Mr. Dyson said the Baltimore and Ohio had undertaken as "a grand stand play" to purchase coal at a price that would permit the coal operators to pay the miners fair wages and make some money themselves, but had now abandoned this benevolent policy.

Since January 1, he stated, the railroad has bought coal in West Virginia at 72 cents a ton!

With coal sold at that price it is doubtful if wages could be paid American miners which would raise their standard of living above that of Chinese coolies.

A Bank's Centennial

The Farmers Deposit National Has an Honorable Record of Service to Pittsburgh.

The Farmers Deposit National Bank is 100 years old today. The Sun-Telegraph congratulates it on its centennial.

The Farmers Bank has an honorable record of service to Pittsburgh. It has helped to finance many of our industries. It was one of the first institutions to erect a skyscraper in Pittsburgh and in many other ways has helped to make the city what it is.

The ups and downs of this old bank have been closely connected with the vicissitudes of the people. It, too, has encountered adversity, but the thing to remember is that it has always triumphed over difficulties. And so there is hope and encouragement for others in its story.

'To Catch Dog Don't Shake Stick'

By Nelson Harding

—Chinese Proverb.

The elephant still wonders why
The dog appears a little shy,
And seems somewhat inclined to flee
In spite of every coaxing plea,

But everybody else observes
What gives the dog a case of nerves.
The flourish of that heavy cane
Makes the pursuer's efforts vain.

Marry-Go-Round

By HELEN ROWLAND

Women Never Change

I have made a most humiliating discovery. I am still "a sweet, old-fashioned woman," in spite of all my economic independence and other "modern improvements!" Just the same old dumbbell—and SO feminine, as the salesladies love to say!

* * *

I don't have to wear a shoulder-curl and long evening gloves to prove it. Here's my evidence.

* * *

I have never in my life written a letter—even to my lawyer—without adding a postscript. And the postscript always contains the really vital news.

I'm much more thrilled to be called "charming" or attractive than to be called clever or even "brilliant." And I get a bigger kick out of a compliment for my newest hat than out of a compliment for an epigram.

* * *

The stubs in my check-book mean nothing to me—and I have a positive complex for indorsing a check at the wrong end.

* * *

The only way that I can catch a train is by calling up "Information" and finding out when it leaves. A time-table gets me all mixed up.

* * *

I still believe that a happy marriage is the best and ONLY career for a woman. And that an unhappy marriage is better than none at all.

* * *

When a man begins talking seriously, I always catch myself automatically assuming that "Yes-yes-go-on-you're-wonderful" expression. It's just second-nature.

I CAN keep a secret, but it takes all my will-power and self-restraint to do it—and it hurts like a tooth that ought to come out.

* * *

I still believe there's nothing like a man's shoulder to cry on. And that there's no thrill in economic independence compared to the comforting sensation of being "Somebody's Rib."

* * *

When I puff a cigaret, I always blow the smoke in my eyes; and when I try to run a car, the neighbors all call in their dogs and children and look nervously at their hedges.

* * *

I can forgive a man for boring me—but NEVER for looking bored when I'm being bright and chatty. For breaking my heart—but never for bruising my vanity.

* * *

Are YOU, by chance, anything like this? Or do I belong in the Metropolitan Museum along with the dynosaurus?

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

By O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, Feb. 15.—Diary of a modern Pepys: Up, breakfasting with my lady, fetching in a tea gown of black velvet and old lace. Working awhile and out, coming upon Karl Kitchen, the gazetteer, and Carlotta Miles, the "Lotta Miles" of the auto tire ads and walked with them northward to Delmonico's.

Afterward to Clara Bell Walsh's and saw Lucinda Reichenbach also Mr. Wilson, whose father distilled the famous old whisky with the slogan "That's All." So atop a bus in the clear wintry air to Bill Hamilton's pied a terre in Nineteenth street and talking to Billie Dove, Mrs. Duncan Fraser and Ted Woodyard.

Home to complete my miserable daily chore and to Bob Garland's after-theater party to Queenie Smith and a gay gatherins including the Robert Scripps, Helen Hays, George Gershwin, Julia Hoyt, Ed Wynn, Rita Weiman, the Sam Rothapfels, Dr. Nathaniel Lief and others. To bed, late.

A few months before Henry Miller passed on, he took the late Holbrook Blinn to view his model farm in New Jersey. It was a hobby upon which he spent vast stage earnings. Coming to the bars of the sweepingly neat and cavernous sheep pen, Miller took some carrots from his pocket to feed to the baa-ing sheep that tumbled about him. "The dear little things," cried Miller. "How they love me."

"Love, my eye," twitted Blinn, "they come to you for food."

"Ah, well," sighed the actor, "at my age we call it love."

Bright Broadway lady's farewell: "So long, I'll be suing you."

And in a current play, a hennaed keptee received a letter from her gentleman friend announcing the windup of their attachment and inclosing a $10,000 check. "Think of losing," she moans, "a guy who thinks in five figures."

Corey Ford and Percy Crosby are boon companions . . . Thyra Samter Winslow moves regularly twice a year. . . . Percy Hammond's boyhood nickname in Cadiz, O., was "Tough" . . . Elmer Davis was known in Aurora, Ind. as "Chub." . . . Ogden Nash wrote one of his most popular poems at a table in an automat . . . Irvin Cobb is in heavy demand at dinner parties to read from Roark Bradford's Negro dialect stories.

The late Charles Somerville accompanied the police to the apartment of a hunted desperado years ago. When the door was bashed in, the fugitive was discovered to have ended his life with a bullet 10 days before. When Somerville reported to his city editor, he was asked what was the condition of the body. Hesitating a few seconds he replied: "I should say a trifle gamey."

In younger literary days Booth Tarkington at intervals was fond of looking upon vin when rouge. Upon such occasions he was the victim of mental lapses. There was a banquet at the Lotus where he was scheduled for the chief talk of the evening. He arose, murmured: "Ladies and Gentlemen," and came to a full stop. There was a painfully agonizing silence lasting fully five minutes, at the end of which the great novelist said: "That is the man we all know as Abraham Lincoln." And sat down.

A cotton broker downtown, upon being asked what his market was doing, replied: "Fair to maudlin."

And up in Harlem the colossal creative quest for new slang transforms what was once "a warm baby" into "a frame with a steam."

Sutton Place is to have a de luxe training school for pedigreed pups. For $200 it will guarantee to turn out a perfectly mannered pooch in eight weeks.

LISTEN, WORLD

By Elsie Robinson

You doubt the other fellow's sincerity. Not, of course, when he agrees with you. Then you're sure that he's both honest and intelligent.

But when he disagrees with you, when he says something that you don't believe, when he does something which riles you—then you're SURE that he's insincere.

Surely he can't believe anything as popeyed as that! He must know that the thing he is saying, or doing, is all wrong! He's just being contrary. Actually cheaty!

So of course you have a right to get mad at him, and you get mad—for two reasons. First, because he's saying or doing something reprehensible, and second, because he isn't being honest, even to himself. He isn't sincere.

For instance, there's the chap who disagrees with you about politics. You grew up together in the same town. You went to the same school. And you, yourself, as any sensible person should, decided to become an old line Republican. (Or maybe a Democrat). But he, imagine it! believes in Socialism!

Now how can any sane man believe in Socialism? He can't. That's your answer. He's just showing off! And yet he becomes violently angry when you say he's showing off. He insists that he means what he says. But you know he doesn't. He can't. And so you refuse to take him seriously.

Or maybe it's the woman who disagrees with you about wives working. Such a nice woman, and yet she says the most idiotic things. But you're sure she can't really believe them. She's just trying to "be different." And so you feel quite justified in despising her arguments.

Is that the way you feel about the other fellow's beliefs when they differ from yours? Probably. Most of us do feel that way. But it's wrong. There is a certain percentage of hypocrisy, trickery and show-off-smartiness in all human behavior—yours as well as the other fellow's.

But, generally speaking, THE OTHER FELLOW IS JUST AS SINCERE AS YOU ARE.

His notions may seem all twisted, even actually vicious, but he is sincere in them. From his viewpoint that's the right way to think, the right way to act.

AND WHETHER YOU AGREE WITH HIM OR NOT, HIS SINCERITY DESERVES RESPECT AS MUCH AS YOURS.

He thinks according to his lights. And, however dim his lights, he has a RIGHT to think according to them. That is his way of growing—his way of arriving at the truth. And because of that, HIS RIGHT TO THINK AS HE PLEASES IS HIS MOST SACRED RIGHT.

YOU SHOULD RESPECT EVERY MAN'S RIGHT TO THINK IN HIS OWN WAY.

YOU SHOULD BELIEVE IN EVERY MAN'S SINCERITY AS YOU EXPECT HIM TO BELIEVE IN YOURS.

That is the fundamental law of fair and friendly human relationship, and you'll never be able to understand people or get along with them until you obey that law.

But if you will obey it, your whole life will be changed. Your whole viewpoint toward other people will shift, and theirs toward you. You will find yourself infinitely more flexible, and at the same time more forceful. You will have a tenderness toward people, and a power over them, which you never had before; and in the exhileration of this new adventure you will forget most of your old miseries, fears and peeves.

The Petition of the Dispossessed

By Claude G. Bowers

Author of "The Struggle for Democracy in America," "Founders of the Republic," "Jefferson and Democracy," "The Tragic Era" and other important works, now writing for The Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph.

The American Federation of Labor has submitted a petition to Congress and the President asking certain economic and legislative relief and setting forth the reasons for the request. While it speaks officially only for organized labor, it really speaks for the working class in general in this paper.

It is just as well that the working element in its organized capacity should serve notice on the servants of the people that the work of "American relief" is not ended when the banks and railroads have been cared for through the Treasury.

It is proper that someone should recall at this juncture the almost common admission eight months ago that there must be some industrial readjustments for the economic salvation of the average man.

And with 8,000,000 or more breadwinners denied the right to earn their bread and support their families by our present industrial and economic system, and with 25,000,000 men, women and children without sufficient food and clothing and many threatened with starvation, it is important that these facts be put directly up to the representatives of the people so there can be no possible misunderstanding of the situation.

* * *

What Can Congress Do?

Some of the demands would seem to be beyond the power of government to control. Such is the demand for the cessation of wage cutting by private industries. More than a year ago we all agreed that prosperity cannot be restored by greatly reducing the purchasing power of the people who still have jobs. Everyone was most vehement on that point. The President himself asked private industry not to slash wages; but he had no power behind the request.

We are now in the full tide of wage reducing. This means just one inevitable thing—the lowering of the American standard of living. That is the intent on the part of a few industrial leaders with a maddog policy who are unable to see beyond the end of their noses.

For some years industrial leaders of a type, with their organizations, calculated that by reducing wages, increasing prices through legislation, and displacing labor with machinery, they could increase their profits. This must have been predicated on the insane notion that with workers reduced in purchasing power and thrown upon the streets the demand for their products, nevertheless, would be maintained.

Only a moron believes that now. But what can Congress do?

The Government Gives Its Blessing

The petition concedes the point, but says that in the present plan to reduce wages of governmental workers, as is proposed, the government itself gives its blessing to the slashing of wages by private industries.

In the hysteria of the moment there is danger that Congress may do this very thing.

The truth is that the government has not set a good example in many ways. It really is absurd for the President to ask private industries to maintain their working forces while reducing the working forces in the postal service by lowering the standard of that service.

Just now the administration has taken the head of the procession in cutting workers from their jobs.

* * *

The Workers Demand A Five-Day Week

The workers demand a five-day week; and this is called drastic by many people. The petition reads:

"Instead of forcing working people into idleness during periods of economic recession labor demands that such adjustments in the number of days worked per week, and in the number of hours worked per day must take place so that all may share equitably in the amount of work available. Work security must be substituted for anxiety and unemployment. The management of industry which has failed so miserably must rise to new heights and assume new positions."

Certainly if the displacement of man power by machinery is to be pushed at the present rate something of the sort is inevitable, unless we are prepared to gamble on the possibilities of having a vast army of chronically unemployed.

* * *

Float a Prosperity Loan

And the workers want work—work created as it can be created by government in a crisis graver than that of the late war—by the floating of a prosperity loan.

For these men, willing to work, anxious to work, have a right to work—and the right to demand work. Is it possible that there are men who still believe that this right to work and live can be lightly brushed aside for long?

We are not shocked by this statement from the petition:

"Working people . . . no longer concede to industry the right to provide work at will or to force millions of people into unemployment. They hold that the right to work is a fundamental sacred right."

Of course that is true.

No society can sustain itself by dooming millions of men, women and children to starvation and vagabondage.

One year ago industrial and financial leaders were facing this fact and conceding that some form of security must be found. They are silent now. Why?

* * *

The Relief Demanded Is Reasonable

And these workers are right in demanding the ending of the evils of injunction. We heard this demand when we were children. The relief demanded is reasonable and just. The courts of America were not intended to substitute for strike-breakers.

There is nothing in the Norris measure that deprives property of its just protection against violence, but there is something in the present law which deprives the workers of the rights of free men.

* * *

Millions Are in Dire Want

And since work is not provided, and millions are in dire want and in fear of actual starvation, the petition asks that all the money from the Treasury shall not be used for the relief of banks and railroads—that some shall be appropriated where it is absolutely necessary to save human life, for the benefit of the victims of an economic system beyond their control.

Private charity in many places has failed utterly; its contribution has not been a drop in the bucket.

Even Mr. Gifford, of the President's commission on relief, does not have any idea how many people are in want and did not try to learn.

Great and rich cities like New York, Chicago, Philadelphia, Cleveland and Detroit have exhausted their resources—taking care of a national problem while the nation stands with folded hands and smug complacency muttering some inane and dishonest thing about a "dole."

Now that the administration is getting over its "headache," as Col. Frank Knox puts it, "from eye strain peering into Europe," now that the banks have been cared for, and it is possible for the Pennsylvania Railroad to get five million a month from the Treasury, perhaps it can bring itself to the consideration of babies without milk, mothers without bread, and men without work.

WHAT DO YOU KNOW?

By S. H. Connolly

Do you know:

1. Why did men of Columbus' time fear to make long voyages on the Atlantic?
2. What sort of a home did the Pueblo Indians build?
3. Who was the Italian sailor who sailed for England?
4. What book first told Europeans about China?
5. What two countries claimed most of South America?
6. In what play by Shakespeare is Bottom a character?
7. Where is the Hall of Fame located?
8. In what story by Dickens does Marley's ghost appear?
9. Why is the Sistine Madonna so called?
10. Where is the St. Gaudens' statue of Lincoln located?

Match correctly:

| | |
|---|---|
| 11. "Rolling Down to Rio" | Poe. |
| 12. "The Girl I Left Behind Me" | Kittredge. |
| 13. "Tenting Tonight" | Kipling. |
| 14. "Annabel Lee" | Lyte. |
| 15. "Abide With Me" | Lover. |

Answers to today's tests:

1. They thought it was infested with strange monsters. 2. Made of adobe bricks and entered by ladders. 3. John Cabot. 4. Marco Polo's "Account of His Voyages." 5. Spain and Portugal. 6. "Midsummer Night's Dream." 7. New York University. 8. "Christmas Carol." 9. Painted for the Church of San Sisto. 10. Lincoln Park, Chicago, Ill. 11. Kipling. 12. Lover. 13. Kittredge. 14. Poe. 15. Lyte.

ISN'T IT SO?

A man of honor is one who is faithful to his word.

The motorist who drives without a spare tire probably lives the same way.

Lots of people are like fish. They open their mouths but they never say anything.

Some men seem to get greater pleasure out of talking about the depression than a talkative woman does talking about her operation.

Marriage is usually the outcome when one courts trouble.

The biggest fool is the man who has never made a fool of himself.

Some women let a man know they may be had for the asking and others become old maids.

There are two kinds of customers now: Those who haggle over the price and those who intend to charge it.
